The Church Crowded and Many Who Desired to Do So Unable to Gain Admission.

FAREWELL SERVICES OF TOUCHING BEAUTY

All that was mortal of George Barclay Mercer, known to thousands of people from coast to coast as "Winnie," was laid at rest this afternoon in Spring Grove cemetery after a simple funeral service at the Presbyterian church. Few times has East Liverpool paid such homage to her dead. The large church auditorium was too small to accommodate all who wished to attend.

Since the first news reached here of the untimely death in the land of golden sunshine and flowers sorrow and sympathy has been in the hearts of all and every hand was ready and even anxious to help do honor to the dead and comfort the stricken family. Last night though the skies were scattering down a drizzle of rain hundreds of people found their way down Fifth street to the Mercer home and stood in line for many minutes so that they could in turn pass through the little front room to tarry for a moment at the bier. Some perhaps were curious but the great majority were boyhood friends who would look for the last time on the handsome face of the dead, altered so little in the transition. Yet when all had passed the number of his friends had not been measured.

This afternoon while the great throng was gathering in the auditorium of the church the mother and brothers were spending the last precious moments with their beloved dead. Those moments alone at the bier will ever be a sad and sacred memory.

Beneath the leaden sky that lowered over the city this afternoon the body was taken from the home to the church. It was borne along the broad center aisle to a place near the chancel and among a profusion of flowers from which was wafted to all parts of the auditorium their perfume.

Surrounding the bier were all the floral offerings that had been made by his friends and associates. Among them was the beautiful lyre, reared upon a bed of roses and supported by lilies of the valley and Easter lilies with uprights of pink carnations. "Our Missing Member" were the simple words of the players of the two ball teams who had sent it but they told of a deep regret in his death. Near the head of the bier was the tribute from his East Liverpool friends, which so aptly delineates his profession. It was a baseball diamond laid out in white carnations on a living green and white hyacinths worked the imaginary line from the purple pitcher's box to the home plate. Each base was designated by a white rose. Surrounding the design were a ball and crossed bats, worked in white. Clusters of lilies, carnations, roses and living green make up the remainder of the piece.

A harp of white roses and lilies tastefully entwined with white carnations and green rested in a profusion of cut flowers. It bore the inscription "Our loved one" and was the tribute of the mother and brothers.

Near the foot of the bier was placed a wreath of fragrant cut flowers from his old shopmates at the K. T. & K. pottery who have not forgotten him, although more than a decade has passed since he left his arduous duties there to win fame on the baseball field.

There were a number of other bouquets and wreaths of flowers that helped to make the spot a floral bower of beauty. The casket was covered with loosely strewn flowers. At the breast of the dead man were white roses; at the feet, red roses and carnations.

Before 1 o'clock the people began to gather in the auditorium and it was filled to its utmost capacity long before the hour for the service. Many could not gain an entrance to the building.

The great organ pealed forth the mournful notes of a voluntary as the body was borne to its place amid the flowers and a thrill went through every heart for the black-robed figure of the mother, trembling and shaken with sobs, and there were tears in many eyes when Rev. Dr. Pratt arose to pronounce the invocation. A quartet, composed of Miss Margaret Baxter, soprano; Miss Annie James, alto; J. R. Stoddard, tenor, and W. K. Gaston, bass, sang "Abide With Me."

Dr. Pratt then read the scripture lesson from Psalms 22 and 90. Miss Baxter in her sweet soprano voice sang as a solo Hayes' sublime "Rise to All Eternity."

SHANTYTOWN TERRIFIED BY GHOST

Residents of the Boats Say Cephas Haught's Wraith Appears Nightly.

Residents of Shantytown are seriously considering moving to other quarters. The move contemplated is due solely to the alleged fact that during the past three weeks the ghost of Cephas Haught, who died about four years ago, has haunted the district and made night frightful by strange actions.

Unlike the ghosts so often talked of and read about this one cannot be scared or intimidated in the least. Every night at 1 o'clock it makes its appearance on the beach. All manner of plans yet placed into execution have failed to cause it to vacate until it gets ready. At exactly 4 o'clock, after uttering a fearful scream, which sends a thrill of terror through every hearer, it vanishes no one knows where.

The first to be disturbed by the uncanny and unearthly noises was Simon Haught, a brother of the deceased Cephas. Simon, one night while sleeping soundly, was rudely awakened by a scratching on his door. He jumped from his bed and hobbled to the door to ascertain the cause of the peculiar sounds.

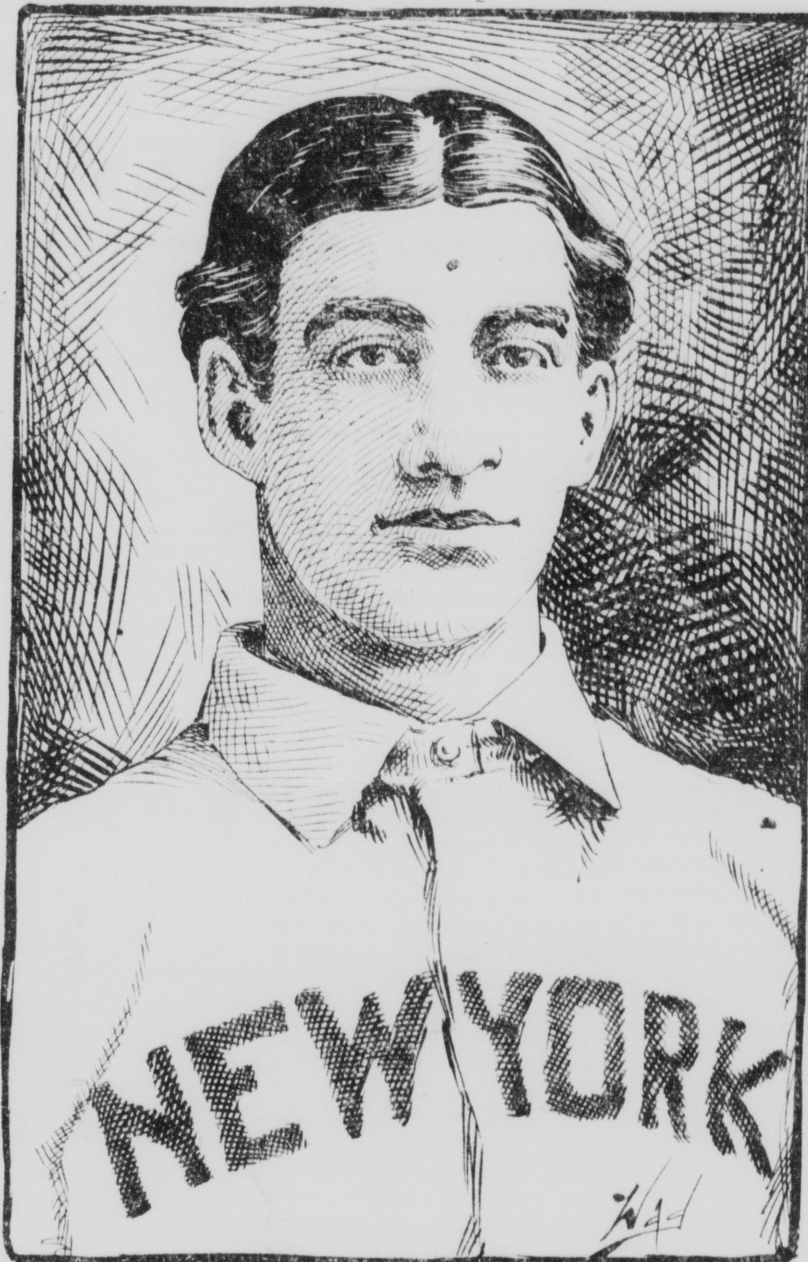

Opening the door he was horrified at seeing the form and face of his dead brother. It so frightened him that he slammed the door in his visitor's face and during the rest of the night lay awake in terror. The following night at the same time both Simon and his wife Sarah, the competent janitress at the city hall, were aroused by noises very similar to those of the night previous. They determined to give the ghost a scare and together went out side and rushed at the imaginary object.

Instead of fleeing, as they supposed it would, the ghost stood motionless and when Simon and Sarah had reached a point within a few feet of it they concluded to do the fleeing and started toward their boat at a breakneck speed. After a while they became braver and decided to make another investigation. They found the hideous creature standing in the same spot. Moans and inaudible words issuing from the stationary form soon caused another retreat.

On the next night a party of the residents formed and at the appointed time rushed en masse to the beach. They were not kept long in waiting. The nightly visitor soon made its appearance and the whole gang cautiously commenced an approach. As on previous occasions, it stood firmly and refused to be frightened away.

Mrs. Haught stated this morning that unless the ghost in some way is made to vacate the vicinity there will not be a boat on the beach by the first of next week.

ELECTRIC LINE MAKING PROGRESS

A FEW OBSTINATE MEN

Who Will Not Grant Rights Under Any Terms—Condemnation Proceedings Probable in Their Case—Outlook Generally Encouraging.

The Youngstown and Southern Electric Railway company is slowly but surely removing all barriers that have confronted it in securing the rights of way along the surveyed route, although it is and has been rejected by a few of the property holders. Its officials confidently expect to have everything in readiness for speedy progress when the building of the road is commenced.

Attorney John J. Kerr and H. J. Abrams, the local men employed to secure the rights of way for several miles out in the country, have not done so much to that end for several weeks, owing to the unpleasant weather, but they state that parties all along the line are being heard from occasionally and that assurance is given that the great majority will heartily join in with the capitalists and do all possible for the ultimate operation of a road which will mean very much to them, both from convenience and a pecuniary standpoint.

Among the few that have absolutely refused the promoters any satisfaction are found some of the most obstinate men in the county. They have not only declined to argue on the advisability of giving the right of way, but they will not so much as talk of a purchasing price. Seldom is there a railroad built that such obstacles are not met, and in this case, as in hundreds of previous ones, the promoters are bound to come out victorious.

After making the property holders what they consider a reasonable offer for their land, providing the offer is not accepted, they will take the cases to court, where condemnation proceedings will be instituted and the owners will be compelled to sell at a price designated by a jury. It is thought that some of those who have given evidence of a firm stand on their apparently obstinate views before it becomes necessary to take the cases to court, will fall in line with the majority and try to come to a mutual agreement.

A CAR OF SAND ACROSS THE TRACK

WRECK DELAYED C. & P. TRAFFIC FOR THREE HOURS.

A Mishap Near Thompson's Pottery Gave Western Passengers a Long Wait.

A wreck on the Cleveland & Pittsburg railroad, near Thompson's pottery, last evening at about 7 o'clock, caused three hours' delay in traffic and much discomfort and displeasure to numerous passengers waiting at the depot for the west bound train.

The wreck consisted in the derailing of a car of sand which was attached to the Conway local. The car, without any apparent reason, jumped the track and before the train was stopped it had broken loose from the rest and was lying crosswise on the track. No time was lost in summoning the wreck crew from Wellsville, and in less than half an hour a score of more men were working with all their might.

No damage having resulted to the car, the crew was very careful in replacing it on the track. As a result much more time than usual was consumed. At 10 o'clock everything was cleared and the train pulled out toward Wellsville with the westbound passenger following close behind.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO GEORGE MATTHEWS

An East Palestine Man Made Ugly Charges Against His Wife.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—Judge Hole yesterday granted to Geo. Matthews, of East Palestine, a divorce from Anna L. Matthews. They were married May 25, 1894, at Darlington, Pa., and have one daughter now about two years old. After they had lived together about three years the husband alleges the wife became enamored of one John Dugan, which resulted in the separation of Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, the wife taking up her abode with the correspondent who was afterward convicted of trying to procure a criminal operation on her.

In November, 1899, Matthews and his wife were reconciled, and lived together until June, 1901, when it is said Mrs. Matthews left her home and went to Salem to live with one James Heaton, with whom she said to be still living. She is said to have given birth to a child about this time.

EAST END WILL HAVE WATER LINE

Council So Decides at an Adjourned Meeting Held Last Night.

COST WILL BE $16,000.00

The Attendance Was Small, And There Were Several Matters Which Should Have Been Disposed of—They Necessarily Go Over.

An adjourned meeting of the city council had been scheduled for last night, but owing to lack of interest on the part of some of the members the attendance was not sufficiently large to pass upon the most important questions for which the session had been arranged.

It was 8:30 before President Nicholson convened the council, and then there were but six members present, including himself, Messrs. Peach, Marshall, Orr, Bullock and McConnell.

Clerk Davison, stated he had received word from the officials of the Youngstown & Southern railroad with reference to the franchise asked for by it. Among the papers filed was a formal acceptance of the franchise, together with a bond of $5,000 required in the franchise. The matter was referred to the finance committee, which body will make inquiry into the financial standing of the men who are on the document. The committee is to report at the next meeting.

Dr. Marshall made a report for the committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the water works trustees and the East End residents who were interested in the extension of the water service in that part of the city. He stated the parties from the affected district had made it plain to both the committee and the water works trustees that they were not now receiving the service they should, and the committee had no hesitation in making a recommendation that their request be granted. It had been proposed that the manufacturers advance the money for the construction of a 12-inch water main, and that the city stand one-half of the interest—amounting to 3 per cent—until such time as a bond issue could be got through, when the debt would be cancelled.

W. E. Wells, one of the interested parties, was present and President Nice called upon him for a statement. He said:

STATE GAME WARDEN PROPOSES A CRUSADE TO PROTECT THE BIRDS

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 21.—State Game Warden Porterfield has decided to carry into every county with unrelenting activity, the campaign he began last week against the sale of song and plumage birds, protected by the statutes. He has given strict orders to his deputies that they see to it that the law is obeyed to the letter. Dealers and milliners engaged in the sale of birds or feathers of birds protected by law are being notified to remove them or else the same will be confiscated and the owners prosecuted.

A great many seizures have been made of birds and feathers which have been forwarded to Columbus and submitted to an expert for inspection. If it develops they are of the kind prohibited by law those from whom they were obtained will be prosecuted. The deputies are now engaged in a campaign of confiscation and the first report of the expert who will examine the goods will hardly be made before the latter part of next week. After that arrests will probably be made by the wholesale.

Warden Porterfield says women who wear birds or plumage on their hats are just as liable under the law as those exposing them for sale. The initiatory step has been taken in Columbus and the crusade is being pushed with great vigor in Cincinnati and adjacent cities and towns. If those who wear and engage in the sale of birds of plumage are wise, they will do away with all birds of plumage of this kind that they have in their possession. Otherwise they may be called upon to answer to an infraction of the law.

NEW CHURCH HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Chester Presbyterian Congregation Came Into Being at a Meeting Last Night.

The inauguration of a Presbyterian church in Chester last night was one of the most important affairs that has taken place in that little city for many months. For a long time those interested have been working faithfully for the organization of the church and last night saw the result of their labors. The committee appointed by the Washington conference was present and had charge of the meeting.

Rev. J. R. Hosick, of Hocktown, preached a sermon. After that the names were taken of those wishing to unite with the church there. The one chosen was the First Presbyterian church, of Chester. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was small last night and but 30 out of nearly a hundred prospective members gave their names.

While but few of the interested Presbyterians were present they were enthusiastic over their prospects. About a hundred per cent signed a petition for the organization of this

The several insurance companies doing business in the East End are carrying very heavy risks, and when it was determined by careful investigation that the pressure was inadequate, notice was immediately given that after February 15 all agreements would be cancelled. If there is a fire the manufacturers may be able to recover the insurance, but unless the East End is furnished with a better water supply the city will not recover the industries.

Mr. Wells went over the ground covered at the meeting held with the water works trustees last week, showing that even for the first year the city's share of the interest would amount to in the neighborhood of only $180. It would gradually be decreased as the years go on.

A motion prevailed to the effect that the water works trustees be instructed to proceed with the work, the city to bear the 3 per cent interest on the cost of the improvement.

There were several other matters that ought to have been attended to but there were not enough members present to finally pass upon them, and they went over.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—The case of John C. Atterholt, administrator, against Kate M. Springer is being tried in court today on appeal from a decision in probate court.

church and all have agreed to join at Chester. The number will be swelled at the next meeting, as many were unable to attend owing to the rain which fell all last evening. After the sermon and taking the names of members was completed, it was decided that it was too late to elect officers and that was postponed till the next meeting.

The next service will be held on Thursday evening, February 5, at the U. P. church and at the time the officers of the church will be elected. It has not been yet decided who will preach at the next meeting. The officials of the United Presbyterian church have kindly given the Presbyterians the use of their church for a time and the services will be held there. It is expected that in the spring an effort will be made to build a church. A regular pastor will not be called for several weeks but the congregation will be addressed by the various pastors of the different Presbyterian churches in this vicinity.

LISBON MILL AGAIN TO START

The Plant Has Been Idle For Six Months—To Be An Open Mill.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—It is reported here today that the officials of the American Tin Plate company have informed the Lisbon business men's association of their willingness to start the local mill, open to the employment of both union and non-union men. Nearly all of the mills now in operation are run under this agreement.

A committee of the Amalgamated association met with a committee of business men but refused to discuss the proposition as such a discussion would be against the rules of the organization. The impression here is that the men will be justified in abandoning the requirements of unionism under the circumstances and returning to work in accordance with the company's offer. This feeling is said to be more or less the sentiment of the men also. The mill cost Lisbon a $60,000 bonus and has been idle for six months.

If there is a fire the manufacturers may be able to recover the insurance, but unless the East End is furnished with a better water supply the city will not recover the industry.

Mr. Wells went over the ground covered at the meeting held with the water works trustees last week, showing that even for the first year the city's share of the interest would amount to in the neighborhood of only $480. It would gradually be decreased as the years go on.

A motion prevailed to the effect that the water works trustees be instructed to proceed with the work, the city to bear the 3 per cent interest on the cost of the improvement.

There were several other matters that ought to have been attended to but there were not enough members present to finally pass upon them, and they went over.

LAST HONORS ARE PAID TO LOVED WINNIE MERCER

The Church Crowded and Many Who Desired to Do So Unable to Gain Admission.

FAREWELL SERVICES OF TOUCHING BEAUTY

All that was mortal of George Barclay Mercer, known to thousands of people from coast to coast as "Winnie," was laid to rest this afternoon in Spring Grove cemetery after a simple funeral service at the Presbyterian church. Few times has East Liverpool paid such homage to her dead. The large church auditorium was too small to accommodate all who wished to attend.

Since the first news reached here of the untimely death in the land of golden sunshine and flowers sorrow and sympathy has been in the hearts of all and every hand was ready and even anxious to help do honor to the dead and comfort the stricken family. Last night though the skies were sending down a drizzle of rain hundreds of people found their way down Fifth street to the Mercer home and stood in line for many minutes so that they could in turn pass through the little front room to tarry for a moment at the bier. Some perhaps were curious but the great majority were boyhood friends who would look for the last time on the handsome face of the dead, altered so little in the transition. Yet when all had passed the number of his friends had not been measured.

This afternoon while the great throng was gathering in the auditorium of the church the mother and brothers were spending the last precious moments with their beloved dead. Those moments alone at the bier will ever be a sad and sacred memory.

Beneath the leaden sky that lowered over the city this afternoon the body was taken from the home to the church. It was borne along the broad center aisle to a place near the chancel and among a profusion of flowers from which was wafted to all parts of the auditorium their perfume.

Surrounding the bier were all the floral offerings that had been made by his friends and associates. Among them was the beautiful lyre, reared upon a bed of roses and supported by lilies of the valley and Easter lilies with uprights of pink carnations. "Our Missing Member" were the simple words of the players of the two ball teams who had sent it but they told of a deep regret in his death. Near the head of the bier was the tribute from his East Liverpool friends, which so aptly delineates his profession. It was a baseball diamond laid out in white carnations on a living green and white hyacinths worked the imaginary line from the purple pitcher's box to the home plate. Each base was designated by a white rose. Surrounding the design were a ball and crossed bats, worked in white. Clusters of lilies, carnations, roses and living green make up the remainder of the piece.

A harp of white roses and lilies tastefully entwined with white carnations and green rested in a profusion of cut flowerse. It bore the inscription "Our loved one" and was the tribute of the mother and brothers.

Near the foot of the bier was placed a wreath of fragrant cut flowers from his old shopmates at the K. T. & K. pottery who have not forgotten him, although more than a decade has passed since he left his arduous duties there to win fame on the baseball field.

There were a number of other bouquets and wreaths of flowers that helped to make the spot a floral bower of beauty. The casket was covered with loosely strewn flowers. At the breast of the dead man were white roses; at the feet, red roses and carnations.

Before 1 o'clock the people began to gather in the auditorium and it was filled to its utmost capacity long before the hour for the service. Many could not gain an entrance to the building.

The great organ pealed forth the mournful notes of a voluntary as the body was borne to its place amid the flowers and a thrill went through every heart for the black-robed figure of the mother, trembling and shaken with sobs and there were tears in many eyes when Rev. Dr. Pratt arose to pronounce the invocation. A quartet, composed of Miss Margaret Baxter, soprano; Miss Annie James, alto; J. R. Stoddard, tenor, and W. K. Gaston, bass, sang "Abide With Me."

Dr. Pratt then read the scripture lesson from Psalms 23 and 90. Miss Baxter in her sweet soprano voice sang as a solo Hayes' sublime "Rise to All Eternity."

SHANTYTOWN TERRIFIED BY GHOST

Residents of the Boats Say Cephas Haught's Wraith Appears Nightly.

Residents of Shantytown are seriously considering moving to other quarters. The move contemplated is due solely to the alleged fact that during the past three weeks the ghost of Cephas Haught, who died about four years ago, has haunted the district and made night frightful by strange actions.

Unlike the ghosts so often talked of and read about this one cannot be scared or intimidated in the least. Every night at 1 o'clock it makes its appearance on the beach. All manner of plans yet placed into execution have failed to cause it to vacate until it gets ready. At exactly 4 o'clock, after uttering a fearful scream, which sends a thrill of terror through every hearer, it vanishes no one knows where.

The first to be disturbed by the uncanny and unearthly noises was Simon Haught, a brother of the deceased Cephas. Simon, one night while sleeping soundly, was rudely awakened by a scratching on his door. He jumped from his bed and hobbled to the door to ascertain the cause of the peculiar sounds.

Opening the door he was horrified at seeing the form and face of his dead brother. It so frightened him that he slammed the door in his visitor's face and during the rest of the night lay awake in terror. The following night at the same time both Simon and his wife Sarah, the competent janitress at the city hall, were aroused by noises very similar to those of the night previous. They determined to give the ghost a scare and together went out side and rushed at the imaginary object.

Instead of fleeing, as they supposed it would, the ghost stood motionless and when Simon and Sarah had reached a point within a few feet of it they concluded to do the fleeing and started toward their boat at a breakneck speed. After a while they became braver and decided to make another investigation. They found the hideous creature standing in the same spot. Moans and inaudible words issuing from the stationary form soon caused another retreat.

On the next night a party of the residents formed and at the appointed time rushed en masse to the beach. They were not kept long in waiting. The nightly visitor soon made its appearance and the whole gang cautiously commenced an approach. As on previous occasions, it stood firmly and refused to be frightened away.

Mrs. Haught stated this morning that unless the ghost in some way is made to vacate the vicinity there will not be a boat on the beach by the first of next week.

ELECTRIC LINE MAKING PROGRESS

Who Will Not Grant Rights Under Any Terms—Condemnation Proceedings Probable in Their Case—Outlook Generally Encouraging.

The Youngstown and Southern Electric Railway company is slowly but surely removing all barriers that have confronted it in securing the rights of way along the surveyed route, and though it is and has been rejected by a few of the property holders, its officials confidently expect to have everything in readiness for speedy progress when the building of the road is commenced.

Attorney John J. Kerr and H. J. Abrams, the local men employed to secure the rights of way for several miles out in the country, have not done so much to that end for several weeks, owing to the unpleasant weather, but they state that parties all along the line are being heard from occasionally and that assurance is given that the great majority will heartily join in with the capitalists and do all possible for the ultimate operation of a road which will mean very much to them, both from convenience and a pecuniary standpoint.

Among the few that have absolutely refused the promoters any satisfaction are found some of the most obstinate men in the county. They have not only declined to argue on the advisability of giving the right of way, but they will not so much as talk of a purchasing price. Scidom is there a railroad built that such obstacles are not met, and in this case, as in hundreds of previous ones, the promoters are bound to come out victorious.

After making the property holders what they consider a reasonable offer for their land, providing the offer is not accepted, they will take the cases to court, where condemnation proceedings will be instituted and the owners will be compelled to sell at a price designated by a jury. It is thought that some of those who have given evidence of a firm stand on their apparently obstinate views before it becomes necessary to take the cases to court, will fall in line with the majority and try to come to a mutual agreement.

A CAR OF SAND ACROSS THE TRACK

WRECK DELAYED C. & P. TRAFFIC FOR THREE HOURS.

A Mishap Near Thompson's Pottery Gave Western Passengers a Long Wait.

A wreck on the Cleveland & Pittsburg railroad, near Thompson's pottery, last evening at about 7 o'clock, caused three hours' delay in traffic and much discomfort and displeasure to numerous passengers waiting at the depot for the west bound train.

The wreck consisted in the derailing of a car of sand which was attached to the Conway local. The car, without any apparent reason, jumped the track and before the train was stopped it had broken loose from the rest and was lying crosswise on the track. No time was lost in summoning the wreck crew from Wellsville, and in less than half an hour a score of more men were working with all their might.

No damage having resulted to the car, the crew was very careful in replacing it on the track. As a result much more time than usual was consumed. At 10 o'clock every thing was cleared and the train pulled out toward Wellsville with the westbound passenger following close behind.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO GEORGE MATTHEWS

An East Palestine Man Made Ugly Charges Against His Wife.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—Judge Hole yesterday granted to Geo. Matthews, of East Palestine, a divorce from Anna L. Matthews. They were married May 25, 1894, at Lexington, Pa., and have one daughter now about two years old. After they had lived together about three years the husband alleges the wife became enamored of one John Dugan, which resulted in the separation of Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, the wife taking up her abode with the correspondent who was afterward convicted of trying to procure a criminal operation on her.

In November, 1899, Matthews and his wife were reconciled, and lived together until June, 1901, when it is said Mrs. Matthews left her home and went to Salem to live with one James Heaton, with whom she said to be still living. She is said to have given birth to a child about this time.

EAST END WILL HAVE WATER LINE

Council So Decides at an Adjourned Meeting Held Last Night.

COST WILL BE $16,000.00

The Attendance Was Small, And There Were Several Matters Which Should Have Been Disposed of—They Necessarily Go Over.

An adjourned meeting of the city council had been scheduled for last night, but owing to lack of interest on the part of some of the members the attendance was not sufficiently large to pass upon the most important questions for which the session had been arranged.

It was 8:30 before President Nicholson convened the council, and then there were but six members present, including himself, Messrs. Peach, Marshall Orr, Bullock and McConnell.

Clerk Davison, stated he had received word from the officials of the Youngstown & Southern railroad with reference to the franchise asked for by it. Among the papers filed was a formal acceptance of the franchise, together with a bond of $5,000 required in the franchise. The matter was referred to the finance committee, which body will make inquiry into the financial standing of the men who are on the document. The committee is to report at the next meeting.

Dr. Marshall made a report for the committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the water works trustees and the East End residents who were interested in the extension of the water service in that part of the city. He stated the parties from the affected district had made it plain to both the committee and the water works trustees that they were not now receiving the service they should, and the committee had no hesitation in making a recommendation that their request be granted. It had been proposed that the manufacturers advance the money for the construction of a 12-inch water main, and that the city stand one-half of the interest amounting to 3 per cent—until such time as a bond issue could be got through, when the debt would be cancelled.

W. E. Wells, one of the interested parties, was present and President Nicholson called upon him for a statement. He said: "The information in the possession of the manufacturers and residents of

STATE GAME WARDEN PROPOSES A CRUSADE TO PROTECT THE BIRDS

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 21.—State Game Warden Porterfield has decided to carry into every county with unrelenting activity, the campaign he began last week against the sale of song and plumage birds, protected by the statutes. He has given strict orders to his deputies that they see to it that the law is obeyed to the letter. Dealers and milliners engaged in the sale of birds or feathers of birds protected by law are being notified to remove them or else the same will be confiscated and the owners prosecuted.

A great many seizures have been made of birds and feathers which have been forwarded to Columbus and submitted to an expert for inspection. If it develops they are of the kind prohibited by law those from whom they were obtained will be prosecuted. The deputies are now engaged in a campaign of confiscation and the first report of the expert who will examine the goods will hardly be made before the latter part of next week. After that arrests will probably be made by the warden.

Warden Porterfield says women who wear birds or plumage on their hats are just as liable under the law as those exposing them for sale. The initiatory step has been taken in Columbus and the crusade is being pushed with great vigor in Cincinnati and adjacent cities and towns. If those who wear and engage in the sale of birds of plumage are wise, they will do away with all birds of plumage of this kind that they have in their possession. Otherwise they may be called upon to answer to an infraction of the law.

NEW CHURCH HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Chester Presbyterian Congregation Came Into Being at a Meeting Last Night.

The inauguration of a Presbyterian church in Chester last night was one of the most important affairs that has taken place in that little city for many months. For a long time those interested have been working faithfully for the organization of the church and last night saw the result of their labors. The committee appointed by the Washington conference was present and had charge of the meeting. Rev. J. R. Hesick, of Hocktown, reached a sermon. After that the names were taken of those wishing to unite with the church there. The one chosen was the First Presbyterian church, of Chester. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was small last night and but 39 out of nearly a hundred prospective members gave their names.

While but few of the interested Presbyterians were present they were enthusiastic over their prospects. About a hundred per sons signed a petition for the organization of this the East End is based upon tests made by expert insurance men. These tests had demonstrated that the water supply was not what it should be. The several insurance companies doing business in the East End are carrying very heavy risks, and when it was determined by careful investigation that the pressure was inadequate, notice was immediately given that after February 15 all agreements would be cancelled. If there is a fire the manufacturers may be able to recover the insurance, but unless the East End is furnished with a better water supply the city will not recover the "industrial" risk.

Mr. Wells went over the ground covered at the meeting held with the water works trustees last week, showing that even for the first year the city's share of the interest would amount to in the neighborhood of only $180. It would gradually be decreased as the years go on.

church and all have agreed to join at Chester. The number will be swelled at the next meeting, as many were unable to attend owing to the rain which fell all last evening. After the sermon and taking the names of members was completed, it was decided that it was too late to elect officers and that was postponed till the next meeting.

The next service will be held on Thursday evening, February 5, at the U. P. church and at the time the officers of the church will be elected. It has not been yet decided who will preach at the next meeting. The officials of the United Presbyterian church have kindly given the Presbyterians the use of their church for a time and the services will be held there. It is expected that in the spring an effort will be made to build a church. A regular pastor will not be called for several weeks but the congregation will be addressed by the various pastors of the different Presbyterian churches in this vicinity.

LAW TO REGULATE PHARMACISTS

AN EDUCATIONAL CLAUSE

And Other Requirements Which Are Said to Be Sadly Lacking in the Laws of the Sister State—Mr. Buchannon's Bill.

Charleston, W. Va., January 21.—Hon. C. G. Buchannon, of Wellsburg, has the draft of a bill in his desk which he hopes to get through the house before the legislature adjourns that will strike a severe blow to the pharmaceutical saloon. The purport of the bill is best given in his own language, as he states it:

"The draft in my possession is really the result of work of the general association of pharmacists, of which I am a member. Its effect would be to put our law relating to pharmacists on the same basis as that of Ohio. With the present statute a man who has once passed the required examination of a pharmacy clerk may leave the business for any number of years and re-enter the work without any examination whatever. You know a man who has been engaged in another business for several years forgets the most important part of his professional knowledge, and unless he brushes up considerably is entirely unfit for so responsible a place as that which the druggist holds to the community. My bill provides that a man who has been out of the business for years shall be required to take another examination.

"Further," continued Mr. Buchannon, the present statute has no provision for a man's educational requirements. So long as a boy or man has worked in a drug store the required two years, and can answer the questions put to him by the state board of pharmacy, he is passed on the same footing with the man who has taken a four-year course in one of the finest colleges of pharmacy in the country. And the college man, though he have the best equipment in the way of practical knowledge in the world, is placed at a disadvantage by having to take the required two years' as a cub in a drug store before he can secure his papers as a registered pharmacist. Now my bill contains an educational clause which will do away with this injustice, and its whole drift is toward lifting the professional men of higher education in the business.

"And here is one of the most important things the bill will accomplish if it becomes a law," concluded the Brooke county delegate. "It will do away with that class of pharmacists who enter the profession for the purpose of carrying on the liquor trade, for they will not have the requirements for entrance. It also contains a clause which will take away the power of the board to make their own by laws and regulations. This power in itself is one of the worst injustices I know of, but it is contained in the present statute of this state. It is one of the fundamental principles of our government that the body which has been enforcing a law should have no hand in the making of it. Yet here we have the state board of pharmacy which practically both makes and executes its own laws, and thereby yields a power that is absolute and arbitrary. I don't know how it is going to pan out, as I have not had much opportunity to sound the other members on the subject, and being in the minority myself it may not meet with favor; but we shall see what we shall see."

Will Reed Guarantees Mi-na to Cure Dyspepsia.

Your money back if you want it is the way in which Will Reed, the popular druggist is selling Mi-na, the great dyspepsia cure.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-na will cure you. If it does not, tell Mr. Will Reed that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-na, and its continued use will soon give perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Will Reed gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it." A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

News and Notes About The Potteries

PEORIA NOTES.

Peoria, Ill., January 21.—On account of scarcity of boards the clay hands were compelled to loaf Friday, and it is likely that they will work but two or three days this week.

No kilnmen have arrived yet, though the firm sent a ticket to one at Ford City last week. The scarcity of that class of workmen here is becoming alarming and active steps will be taken in the near future to get a sufficient number.

Edward Carroll, an apprentice on the bisque, has recovered from a severe siege of sickness.

Local No. 27 held a very interesting meeting last week. Three new members were initiated and five applications were received. At the conclusion of the usual form of business the following committees were appointed: One per cent collectors, George Wag enback, R. Summers, Edward Southern, Nick Hobin, Perry Newcomer, J. Kutch, Lizzie Dillon; shop committee, George Hart, W. J. McKeone, Joe Miller, Nick Hobin, Joe Kutch.

SEBRING POTTER INJURED.

Harry Lister, an employee at the new China pottery, Sebring, sustained injuries recently which will cause his laying off for a couple of weeks. In company with another workman, he was placing a large and heavy joint of tile in position, when a scantling upon which it rested, broke, and the tile, in falling, struck him on the left leg, just below the knee. A severe cut, requiring several stitches by a physician, was made necessary, but fortunately no bones were broken.

READY JULY 1.

The new Cameron plant is to manufacture semi-porcelain dinner and toilet and hotel ware. There will also be a number of specialties. It is yet too early to make a statement as to when the plant will be ready to begin operations but it is thought about July 1.

FOUND A FRACTURE.

MR. MCCAULEY HERE.

Chas. Macauley, of Sebring, who is to be the manager of the clay department of the new pottery at Cameron, W. Va., was a business visitor here this week. He will retain his situation in Sebring for some time yet.

NOTES OF THE POTTERS.

The Toronto white ware plant has started up with a force of 50 men and women.

Elmer Huff, of this city, has gone to Sebring and is at work at the Oliver China company as a kilnplacer.

Dull Times in Toronto.

Toronto is feeling the pressure of dull times, icy pavements and the suspension of the street car line. But the preachers are firing hot shot at old Satan from several churches.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

WIRELESS CHESS PLAYED AT SEA

A Novel Match When Two Steamers Were Some 50 Miles Apart.

Wireless chess in mid-ocean with one finished and one unfinished game on the records between a chess team on the Cunard liner Lucania and the teams on the American liner Philadelphia and the Atlantic Transport line steamer Minnetonka formed the most interesting budget of news brought by the Lucania and Philadelphia.

Several attempts had been made previously to play chess by wireless telegraph in mid-sea, but this is the first time a game has been played without some hitch in the telegraph apparatus knocking things endwise after a few moves.

The Lucania left Liverpool on Saturday, January 10. On the afternoon of Wednesday the operator of the Lucania's wireless apparatus got in communication with the operator on the Minnetonka and sent a challenge on behalf of some of the Lucania's chess players to the Minnetonka. The challenge was taken up in a minute and the game was soon begun, but after four moves on each side something broke on the Lucania, and when repairs were made the Minnetonka had got out of reach.

Friday morning, however, the chess experts on the Lucania were aroused from the smoking room by the announcement that wireless communication had been established with the Philadelphia.

"We would like to play you at chess. Will you pick a team?"

The Philadelphia flashed back in five minutes this message:

"Gladly accept. Play just after lunch."

The Philadelphia's all-American team won.

According to the official logs, the Philadelphia was 19 miles ahead of the Lucania when the game began and the boats were 49 miles apart as the gulls fly when going straight. The Lucania was overhauling her, however, all the time, and on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock sighted her American fellow traveler. Soon afterward the ships were abreast.

The Lucania and the Philadelphia got past the Hook at practically the same time Saturday night.

SPORTING CIRCLES IN MIDST OF A LULL

The Winter Season is on in Full Blast, Resulting in the Usual Slow Period.

The dulllest period of the year is now upon East Liverpool in sporting circles. In this city, as in the great majority of them scattered over the United States when the base ball season closes there is practically no sports until the following spring. However, foot ball was indulged in with interest and vigor last fall and the participation in such games as bowling, basket ball and others during the past two months have made the winter season more alive than usual.

There will be more basket ball during the next month, but the season for this sport will not last much longer in this city. Bowling seems to be the only pleasure now sought and unless a dislike is formed for the game it is anticipated that it will, at least, have a tendency to show that East Liverpool people are not dead to the sporting world.

Steubenville Bowling League.

The Bowling league, of Steubenville, organized and adopted a schedule for the ensuing year. The league is to be known as the Jefferson County Bowling league. It will be governed by a board of directors, composed of two members of each team. Following is a list of directors: Altamone—J. Kessie and J. Bucey; Brunswick—J. Bell and W. E. Flanagan; Mingo—C. Ulstrom and J. Sarver; Knockers—J. Dunn and F. A. Gladfelter. The following officers were elected. Presdent, J. Kessie; secretary, W. E. Flanagan; treasurer, F. A. Gladfelter. A large number of matches have been arranged.

Legislating Against Football.

Under a bill introduced in the Missouri legislature it is made a misdemeanor to play football and the officers and board of managers of the State University, School of Mines, State Normal and Agricultural colleges shall be fined or imprisoned if they permit students to engage in football. The same regulation applies also to teachers and directors of public schools and high schools supported wholly or part by the state.

"Bobby" Woods in Demand.

"Bobby" Woods, who was a member of the Cleveland baseball team for the past two seasons, is spending the winter at his home at Church Hill, near Youngstown. Woods said: "I have not signed a contract with any club for next season. I have had offers from both American and National league teams to sign, but have not done so."

Jeffries Not Anxious.

Champion "Jim" Jeffries, in a telegram to New York from Leadville, Col., states that he can see no reason why he should fight "Jim" Corbett and he doubts if the public expects that he would. Jeffries states that he is making as much money touring with Fitzsimmons as he could in purse money with Corbett.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwall, Conn.

LAW TO REGULATE PHARMACISTS

AN EDUCATIONAL CLAUSE

And Other Requirements Which Are Said to Be Sadly Lacking in the Laws of the Sister State—Mr. Buchanan's Bill.

Charleston, W. Va., January 21.

Hon. C. G. Buchanan, of Wellsburg, has the draft of a bill in his desk which he hopes to get through the house before the legislature adjourns that will strike a severe blow to the pharmaceutical saloon. The purport of the bill is best given in his own language, as he states it:

"The draft in my possession is really the result of work of the general association of pharmacists, of which I am a member. Its effect would be to put our law relating to pharmacists on the same basis as that of Ohio. With the present statute a man who has once passed the required examination of a pharmacy clerk may leave the business for any number of years and re-enter the work without any examination whatever. You know a man who has been engaged in another business for several years forgets the most important part of his professional knowledge, and unless he brushes up considerably is entirely unfit for so responsible a place as that which the druggist holds to the community. My bill provides that a man who has been out of the business for years shall be required to take another examination."

"Further," continued Mr. Buchanan, the present statute has no provision for a man's educational requirements. So long as a boy or man has worked in a drug store the required two years, and can answer the questions put to him by the state board of pharmacy, he is passed on the same footing with the man who has taken a four-year course in one of the finest colleges of pharmacy in the country. And the college man, though he have the best equipment in the way of practical knowledge in the world, is placed at a disadvantage by having to take the required two years' as a cub in a drug store before he can secure his papers as a registered pharmacist. Now my bill contains an educational clause which will do away with this injustice, and its whole drift is toward lifting the professional men of higher education in the business."

"And here is one of the most important things the bill will accomplish if it becomes a law," concluded the Brooke county delegate. "It will do away with that class of pharmacists who enter the profession for the purpose of carrying on the liquor trade, for they will not have the requirements for entrance. It also contains a clause which will take away the power of the board to make their own by laws and regulations. This power in itself is one of the worst injustices I know of, but it is contained in the present statute of this state. It is one of the fundamental principles of our government that the body which has been enforcing a law should have no hand in the making of it. Yet here we have the state board of pharmacy which practically both makes and executes its own laws, and thereby yields a power that is absolute and arbitrary. I don't know how it is going to pan out, as I have not had much opportunity to sound the other members on the subject, and being in the minority myself it may not meet with favor; but we shall see what we shall see."

Your money back if you want it is the way in which Will Reed, the popular druggist is selling Mi-na, the great dyspepsia cure.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-na will cure you. If it does not, tell Mr. Will Reed that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-na, and its continued use will soon give perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Will Reed gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it." A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

Twenty years ago about all the surplus stock the farmer had to sell to the merchants of Toronto for sugar and coffee was dried apples and smoked hutch. Now, since he is receiving from $10 to $100 per day royalty for oil, he comes in his carriage or surrey and spends his gold pieces on the wife and girls like a prince."

A STAG SOCIAL TO BE ENJOYED

By Members of the East Liverpool Lodge of Elks And a Visiting Delegation.

In their newly and most elaborately furnished parlors the members of the East Liverpool lodge of Elks will hold a stag tomorrow night, and if the efforts of the committees appointed to direct the affair are brought into consideration the social will be one of the most enjoyable ever held by that organization of fun lovers.

It is expected that a number of Elks from the lodges of nearby cities will be present, invitations having been extended freely. Notably among the visitors will be Louis P. Metzgar, of Salem, the district deputy of the order, who will prior to the social part of the program conduct an examination of the local order.

W. E. Wells, as toastmaster, will have charge of the evening's merriment, and after a banquet never excelled in variety and richness is partaken the social session will be commenced with the opening address by James Hilbert. The remainder of the program will be carried out as follows:

"Why I want to be City Solicitor"—George Davidson and M. J. McGarry.

News and Notes About The Potteries

PEORIA NOTES.

Peoria, Ill., January 21.—On account of scarcity of boards the clay hands were compelled to loaf Friday, and it is likely that they will work but two or three days this week.

No kilnmen have arrived yet, though the firm sent a ticket to one at Ford City last week. The scarcity of that class of workmen here is becoming alarming and active steps will be taken in the near future to get a sufficient number.

Edward Carroll, an apprentice on the bisque, has recovered from a severe siege of sickness.

Local No. 27 held a very interesting meeting last week. Three new members were initiated and five applications were received. At the conclusion of the usual form of business the following committees were appointed: One per cent collectors, George Wageneback, R. Summers, Edward South ern, Nick Hoblin, Perry Newcomer, J. Kutch, Lizzie Dillon; shop committee, George Hart, W. J. McKeone, Joe Miller, Nick Hoblin, Joe Kutch.

SEBRING POTTER INJURED.

Harry Lister, an employee at the new China pottery, Sebring, sustained injuries recently which will cause his laying off for a couple of weeks. In company with another workman, he was placing a large and heavy joint of tile in position, when a scantling upon which it rested, broke, and the tile, in falling, struck him on the left leg, just below the knee. A severe cut, requiring several stitches by a physician, was made necessary, but fortunately no bones were broken.

READY JULY 1.

The new Cameron plant is to manufacture semi-porcelain dinner and toilet and hotel ware. There will also be a number of specialties. It is yet too early to make a statement as to when the plant will be ready to begin operations but it is thought about July 1.

FOUND A FRACTURE.

MR. MCCAULEY HERE.

Chas. Macauley, of Sebring, who is to be the manager of the clay department of the new pottery at Cameron, W. Va., was a business visitor here this week. He will retain his situation in Sebring for some time yet.

NOTES OF THE POTTERS.

The Toronto white ware plant has started up with a force of 50 men and women.

Elmer Huff, of this city, has gone to Sebring and is at work at the Oliver China company as a kilnplacer.

Dull Times in Toronto.

Toronto is feeling the pressure of dull times, icy pavements and the suspension of the street car line. But the preachers are firing hot shot at old Satan from several churches.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Ferguson Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

WIRELESS CHESS

PLAYED AT SEA

A Novel Match When Two Steamers Were Some 50 Miles Apart.

Wireless chess in mid-ocean with one finished and one unfinished game on the records between a chess team on the Cunard liner Lucania and the teams on the American liner Philadelphia and the Atlantic Transport line steamer Minnetonka formed the most interesting budget of news brought by the Lucania and Philadelphia.

Several attempts had been made previously to play chess by wireless telegraph in mid-sea, but this is the first time a game has been played without some hitch in the telegraph apparatus knocking things endwise after a few moves.

The Lucania left Liverpool on Saturday, January 10. On the afternoon of Wednesday the operator of the Lucania's wireless apparatus got in communication with the operator on the Minnetonka and sent a challenge on behalf of some of the Lucania's chess players to the Minnetonka. The challenge was taken up in a minute and the game was soon begun, but after four moves on each side something broke on the Lucania, and when repairs were made the Minnetonka had got out of reach.

Friday morning, however, the chess experts on the Lucania were aroused from the smoking room by the announcement that wireless communication had been established with the Philadelphia.

"We would like to play you at chess. Will you pick a team?"

The Philadelphia flashed back in five minutes this message:

"Gladly accept. Play just after lunch-noon."

The Philadelphia's all-American team won.

According to the official logs, the Philadelphia was 19 miles ahead of the Lucania when the game began and the boats were 49 miles apart as the gulls fly when going straight. The Lucania was overhauling her, however, all the time, and on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock sighted her American fellow traveler. Soon afterward the ships were abreast.

The Lucania and the Philadelphia got past the Hook at practically the same time Saturday night.

PEORIA NOTES.

Peoria, Ill., January 21.—On account of scarcity of boards the clay hands were compelled to loaf Friday, and it is likely that they will work but two or three days this week.

No kilnmen have arrived yet, though the firm sent a ticket to one at Ford City last week. The scarcity of that class of workmen here is becoming alarming and active steps will be taken in the near future to get a sufficient number.

Edward Carroll, an apprentice on the bisque, has recovered from a severe siege of sickness.

Local No. 27 held a very interesting meeting last week. Three new members were initiated and five applications were received. At the conclusion of the usual form of business the following committees were appointed. One per cent collectors, George Wag enback, R. Summers, Edward South ern, Nick Hobin, Perry Newcomer, J. Kutch, Lizzie Dillon; shop committee, George Hart, W. J. McKeone, Joe Miller, Nick Hobin, Joe Kutch.

SEBRING POTTER INJURED.

Harry Lister, an employee at the new China pottery, Sebring, sustained injuries recently which will cause his laying off for a couple of weeks. In company with another workman, he was placing a large and heavy joint of tile in position, when a scantling upon which it rested, broke, and the tile, in falling, struck him on the left leg, just below the knee. A severe cut, requiring several stitches by a physician, was made necessary, but fortunately no bones were broken.

READY JULY 1.

The new Cameron plant is to manufacture semi-porcelain dinner and toilet and hotel ware. There will also be a number of specialties. It is yet too early to make a statement as to when the plant will be ready to begin operations but it is thought about July 1.

FOUND A FRACTURE.

MR. McCAULEY HERE.

Chas. Macauley, of Sebring, who is to be the manager of the clay department of the new pottery at Cameron, W. Va., was a business visitor here this week. He will retain his situation in Sebring for some time yet.

NOTES OF THE POTTERS.

The Toronto white ware plant has started up with a force of 50 men and women.

Elmer Huff, of this city, has gone to Sebring and is at work at the Oliver China company as a kilnplacer.

Herman King, jumbo jigerman at the Sebring, was struck in the eye with a piece of clay Monday, the thoughtless act of a shopmate. The injury caused him much pain and the loss of several days.

Dull Times in Toronto.

Toronto is feeling the pressure of dull times, icy pavements and the suspension of the street car line. But the preachers are firing hot shot at old Satan from several churches.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

WIRELESS CHESS PLAYED AT SEA

A Novel Match When Two Steamers Were Some 50 Miles Apart.

Wireless chess in mid-ocean with one finished and one unfinished game on the records between a chess team on the Cunard liner Lucania and the teams on the American liner Philadelphia and the Atlantic Transport line steamer Minnetonka formed the most interesting budget of news brought by the Lucania and Philadelphia.

Several attempts had been made previously to play chess by wireless telegraph in mid-sea, but this is the first time a game has been played without some hitch in the telegraph apparatus knocking things endwise after a few moves.

The Lucania left Liverpool on Saturday, January 10. On the afternoon of Wednesday the operator of the Lucania's wireless apparatus got in communication with the operator on the Minnetonka and sent a challenge on behalf of some of the Lucania's chess players to the Minnetonka. The challenge was taken up in a minute and the game was soon begun, but after four moves on each side something broke on the Lucania, and when repairs were made the Minnetonka had got out of reach.

Friday morning, however, the chess experts on the Lucania were aroused from the smoking room by the announcement that wireless communication had been established with the Philadelphia.

"We would like to play you at chess. Will you pick a team?"

The Philadelphia flashed back in five minutes this message:

"Gladly accept. Play just after lunch."

The Philadelphia's all-American team won.

According to the official logs, the Philadelphia was 19 miles ahead of the Lucania when the game began and the boats were 49 miles apart as the gulls fly when going straight. The Lucania was overhauling her, however, all the time, and on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock sighted her American fellow traveler. Soon afterward the ships were abreast.

The Lucania and the Philadelphia got past the Hook at practically the same time Saturday night.

SPORTING CIRCLES IN MIDST OF A LULL

The Winter Season is on in Full Blast, Resulting in the Usual Slow Period.

The dulllest period of the year is now upon East Liverpool in sporting circles. In this city, as in the great majority of them scattered over the United States when the base ball season closes there is practically no sports until the following spring. However, foot ball was indulged in with interest and vigor last fall and the participation in such games as bowling, basket ball and others during the past two months have made the winter season more alive than usual.

There will be more basket ball during the next month, but the season for this sport will not last much longer in this city. Bowling seems to be the only pleasure now sought and unless a dislike is formed for the game it is anticipated that it will, at least, have a tendency to show that East Liverpool people are not dead to the sporting world.

Steubenville Bowling League.
The Bowling league, of Steubenville, organized and adopted a schedule for the ensuing year. The league is to be known as the Jefferson County Bowling League. It will be governed by a board of directors, composed of two members of each team. Following is a list of directors: Altamone—J. Kessie and J. Bucey; Brunswick—J. Bell and W. E. Flanagan; Mingo—C. Ullstrom and J. Sarver; Knockers—J. Dunn and F. A. Gladfelter. The following officers were elected. Pres-

dent, J. Kessie; secretary, W. E. Flanagan; treasurer, F. A. Gladfelter. A large number of matches have been arranged.

Legislating Against Football.

Under a bill introduced in the Missouri legislature it is made a misdemeanor to play football and the officers and board of managers of the State University, School of Mines, State Normal and Agricultural colleges shall be fined or imprisoned if they permit students to engage in football. The same regulation applies also to teachers and directors of public schools and high schools supported wholly or part by the state.

"Bobby" Woods in Demand.

"Bobby" Woods, who was a member of the Cleveland baseball team for the past two seasons is spending the winter at his home at Church Hill, near Youngstown. Woods said: "I have not signed a contract with any club for next season. I have had offers from both American and National league teams to sign, but have not done so."

Jeffries Not Anxious.

Champion "Jim" Jeffries, in a telegram to New York from Leadville, Col., states that he can see no reason why he should fight "Jim" Corbett and he doubts if the public expects that he would. Jeffries states that he is making as much money touring with Fitzsimmons as he could in purse money with Corbett.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Fillbridge, West Cornwall, Conn.

UNITED STATES SENATOR THURSTON,

The Brilliant Statesman from Nebraska, Makes an Important Public Utterance.

INTERIOR OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER.

Ex-Senator John M. Thurston, of Omaha, Nebraska, is one of the most prominent and influential men in the country. He made the speech nominating President McKinley at the St. Louis convention, and was made permanent Chairman of this convention. He was also made Chairman of the convention that renominated the late President McKinley at Philadelphia. He was appointed by President McKinley to be Chairman of the St. Louis Exposition Commission.

This prominent gentleman recently wrote the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio:

Washington, D. C., April 6, 1901.

"I have used Peruna at various times during the past year or two with most satisfactory results.

"It entirely relieved me from an irritating cough—the result of excessive effort in the presidential campaign, and I am a firm believer in its efficacy for any such trouble."—Jno. M. Thurston.

Catarrh has already become a national internal remedy for catarrh. There are cures. Its ravages extend from ocean to ocean.

More than one-half the people are affected by it. It has become such a serious matter that it has passed the boundaries of the medical profession and become a national question. Senators are talking about it; Congressmen are discussing it.

They are not only considering the extent and chronic nature of the disease, but the possibility of finding a national remedy to meet this national calamity. The catarrh remedy, Peruna, seems to be the main expectation in this direction.

Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, devised the remedy, Peruna, over forty years ago, and the remedy as a catarrh cure has been growing in favor steadily all these years. It stands today before the nation as a thoroughly tested, accurately scientific remedy for catarrh. There are cures. Its ravages extend from ocean to ocean.

AN UNCLAIMED HORSE

Animal Found Wandering At Large Near the East End City Limits.

The police of the East End were notified last night about midnight that a horse was loose near the end of the street car track near the city limits. They were also told that the horse was partially harnessed and that one of the traces was broken. It was immediately surmised that a runaway had occurred and possibly someone had been badly hurt and killed. Officers Spence and Fisher went up to the end of the car tracks and found the horse, which by that time had been tied to a telephone pole.

An effort was made to locate the buggy or wagon to which it had been hitched but the effort was unsuccessful. The horse was then taken to the livery barn of John E. Forbes, of Virginia avenue, where it still remains waiting for the owner to claim it. The horse had been noticed by the street car men for several hours and after it was reported to the power house the police were notified and took it in charge.

RETURNS TONIGHT

Rev. William Duncan Comes Back to Conduct Second U. P. Church Services.

The meeting at the Second U. P. church last night was addressed by Rev. D. W. McQuiston in the absence of Rev. William Duncan, of New Concord, O. Rev. Mr. Duncan was here all last week, but was unable to be here Monday or last night on account of the illness of his wife. Rev. Mr. McQuiston received a telegram from him last night stating that he would be here tonight and remain the balance of the week.

This announcement will be gladly received by the members of the congregation as well as the pastor, Mr. Duncan having firmly established himself in the hearts of the members of the congregation. He is a preacher of great power and his sermons have all been specially full of interest. Tonight he will be present and again take up the work, preaching on the topic, "Disposing of Jesus." Another large congregation is expected tonight.

SERIOUSLY BURNED

Flossie, the Little Daughter of Conductor Conley, Badly Scalded By Hot Coffee.

Flossie Conley, the little 15-month-old daughter of Conductor Conley, of the East Liverpool street railway, met with a frightful accident last night about 7 o'clock. In some manner the little child spilled a cup of hot coffee which terribly burned her neck, chin, shoulder and arm. The arm is a mass of blisters, and the little girl suffered greatly before a physician could reach her.

Dr. Mowen was called, reached the scene a few minutes after the accident, and dressed the wound as well as possible. Owing to the extreme youth of the child and the tenderness of the flesh, the wound will be very serious.

Dragged by a Street Car.

William Dearth, a resident of Washington street, met with a slight accident yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock at the railroad crossing in the East End, while attempting to alight from a street car. It seems that Mr. Dearth was a trifle slow in getting off the car and still had hold of the rail when the car started. He was unable to let go of the rail and was dragged for quite a distance by the car before it was stopped. He was able when picked up to walk to his destination, and aside from a number of bad bruises will suffer no serious inconveniences.

Military Social.

The military social held last night at the residence of Rev. N. M. Crowe on Pennsylvania avenue by the Christian Endeavor society was well attended and considerable interest developed as the gentlemen trimmed the hats. The first prize was won by W. C. Supple, he having trimmed the hat of Miss Florence Hill better than any other. James Davis was given the consolation prize. About $12 was cleared by the society and the social was a great success in every way.

Ten New Members.

The Protected Home Circle held their regular business meeting last night at their hall. Ten new members were initiated and 16 names were balloted upon. Next Tuesday night a social will be held at the hall and all members and their friends are invited to be present.

DEAD IN HIS CHAIR SITTING AT A TABLE

Canton Man Dies Suddenly in Restaurant And Death Not Noticed for Two Hours.

Canton, January 21.—Alfred Eggers while sitting at a table in a local restaurant, died suddenly and his death was not discovered until about two hours after. Eggers entered the restaurant about 1 o'clock and called for a dinner. After finishing his meal he didn't arise and the proprietor of the place thought that he was sleeping.

Several customers noticed that the man was sitting in a peculiar attitude and that his face was very pale. Upon investigation it was found that Eggers was dead. Coroner Schiltz said that the man had probably been dead for two hours and that the cause of his death was apoplexy. Eggers has lived in Canton for about 15 years and was employed as a watchmaker at a local jewelry store. He was familiarly known about Canton as "Dutch Fritz."

Charles Sidwell, aged 35, fireman of a Conway yards engine, was caught between the tank and the cab of his engine near Baden and so injured that he died.

George A. Laughlin, of Wheeling, who owns a coal mine at Brilliant, is furnishing the poor of that city coal at 9 cents per bushel, the prevailing price in Wheeling being 15 cents.

Conrad Haimmaler, arrested in Wheeling for the murder of J. E. Hayes, whom he shot and killed in a saloon, was acquitted. It being proven that he shot in self defense.

Daniel Sanor, a well known farmer of North Georgetown, has decided to give up farming since the death of his wife, and will go to Columbus to make his home with his son, Dr. Sanor.

While John Gallagher, an employee of the Tri-State Gas company, was walking to his home on Pleasant Heights, in Steubenville, he was attacked by two men, horribly beaten and robbed of a small sum.

CLARKSON

Clarkson, January 21.—The good sleighing last week brought many visitors to town. Among the number were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Owen at Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Owen's home, Mrs. Nancy Rowe and sons, Charles and Walter, of East Palestine; Mrs. Laura Ward, of Alliance, and Mrs. H. O. Lyon, of East Palestine, at Gaston's.

Mrs. Mattie Feazel and Miss Mary Moore and Newton Moore and Miss Robinson, of Pennsylvania, visited Mrs. Gaston.

H. C. Moore began the second term of the winter school at Pleasant Heights Monday morning.

Liverpool were entertained in the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moon Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baxter, of East Liverpool, have been spending several days with Mrs. Baxter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moon.

The Presbyterian church has voted to call to its vacant pastorate Rev. Mr. McClellan, of Richmond, Ind. It is expected that Dr. Edward C. Louthan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Louthan, north of town, will locate here and practice his profession.

The scarcity of coal continues, and it takes a good deal of fuel this winter.

Mrs. Mary McGee and Master McGee are spending a few days with Columbus friends.

F. M. Eakin, carrier and postmaster on the rural free delivery route, is succeeding finely in making his way over ice and through snow and cold delivering the mail just as if all nature combined to make the situation pleasant and beautiful. He deserves more money than he will get and perhaps more encouragement.

EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $50, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patton declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

An Every Day History—High Strung—Nervous—Excitable—Constant Headaches—No Rest at Night—Heart Weak—Appetite Poor—Loss of Weight—Strength All Gone.

Read the following:

Mrs. C. L. Yeager, of No. 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, Ohio, says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are all good. Past experience with them led me to use the Doctor's Nerve Pills. I got them at Larkin's Drug Store, and I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person as I feel well and hearty again."

INTERIOR OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER.

Ex-Senator John M. Thurston, of Omaha, Nebraska, is one of the most prominent and influential men in the country. He made the speech nominating President McKinley at the St. Louis convention, and was made permanent Chairman of this convention. He was also made Chairman of the convention that nominated the late President McKinley at Philadelphia. He was appointed by President McKinley to be Chairman of the St. Louis Exposition Commission.

This prominent gentleman recently wrote the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio:

Washington, D. C., April 6, 1901.

"I have used Peruna at various times during the past year or two with most satisfactory results.

"It entirely relieved me from an irritating cough—the result of excessive effort in the presidential campaign, and I am a firm believer in its efficacy for any such trouble."—Jno. M. Thurston.

AN UNCLAIMED HORSE

Animal Found Wandering At Large Near the East End City Limits.

The police of the East End were notified last night about midnight that a horse was loose near the end of the street car track near the city limits. They were also told that the horse was partially harnessed and that one of the traces was broken. It was immediately surmised that a runaway had occurred and possibly someone had been badly hurt and killed. Officers Spence and Fisher went up to the end of the car tracks and found the horse, which by that time had been tied to a telephone pole.

An effort was made to locate the buggy or wagon to which it had been hitched but the effort was unsuccessful. The horse was then taken to the livery barn of John E. Forbes, of Virginia avenue, where it still remains waiting for the owner to claim it. The horse had been noticed by the street car men for several hours and after it was reported to the police house the police were notified and took it in charge.

RETURNS TONIGHT

Rev. William Duncan Comes Back to Conduct Second U. P. Church Services.

The meeting at the Second U. P. church last night was addressed by Rev. D. W. McQuiston in the absence of Rev. William Duncan, of New Concord, O. Rev. Mr. Duncan was here all last week, but was unable to be here Monday or last night on account of the illness of his wife. Rev. Mr. McQuiston received a telegram from him last night stating that he would be here tonight and remain the balance of the week.

This announcement will be gladly received by the members of the congregation as well as the pastor, Mr. Duncan having firmly established himself in the hearts of the members of the congregation. He is a preacher of great power and his sermons have all been specially full of interest. Tonight he will be present and again take up the work, preaching on the topic, "Disposing of Jesus." Another large congregation is expected tonight.

FOOT BURNED IN A SALOON

For This Treatment a Drummer Sued Hotel Men For $2,500 Damages.

Steubenville, January 21.—James E. McCord, a traveling salesman, doesn't like his treatment at the Hotel McDewitt, in Mingo, and he has entered suit against each of the three lessees of the hotel for $2,500. The defendants are Samuel Dunham, Ralph Dunham and Thomas McKean. In connection with the hotel, the men conducted a saloon and it was in the liquor shop that McCord's troubles began.

On November 28, 1902, he was a guest at the Hotel McDewitt. While he was sitting in the barroom McCord alleges that persons known to the proprietors, or a part of them at least, poured upon his right foot and saturated his shoe, stocking and foot with alcohol and then ignited it, seriously burning his foot, so that it became diseased and rotted away, causing him great pain and suffering. Ever since he has been sick and sore, and has suffered great pain.

DEAD IN HIS CHAIR SITTING AT A TABLE

Canton Man Dies Suddenly in Restaurant And Death Not Noticed for Two Hours.

Canton, January 21.—Alfred Eggars while sitting at a table in a local restaurant, died suddenly and his death was not discovered until about two hours after. Eggars entered the restaurant about 1 o'clock and called for a dinner. After finishing his meal he didn't arise and the proprietor of the place thought that he was sleeping.

Several customers noticed that the man was sitting in a peculiar attitude and that his face was very pale. Upon investigation it was found that Eggars was dead. Coroner Schultz said that the man had probably been dead for two hours and that the cause of his death was dropsy. Eggars has lived in Canton for about 15 years and was employed as a watchmaker at a local jewelry store. He was familiarly known about Canton as "Dutch Fritz."

Contractor Stringer has started a force of fifty men on the work of double tracking the C. & P. above Port Homer.

Nathan King, aged 87, a native of Lincolnton township, died suddenly at the home of his daughter in Mahoning county.

Charles Sidwell, aged 35, fireman of a Conway yard engine, was caught between the tank and the cab of his engine near Baden and so injured that he died.

George A. Laughlin, of Wheeling, who owns a coal mine at Brilliant, is furnishing the poor of that city coal at 9 cents per bushel, the prevailing price in Wheeling being 15 cents.

Conrad Haigmainer, arrested in Wheeling for the murder of J. E. Hayes, whom he shot and killed in a saloon, was acquitted, it being proven that he shot in self defense.

Daniel Sanor, a well known farmer of North Georgetown, has decided to give up farming since the death of his wife, and will go to Columbus to make his home with his son, Dr. Sanor.

While John Gallagher, an employee of the Tri-State Gas company, was walking to his home on Pleasant Heights, in Steubenville, he was attacked by two men, horribly beaten and robbed of a small sum.

CLARKSON

Clarkson, January 21.—The good sleighing last week brought many visitors to town. Among the number were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Owen at Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Owen's home, Mrs. Nancy Rowe and sons, Charles and Walter, of East Palestine; Mrs. Laura Ward, of Alliance, and Mrs. H. O. Lyon, of East Palestine, at Gaston's.

Mrs. Mattie Pezzel and Miss Mary Moore and Newton Moore and Miss Robinson, of Pennsylvania, visited Mrs. Gaston.

H. C. Moore began the second term of the winter school at Pleasant Heights Monday morning.

Two or three sleds from East

Liverpool were entertained in the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moon Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baxter, of East Liverpool, have been spending several days with Mrs. Baxter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moon.

The Presbyterian church has voted to call to its vacant pastorate Rev. Mr. McClellan, of Richmond, Ind.

It is expected that Dr. Edward C. Louthan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Louthan, north of town, will locate here and practice his profession.

The scarcity of coal continues, and it takes a good deal of fuel this winter.

Mrs. Mary McGee and Master McGee are spending a few days with Columbus friends.

F. M. Eakin, carrier and postmaster on the rural free delivery route, is succeeding finely in making his way over ice and through snow and cold delivering the mail just as if all nature combined to make the situation pleasant and beautiful. He deserves more money than he will get and perhaps more encouragement.

EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $19,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $30, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patten declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

SERIOUSLY BURNED

Flossie, the Little Daughter of Conductor Conley, Badly Scalded By Hot Coffee.

Flossie Conley, the little 15-month-old daughter of Conductor Conley, of the East Liverpool street railway, met with a frightful accident last night about 7 o'clock. In some manner the little child spilled a cup of hot coffee which terribly burned her neck, chin, shoulder and arm. The arm is a mass of blisters, and the little girl suffered greatly before a physician could reach her.

Dr. Mowen was called, reached the scene a few minutes after the accident, and dressed the wound as well as possible. Owing to the extreme youth of the child and the tenderness of the flesh, the wound will be very serious.

Dragged by a Street Car.

William Dearth, a resident of Washington street, met with a slight accident yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock at the railroad crossing in the East End, while attempting to alight from a street car. It seems that Mr. Dearth was a trifle slow in getting off the car and still had hold of the rail when the car started. He was unable to let go of the rail and was dragged for quite a distance by the car before it was stopped. He was able when picked up to walk to his destination, and aside from a number of bad bruises will suffer no serious inconveniences.

Military Social.

The military social held last night at the residence of Rev. N. M. Crowe on Pennsylvania avenue by the Christian Endeavor society was well attended and considerable interest developed as the gentlemen trimmed the hats. The first prize was won by W. C. Supple, he having trimmed the hat of Miss Florence Hill better than any other. James Davis was given the consolation prize. About $12 was cleared by the society and the social was a great success in every way.

Nathan King, aged 87, a native of Hancock township, died suddenly at the home of his daughter in Mahoning county.

Charles Sidwell, aged 35, fireman of a Conway yard engine, was caught between the tank and the cab of his engine near Baden and so injured that he died.

George A. Laughlin, of Wheeling, who owns a coal mine at Brilliant, is furnishing the poor of that city coal at 9 cents per bushel, the prevailing price in Wheeling being 15 cents.

Conrad Haignmair, arrested in Wheeling for the murder of J. E. Hayes, whom he shot and killed in a saloon, was acquitted, it being proven that he shot in self defense.

Daniel Sanor, a well known farmer of North Georgetown, has decided to give up farming since the death of his wife, and will go to Columbus to make his home with his son, Dr. Sanor.

While John Gallagher, an employee of the Tri-State Gas company, was walking to his home on Pleasant Heights, in Steubenville, he was attacked by two men, horribly beaten and robbed of a small sum.

CLARKSON

Clarkson, January 21.—The good sleighing last week brought many visitors to town. Among the number were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Owen at Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Owen's home, Mrs. Nancy Rowe and sons, Charles and Walter, of East Palestine; Mrs. Laura Ward, of Alliance, and Mrs. H. O. Lyon, of East Palestine, at Gaston's.

Mrs. Mattie Feazel and Miss Mary Moore and Newton Moore and Miss Robinson, of Pennsylvania, visited Mrs. Gaston.

H. C. Moore began the second term of the winter school at Pleasant Heights Monday morning.

Two or three sleds from East

Liverpool were entertained in the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moon Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baxter, of East Liverpool, have been spending several days with Mrs. Baxter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moon.

The Presbyterian church has voted to call to its vacant pastorate Rev. Mr. McClellan, of Richmond, Ind.

It is expected that Dr. Edward C. Louthan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Louthan, north of town, will locate here and practice his profession.

The scarcity of coal continues, and it takes a good deal of fuel this winter.

Mrs. Mary McGee and Master McGee are spending a few days with Columbus friends.

F. M. Eakin, carrier and postmaster on the rural free delivery route, is succeeding finely in making his way over ice and through snow and cold delivering the mail just as if all nature combined to make the situation pleasant and beautiful. He deserves more money than he will get and perhaps more encouragement.

EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational recovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $50, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strands, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patten declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

An Every Day History—High Strung—Nervous—Excitable—Constant Headaches—No Rest at Night—Heart Weak—Appetite Poor—Loss of Weight—Strength all Gone.

Read the following:

Mrs. C. L. Yeager, of No. 152 Broadway, East Liverpool, Ohio, says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Medicine are all good. Past experience with them led me to use the Doctor's Nerve Pills. I got them at Larkin's Drug Store, and I was nervous, run down, felt miserable and the heart action was weak and irregular. The medicine made me strong and my nerves steady. The heart action regular and strong and altogether a different person as I feel well and hearty again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

Dr. Adolph Lorenz, the eminent Austrian physician, said on his return to Vienna that he was much impressed with the magnificent charity of the Americans and their immense gifts to educational institutions and hospitals. The rapid extension of various forms of philanthropy is impressing the world that this country not only has more rich men than any other but also more generous men. The men who have risen to wealth here are in most cases those who had to combat poverty in their boyhood, and they are therefore familiar with the conditions and the wants of the less fortunate. It is undoubtedly true that Andrew Carnegie would not now be giving away libraries for the difficulty he found when a boy of getting enough books to satisfy his craving for books and literature.

Council has taken action which should ensure a water supply and consequent fire protection to the East End at the earliest practicable moment. Under the circumstances and considering the urgency of the case, the arrangement effected was probably the best that could be made. At all events, time was gained, and time is money in an emergency like the present.

Woman suffragists have more cause to complain. The first woman's voice raised in debate in the house of representatives was promptly suppressed. In a maiden effort in congress it is not usual to begin by calling the gentleman on the other side a liar. But how was the young lady to know that such privileges are reserved for old debaters?

American prosperity is helping out the famine-stricken people of Sweden. There are many thousands of prosperous Swedes in the west and northwest, whose industry has put them in comfortable circumstances. The cry of distress from their kindred beyond the sea has been heard by them and is being heeded.

Since it is rapidly developing that the gubernatorial nomination is to be a prize for which any man is licensed to enter the number of candidates is likely to increase, says the Mansfield News. Good! Get the voters so aroused that they will all get out on election day.

Tillman is afraid he can't have a fair trial in South Carolina. A fair trial would probably send him to prison for life, if not to the gallows, and it is just the kind he has reason to be afraid of.

It is a good time to read up on the municipal code. The voters should study it and then determine what men among the candidates are best calculated to carry the provisions into effect.

The house committee on appropriations has recommended an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the extension of the rural free delivery mail service.

OBITUARY

Hugh McFall.

Hugh McFall, an old and highly respected resident of the city, died at his home in the Porter block, Broadway, yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months with pneumonia. He had suffered much during the past few years as the result of the infirmities of old age, and though his death is regretted and mourned by a legion of friends, it came to him not unlooked for. Mr. McFall was born at South's Ferry, November 18, 1824, and when but a child moved to this city. He learned the carpenter trade, following it as a means of livelihood until 1860 when he entered the hardware business with J. W. Gaston. He after a few years formed a dislike for indoor work and sold his share of the business.

In the year 1886 Mr. McFall was elected county commissioner and served the people in a highly commendable manner for six years.

A wife is his only survivor, their only child, a son, dying in infancy. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and it is likely that the funeral services will be conducted at that church by Rev. C. G. Jordan.

LAST HONORS ARE PAID TO LOVED WINNIE MERCER

The funeral oration, delivered by Rev. Dr. Pratt, was impressive and eloquent and will be found in full in another column.

All during the oration the sobs from the grief-stricken hearts could be heard, for the words of the speaker depicted Winnie as he had been known. The prayer at the conclusion was most eloquent. The quartet sang the hymn, "Days and Moments Quickly Flying," and then all stood with bowed heads to receive the benediction. The body was then viewed, the long line of people, many of them with tear-stained faces, passing out of the auditorium after filing past the bier. Hundreds who could not find room in the edifice and who had waited outside in the rain then filed in to see for the last time their dead friend.

Slowly the cortege moved through the streets to the cemetery and none along the way were too busy to stop and stand respectfully until it had passed. The ceremony at the grave was short, but impressive.

LESSONS DRAWN FROM MERCER'S LIFE

AN ELOQUENT, FORCIBLE SERMON BY DR. PRATT.

The Many Excellent Qualities of the Young Man Who Has Departed.

Rev. Dr. Milton Butler Pratt's sermon in full was as follows:

Winnie Mercer is dead. In the full strength of his manhood and with acknowledged supremacy in his chosen profession, he has walked out into the "Great Divide" and left his many friends with saddened, aching hearts, straining their eyes into the gloom whence he has gone, half hoping that this is all a dream and that he will greet them when they awake.

Look where we may the wide earth o'er

Their lighted faces smile no more. We tread the paths their feet have worn.

We sit beneath their orchard trees, We hear, like them, the hum of bees, And rustle of the bladed corn; Their written words we linger o'er, But in the sun they cast no shade, No voice is heard, no sign is made, No step is on the conscious floor!

This mournful song of the lonely poet is our sad refrain today. These sorrowful, sympathetic faces, these mourning relatives and associates, this broken-hearted mother, and this flower-kissed casket, with its cold, still tenant, are no unhappy dream. No, Winnie Mercer, the pride of his associates, the joy of his mother, is dead.

Standing here, I ask why this rich floral display and this unusual demonstration of personal sorrow and sympathy? Is it because of his profession? I think not. Though we are all proud of our national game and heartily approve efforts of its management to protect and improve it by the establishment of high moral ideals in its contests of manly skill and strength. Is it because of these tragic events which are connected with this death? I think not. They count only vulgar curiosity; while here are genuine sorrow that arises from personal loss, and eagerness to do his memory honor. Why then have such messages of sorrow and such testimony of affection flooded his family and filled this sanctuary with respectful grief?

Is it not because of his many excellent qualities? God gave him a rich endowment. Like him of the Master's parable he received not one but full five talents.

Possessing a remarkable body he trained it into well high perfect development and became an athlete with few peers. Swift of foot, sure of eye, cunning of hand and clear and quick of mind, he climbed with rapid stride to the highest rank in our national arena of recreation. It was sturdy, manly work he did; and hosts of friends he made. And scattered thick between the seas, these friends will recall the brilliant, honest work he did and sigh that he has gone from them. For the noblest conquests that he made were not in competitive struggle upon the diamond. He won the hearts of those who knew him.

His professional associates were devoted to him and their love has stood the test even of these trying days. There is sadness and deep regret among them; messages and lovely floral tokens have come from them and some kept loving watch over him during the long journey across the continent to this, his final resting place.

Said Mr. Wagner, of Washington who had his services for some time and knew him well: "Yes, I will sell anything I possess, excepting Winnie Mercer and my family."

Some win friends by long, laborious

and astute assault upon the vanity or selfishness of associates. Repulsive men often thus make friends. Not so with Mercer. He won them by befriending them. He won them also not by what he did, but by what he was; a frank, sunny-tempered, kindly-hearted, generous man. He earned a large salary and gave much of it to help needy friends. No one, stranded in the sea of carelessness, misfortune or abuse, ever sought his aid in vain. He was as great in kindness as he was in professional skill. When he returned to this his home flushed with the triumph that was his he had not forgotten the boys who knew him when in humbler days he labored in their midst. But there was a yet nobler element in this man.

Early in this life he became the support of his mother and her family. Cheerfully he toiled that they might be provided with the comforts of life. To the day of his death he never ceased to tenderly cherish his mother. When he wrote home it was that he might send her a message of love. When he met one from this city there was always an anxious inquiry for her welfare. When he returned to our midst it was always with some token to emphasize his affectionate greeting. Devotion to one's mother is always noble and ennobling. Affectionate consideration for her comfort is very nearly the high-water mark of genuine manhood.

When Mary broke the alabaster box of precious ointment and anointed the Lord, He gave to her the benediction of undying remembrance. And amidst the conflicting sentiments that crowd our consciousness in this solemn hour we surely may cherish and emulate the memory of this exalted quality in his character; for Winnie Mercer's devotion to his mother was the pouring out of the alabaster of his manhood.

You, even now, are in his presence. "Comely above most men, strong, agile, bright of mind, sunny souled and open-hearted as the morning, generous, modest, engaging, faithful to his friends, devoted to his relatives and especially tender to his mother he was indeed a "vessel chosen unto honor." But alas, alas, today this noble promise, this Etruscan vase, lies shattered at our feet.

Gathered around these fragments let us drink deeply of lessons from this life. Richly endowed manhood is God's most exalted work. It is lovely that it should not be marred; it is prophetic that it should not be misused; it is costly that it should not be unguarded. Protests and regrets rest voiceless on our lips today; but in this presence of our dead let us take solemn resolution to so establish Christian morality and so diffuse Christian faith that our American young manhood may have fewer enemies and more helps in the working out of that glorious destiny made possible by Christian civilization through its author, Jesus Christ.

Let us take up those worthy qualities of his life and perfect them in our lives. Kindness, modesty, generosity, faithfulness to those dependent ones and helpfulness to all, conspicuous in his career should be carried on in ours. What his life has done for us take on.

The help he may not have sought let us secure. Let us make our lives better through having known and loved this man.

Unto those within the inner circles of his life we come with the consoling promise of help divine. God is always a refuge for us. There is always his arm upon which we may lean. There are always His fatherly love and His tender mercy for our portion. Always we may pray:

Lead, kindly light, amid the encircling gloom,

Lead thou me on!

The night is dark, and I am far from home; Lead thou me on!

Keep thou my feet; I do not ask to see The distant scene; one step enough for me.

Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. For He knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust. As for man, his days are as grass; as a flower of the field so he flourisheth. For the wind passed over it and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and his righteousness unto children's children; to such as keep his covenants, and to those that remember His commandments to do them. We unitedly commend you all to His loving care who has been our dwelling place in all generations.

MERCER'S FRIENDS

TALK ABOUT HIM

GENEROUS TRIBUTES FROM HIS BASEBALL ASSOCIATES.

Kid Speer And Charles Crow Speak In Highest Terms of the Deceased.

George ("Kid") Speer, who has caught for Milwaukee for several seasons came to town yesterday from Pittsburg where he has been the guest of his family. He is stopping with George Carey, the popular ball player, and attended the funeral of Winnie Mercer this afternoon.

There are few men in the profession who were closer to Mercer than was "Kid" Speer. In speaking of him Mr. Speer said: "There never was a ball player that was more popular with the people than Win; besides, he was a gentleman in every sense of the word. I do not believe the nonsensical stories concerning a shortage in his accounts, and even if there had been it would never have caused him to take his own life. There was some other deeper motive. I never in my whole life felt so sad, nor more shocked than when the news reached me. Win Mercer was one of the best friends I ever had, and I am very glad to have the opportunity to show my regard by attending the funeral."

Charles Crow, of Niles, one of the best known pitchers in this section of the state, arrived in the city yesterday and is the guest of First Baseman George Carey, of this city. Crow was an intimate friend of the late Winnie Mercer, and he is here to attend the funeral. In conversation with a News Review reporter today Pitcher Crow said:

"In addition to playing against Win on several occasions, we were warm personal friends, and if one of my own family had passed away I could not have felt worse. He has visited me at my home in Niles, and had a large circle of friends there. When the news of the unfortunate occurrence came to our city it created a sensation rarely equaled. Win Mercer was loved and respected by everyone."

Dr. Adolph Lorenz, the eminent Austrian physician, said on his return to Vienna that he was much impressed with the magnificent charity of the Americans and their immense gifts to educational institutions and hospitals. The rapid extension of various forms of philanthropy is impressing the world that this country not only has more rich men than any other but also more generous men. The men who have risen to wealth here are in most cases those who had to combat poverty in their boyhood, and they are therefore familiar with the conditions and the wants of the less fortunate. It is undoubtedly true that Andrew Carnegie would not now be giving away libraries but for the difficulty he found when a boy of getting enough books to satisfy his craving for books and literature.

Council has taken action which should ensure a water supply and consequent fire protection to the East End at the earliest practicable moment. Under the circumstances and considering the urgency of the case, the arrangement effected was probably the best that could be made. At all events, time was gained, and time is money in an emergency like the present.

Woman suffragists have more cause to complain. The first woman's voice raised in debate in the house of representatives was promptly suppressed. In a maiden effort in congress it is not usual to begin by calling the gentleman on the other side a liar. But how was the young lady to know that such privileges are reserved for old debaters?

American prosperity is helping out the famine-stricken people of Sweden. There are many thousands of prosperous Swedes in the west and northwest, whose industry has put them in comfortable circumstances. The cry of distress from their kindred beyond the sea has been heard by them and is being heeded.

Since it is rapidly developing that the gubernatorial nomination is to be a prize for which any man is licensed to enter the number of candidates is likely to increase, says the Mansfield News. Good! Get the voters so aroused that they will all get out on election day.

Tillman is afraid he can't have a fair trial in South Carolina. A fair trial would probably send him to prison for life, if not to the gallows, and it is just the kind he has reason to be afraid of.

It is a good time to read up on the municipal code. The voters should study it and then determine what men among the candidates are best calculated to carry the provisions into effect.

The house committee on appropriations has recommended an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the extension of the rural free delivery mail service.

OBITUARY

Hugh McFall.

Hugh McFall, an old and highly respected resident of the city, died at his home in the Porter block, Broadway, yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months with pneumonia. He had suffered much during the past few years as the result of the infirmities of old age, and though his death is regretted and mourned by a legion of friends, it came to him not unawakened. Mr. McFall was born at Smith's Ferry, November 18, 1824, and when but a child moved to this city. He learned the carpenter trade, following it as a means of livelihood until 1860 when he entered the hardware business with J. W. Gaston. He after a few years formed a dislike for indoor work and sold his share of the business.

In the year 1886 Mr. McFall was elected county commissioner and served the people in a highly commendable manner for six years.

A wife is his only survivor, their only child, a son, dying in infancy. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and it is likely that the funeral services will be conducted at that church by Rev. C. G. Jordan.

LAST HONORS ARE PAID TO LOVED WINNIE MERCER

The funeral oration, delivered by Rev. Dr. Pratt, was impressive and eloquent and will be found in full in another column.

All during the oration the sobs from the grief-stricken hearts could be heard, for the words of the speaker depicted Winnie as he had been known. The prayer at the conclusion was most eloquent. The quartet sang the hymn, "Days and Moments Quick by Flying," and then all stood with bowed heads to receive the benediction. The body was then viewed, the long line of people, many of them with tear-stained faces, passing out of the auditorium after filing past the bier. Hundreds who could not find room in the edifice and who had waited outside in the rain then filed in to see for the last time their dead friend.

Slowly the cortege moved through the streets to the cemetery and none along the way were too busy to stop and stand respectfully until it had passed. The ceremony at the grave was short, but impressive.

LESSONS DRAWN FROM MERCER'S LIFE

AN ELOQUENT, FORCIBLE SERMON BY DR. PRATT.

The Many Excellent Qualities of the Young Man Who Has Departed.

Rev. Dr. Milton Butler Pratt's sermon in full was as follows:

Winnie Mercer is dead. In the full strength of his manhood and with acknowledged supremacy in his chosen profession, he has walked out into the "Great Divide" and left his many friends with saddened, aching hearts, straining their eyes into the gloom whence he has gone, half hoping that this is all a dream and that he will greet them when they awake.

Look where we may the wide earth o'er

Their lighted faces smile no more.

We tread the paths their feet have worn.

We sit beneath their orchard trees.

We hear, like them, the hum of bees.

And rustle of the bladed corn;

Their written words we linger o'er.

But in the sun they cast no shade.

No voice is heard, no sign is made.

No step is on the conscious floor!

This mournful song of the lonely poet is our sad refrain today.

These sorrowful, sympathetic faces, these mourning relatives and associates, this broken-hearted mother, and this flower-kissed casket, with its cold, still tenant, are no unhappy dream. No, Winnie Mercer, the pride of his associates, the joy of his mother, is dead.

Standing here, I ask why this rich floral display and this unusual demonstration of personal sorrow and sympathy? Is it because of his profession? I think not. Though we are all proud of our national game and heartily approve efforts of its management to protect and improve it by the establishment of high moral ideals in its contests of manly skill and strength, is it because of these tragic events which are connected with this death? I think not. They count only vulgar curiosity; while here are genuine sorrow that arises from personal loss; and eagerness to do his memory honor. Why then have such messages of sorrow and such testimony of affection flooded his family and filled this sanctuary with respectful grief?

Is it not because of his many excellent qualities? God gave him a rich endowment. Like him of the Master's parable he received not one but full five talents.

Possessing a remarkable body he trained it into well nigh perfect development and became an athlete with few peers. Swift of foot, sure of eye, cunning of hand and clear and quick of mind, he climbed with rapid stride to the highest rank in our national arena of recreation. It was sturdy manly work he did; and hosts of friends he made. And scattered thick between the seas, these friends will recall the brilliant, honest work he did and sigh that he has gone from them. For the noblest conquests that he made were not in competitive struggle upon the diamond. He won the hearts of those who knew him.

His professional associates were devoted to him and their love has stood the test even of these trying days. There is sadness and deep regret among them; messages and lovely floral tokens have come from them and some kept loving watch over him during the long journey across the continent to this, his final resting place.

Said Mr. Warner, of Washington, who had his services for some time and knew him well: "Yes, I will sell anything I possess, excepting Winnie Mercer and my family."

Some win friends by long, laborious

The help he may not have sought let us secure. Let us make our lives better through having known and loved this man.

Unto those within the inner circles of his life we come with the consoling promise of help divine. God is always a refuge for us. There is always his arm upon which we may lean. There are always His fatherly love and His tender mercy for our portion. Always we may pray:

Lead, kindly light, amid the encircling gloom,

Lead thou me on!

The night is dark, and I am far from home;

Lead thou me on!

Keep thou my feet; I do not ask to see The distant scene; one step enough for me.

Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. For He knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust. As for men, his days are as grass; as a flower of the field so he flourisheth. For the wind passed over it and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and his righteousness unto children's children; to such as keep his covenants, and to those that remember His commandments to do them. We unitedly commend you all to His loving care who has been our dwelling place in all generations.

and astute assault upon the vanity or selfishness of associates. Repulsive men often thus make friends. Not so with Mercer. He won them by befriending them. He won them also not by what he did, but by what he was; a frank, sunny-tempered, kindly-hearted, generous man. He earned a large salary and gave much of it to help needy friends. No one, stranded in the sea of carelessness, misfortune or abuse, ever sought his aid in vain. He was as great in kindness as he was in professional skill. When he returned to this his home flushed with the triumph that was his he had not forgotten the boys who knew him when in humbler days he labored in their midst. But there was a yet nobler element in this man.

Early in this life he became the support of his mother and her family. Cheerfully he toiled that they might be provided with the comforts of life. To the day of his death he never ceased to tenderly cherish his mother. When he wrote home it was that he might send her a message of love. When he met one from this city there was always an anxious inquiry for her welfare. When he returned to our midst it was always with some token to emphasize his affectionate greeting. Devotion to one's mother is always noble and ennobling. Affectionate consideration for her comfort is very nearly the high-water mark of genuine manhood.

When Mary broke the alabaster box of precious ointment and anointed the Lord, He gave to her the benediction of undying remembrance. And amidst the conflicting sentiments that crowd our consciousness in this solemn hour we surely may cherish and emulate the memory of this exalted quality in his character; for Winnie Mercer's devotion to his mother was the pouring out of the alabaster of his manhood.

You, even now, are in his presence. Comely above most men, strong, agile, bright of mind, sunny souled and open-hearted as the morning, generous, modest, engaging, faithful to his friends, devoted to his relatives and especially tender to his mother he was indeed a "vessel chosen unto honor." But alas, alas, today this noble promise, this Etruscan vase, lies shattered at our feet.

Gathered around these fragments let us drink deeply of lessons from this life. Richly endowed manhood is God's most exalted work. It is lovely that it should not be marred; it is prophetic that it should not be misused; it is costly that it should not be unguarded. Protests and regrets rest voiceless on our lips today; but in this presence of our dead let us take solemn resolution to so establish Christian morality and so diffuse Christian faith that our American young manhood may have fewer enemies and more helps in the working out of that glorious destiny made possible by Christian civilization through its author, Jesus Christ.

Let us take up those worthy qualities of his life and perfect them in our lives. Kindness, modesty, generosity, faithfulness to those dependent ones and helpfulness to all, conspicuous in his career should be carried on in ours. What his life lacked let us take on.

George ("Kid") Spear, who has caught for Milwaukee for several seasons came to town yesterday from Pittsburgh where he has been the guest of his family. He is stopping with George Carey, the popular ball player, and attended the funeral of Winnie Mercer this afternoon.

There are few men in the profession who were closer to Mercer than was "Kid" Spear. Speaking of him Mr. Spear said: "There never was a ball player that was more popular with the people than Win; besides, he was a gentleman in every sense of the word. I do not believe the nonsensical stories concerning a shortage in his accounts, and even if there had been it would never have caused him to take his own life. There was some other deeper motive. I never in my whole life felt so sad, nor more shocked than when the news reached me. Win Mercer was one of the best friends I ever had, and I am very glad to have the opportunity to show my regard by attending the funeral."

Charles Crow, of Niles, one of the best known pitchers in this section of the state, arrived in the city yesterday and is the guest of First Baseman George Carey, of this city. Crow was an intimate friend of the late Winnie Mercer, and he is here to attend the funeral. In conversation with a News Review reporter today Pitcher Crow said:

"In addition to playing against Win on several occasions, we were warm personal friends, and if one of my own family had passed away I could not have felt worse. He has visited me at my home in Niles, and had a large circle of friends there. When the news of the unfortunate occurrence came to our city it created a sensation rarely equaled. Win Mercer was loved and respected by everyone."

Lead thou me on!

The night is dark, and I am far from home;

Lead thou me on!

Keep thou my feet; I do not ask to see The distant scene; one step enough for me.

Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. For He knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust. As for men, his days are as grass; as a flower of the field so he flourisheth. For the wind passed over it and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and his righteousness unto children's children; to such as keep his covenants, and to those that remember His commandments to do them. We unitedly commend you all to His loving care who has been our dwelling place in all generations.

NO. 24'S SMOKER

Potters' Union Provides a Choice Entertainment—Notes of the Unions.

After the regular business meeting of Local union No. 24, N. B. of O. P., held last evening in Fotters' hall, a smoker was held by the local. It was purely a stag affair and was attended by a number of members of other local unions.

Stogies, music, humorous stories and recitations were the order of the evening and nearly everyone took some part in the entertainment. The feature of the evening was the vocal music rendered by Councilman A. J. Brennan. Mr. Brennan has a very excellent tenor voice. He sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and "Take Me Back to Old Virginia," both of which were thoroughly appreciated and brought forth a round of applause.

Local union No. 384, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, will hold its regular meeting this evening in the same hall. A special called meeting of the Retail Clerks' union will also be held this evening at Black's shoe store on Main street. Business of importance will be transacted.

POSTOFFICE CONTEST

Taylor's Recommendation of Snowden Does Not Seem to Have Settled the Fight.

Now the present postmaster, T. R. Snowden, has been recommended by Congressman Taylor, for re-nomination, the fight for the office is waxing warm here. There is considerable of a feeling throughout the city in the matter. Several citizens have written letters to the president and the congressman in behalf of others.

Manager James Nolan, of the Wells-ville Record, who is a very popular man throughout the city, has been recommended to both the president and the congressman.

Aside from Mr. Nolan, Squire A. G. MacKenzie, John F. McQueen and Charles K. MacGregor, Jr., have been mentioned as good men for the office. At the present time Mr. Nolan seems to be a leader in the race.

On the first of February the present postmaster's time expires. The recommendation for him gives him a great advantage in the race.

Substitute Policeman.

During the absence of Officer How and Davis from the local police force, on account of his arm, in which blood poison has set in, Mayor Fogo has appointed Clyde McElvain, of the West End, as a substitute policeman. He will have to serve for some time, as Officer John Henthorne is also off duty on account of illness. The arm of Officer Davis, which is affected by the poison, is improving rapidly and Davis expects to resume his duties within a few days. It was feared for a time that Davis would lose his arm.

Bumble Bees Entertain.

The members of the Wellsville "Bumble Bee" club were very pleasantly entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Grace Parke, on Main street. Local topics were discussed and light refreshments were served. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent. Those present were the Misses Margaret Lindsay, Mary Bruner, Ola Cope, Margaret McLean, Grace MacGregor and Grace Parke.

Masonic Installation.

The stated communication of Wells-ville lodge No. 189, F. & A. M., was held last evening in the Masonic Temple hall, on Main street. The meeting was called by the secretary, George L. Apple. Officers for the year were installed.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Man Held at Martin's Ferry May Have Robbed Scott at New Cumberland.

It seems probable that the parties who robbed the safe of A. W. Scott, the helpless jeweler of New Cumberland, after binding him to the bed with ropes Sunday morning, will be apprehended. The officers of the neighboring cities and towns have been keeping a close watch on all suspicious looking persons and anyone trying to dispose of jewelry is closely scrutinized. Marshal Westwood and Officer Edmunds, of Martin's Ferry, arrested a fellow Monday morning and will hold him until they can hear from the authorities at New Cumberland.

The man was attempting to sell a ring when placed under arrest. He appeared to be greatly confused and gave his name as James Clark. At first he said he came direct from Pittsburg to Martin's Ferry, but later said he came from Wincelton to Martin's Ferry and that he bought the ring from a dealer there for 20 cents. The ring disappeared suddenly and the police were unable to find it.

REWARD OF $500

Likely to Be Offered for Apprehension of New Cumberland Robbers.

Prosecuting Attorney J. A. McKenzie, of New Cumberland, was in Chester today on business. In speaking about the robbery there Sunday morning he said that no definite clues had yet been found. A reward has been offered for the arrest of the guilty parties and council expected to meet last night and also offer a reward.

It is likely that a total of about $500 will be offered for the arrest and conviction of the safe looters and every effort will be made to locate them.

NARROW ESCAPE

Escaping Gas Came Near Suffocating William Lewis And Family.

The family of William Lewis, living on Carolina avenue, near the car barns, had a narrow escape last night from being suffocated by gas. The rubber hose connecting the gas pipe and the stove came off in some manner and the escaping gas affected all the members of the family. The trouble was discovered and a physician was summoned, who was able to bring all those affected back to their normal condition.

Auditing Committee to Meet.

The auditing committee appointed at the last meeting of council to examine the report of Chief Allison will meet with him tonight. This report must show the amount of taxes collected during the year and the condition of the town funds. Chief Allison was busy today in getting the finishing touches to his report, so that it will be complete in every detail tonight.

Coming Social.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the U. P. church in Chester held a meeting this afternoon at the parsonage to decide in regard to the time and kind of a social which they expect to give in a couple of weeks. The ladies contemplate something out of the ordinary and hope to make it a success.

A RISE EXPECTED IN THE RIVER SOON

Ice Likely to Come Down With a Rush And Cause Damage.

The river is falling today, but a rise is expected before tomorrow. The rain of last night was general, the precipitation at Pittsburg being about one inch. It is likely that the ice will come out of the Monongahela with a rush and much damage may result. This depends, however, on the weather conditions. It is estimated that the stage here will reach 12 feet on the rise.

The Queen City is due down at 8 o'clock tonight and the Virginia will come out for the first time in a month on her regular time Saturday. The other packets, it is thought, will be running before the end of the week.

STUNNED BY A BLOW

A Machinist Meets With Serious Accident While at Work.

E. J. Jones, a machinist employed at Patterson's foundry, met with an accident yesterday afternoon which will result in his being laid up for several days. He was assisting in the opening of A. W. Scott's safe when a punch, struck by a heavy sledge, flew into the air and hit him over the left eye. He was stunned by the blow and it was thought for a few minutes that he had been seriously hurt.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hardie, of Seventh street, left yesterday to visit relatives in St. Louis.

Miss Emma Bennett, of Avondale street, who has been seriously ill from grip, remains about the same.

William Coleman, of Carrollton, who was one of the first men in the amateur base ball ranks to pitch against Winnie Mercer, arrived in the city Monday. Mr. Coleman is a guest at the home of Jacob Maple, Cadmus street. He is also calling upon Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rutledge, of Avondale street.

Mrs. Powell's Case Argued.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special.)—The case of Onio on relation of Ada Powell against Philip Spices, a Wells-ville constable, was argued and submitted to the court yesterday. Mrs. Powell brought the action claiming an exemption of certain property which had been seized on attachment proceedings against the husband. The husband deserted his wife some time before the goods were attached.

EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $19,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair not worth $30, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's churchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patten declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Grafton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of East Liverpool, and J. L. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

JUDGE DAY WILL BE APPOINTED

His Elevation to the Supreme Bench Will Be Announced at McKinley Banquet.

Canton, O., Jan. 21.—There is a report current in this city that Judge Day's appointment to the supreme bench will be announced by President Roosevelt at the McKinley banquet to be held in Canton, Tuesday evening, Jan. 27.

The story is that as the late president had intended this promotion for his distinguished friend that no more fitting opportunity to announce the fulfillment of these plans could be found than at the celebration of McKinley's birthday in his home city.

Washington dispatches state that the appointment has been duly determined upon and that it will, in a short time, be given out with the name of Judge Day's successor upon the circuit bench. The fact that Judge Wing, of Cleveland, who is upon the United States district bench will be present at the banquet, has given rise to the report that when the announcement of Judge Day's elevation is made Judge Wing will be made to succeed to the circuit bench.

Surrendered Themselves.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The nine defendants named in the indictments against the officers and executive committee of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois, met here today and surrendered themselves at the state attorney's office. Bonds for their appearance for trial were given at once. It is likely that they will agree to an immediate hearing and waive a jury. The Indiana corporations and their indicted officials may take a similar step. Regarding the Northern Illinois Soft Coal association, although the purpose was to call their case today, it is now deemed impossible for them to prepare their defense by that time, and the hearing may not be had before Friday.

Nine Dead, Many Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—A special from Wenatchee, Wash., says: Nine men are dead and 8 or 10 injured as a result of a rear-end collision on the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above Chawaukum. A bridge gang train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow pile. A car containing 50 men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work train. Neither engineer, fireman or brakeman was among the injured.

NO. 24'S SMOKER

Potters' Union Provides a Choice Entertainment—Notes of the Unions.

After the regular business meeting of Local union No. 24, N. B. of O. P., held last evening in Potters' hall, a smoker was held by the local. It was purely a stag affair and was attended by a number of members of other local unions.

Stogies, music, humorous stories and recitations were the order of the evening and nearly everyone took some part in the entertainment. The feature of the evening was the vocal music rendered by Councilman A. J. Brennan. Mr. Brennan has a very excellent tenor voice. He sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and "Take Me Back to Old Virginia," both of which were thoroughly appreciated and brought forth a round of applause.

Local union No. 384, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, will hold its regular meeting this evening in the same hall. A special called meeting of the Retail Clerks' union will also be held this evening at Black's shoe store on Main street. Business of importance will be transacted.

POSTOFFICE CONTEST

Taylor's Recommendation of Snowder Does Not Seem to Have Settled the Fight.

Now the present postmaster, T. R. Snowden, has been recommended by Congressman Taylor, for renomination, the fight for the office is waxing warm here. There is considerable of a feeling throughout the city in the matter. Several citizens have written letters to the president and the congressman in behalf of others.

Manager James Nolan, of the Wellsville Record, who is a very popular man throughout the city, has been recommended to both the president and the congressman.

Aside from Mr. Nolan, Squire A. G. MacKenzie, John F. McQueen and Charles K. MacGregor, Jr., have been mentioned as good men for the office. At the present time Mr. Nolan seems to be a leader in the race.

On the first of February the present postmaster's time expires. The recommendation for him gives him a great advantage in the race.

Substitute Policeman.

During the absence of Officer How and Davis from the local police force, on account of his arm, in which blood poison has set in, Mayor Fogo has appointed Clyde McElvain, of the West End, as a substitute policeman. He will have to serve for some time, as Officer John Henthorne is also off duty on account of illness. The arm of Officer Davis, which is affected by the poison, is improving rapidly and Davis expects to resume his duties within a few days. It was feared for a time that Davis would lose his arm.

Bumble Bees Entertain.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Man Held at Martin's Ferry May Have Robbed Scott at New Cumberland.

It seems probable that the parties who robbed the safe of A. W. Scott, the helpless jeweler of New Cumberland, after binding him to the bed with ropes Sunday morning, will be apprehended. The officers of the neighboring cities and towns have been keeping a close watch on all suspicious looking persons and anyone trying to dispose of jewelry is closely scrutinized. Marshal Westwood and Officer Edmunds, of Martin's Ferry, arrested a fellow Monday morning and will hold him until they can hear from the authorities at New Cumberland.

The man was attempting to sell a ring when placed under arrest. He appeared to be greatly confused and gave his name as James Clark. At first he said he came direct from Pittsburg to Martin's Ferry, but later said he came from Wheeling to Martin's Ferry and that he bought the ring from a dealer there for 29 cents. The ring disappeared suddenly and the police were unable to find it.

REWARD OF $500

Likely to Be Offered for Apprehension of New Cumberland Robbers.

Prosecuting Attorney J. A. McKenzie, of New Cumberland, was in Chester today on business. In speaking about the robbery there Sunday morning he said that no definite clues had yet been found. A reward has been offered for the arrest of the guilty parties and council expected to meet last night and also offer a reward.

It is likely that a total of about $500 will be offered for the arrest and conviction of the safe looters and every effort will be made to locate them.

NARROW ESCAPE

Escaping Gas Came Near Suffocating William Lewis And Family.

The family of William Lewis, living on Carolina avenue, near the car barns, had a narrow escape last night from being suffocated by gas. The rubber hose connecting the gas pipe and the stove came off in some manner and the escaping gas affected all the members of the family. The trouble was discovered and a physician was summoned, who was able to bring all those affected back to their normal condition.

Auditing Committee to Meet.

The auditing committee appointed at the last meeting of council to examine the report of Chief Allison will meet with them tonight. This report must show the amount of taxes collected during the year and the condition of the town funds. Chief Allison was busy today in getting the finishing touches to his report, so that it will be complete in every detail tonight.

A RISE EXPECTED

IN THE RIVER SOON

Ice Likely to Come Down With a Rush And Cause Damage.

The river is falling today, but a rise is expected before tomorrow. The rain of last night was general, the precipitation at Pittsburg being about one inch. It is likely that the ice will come out of the Monongahela with a rush and much damage may result. This depends, however, on the weather conditions. It is estimated that the stage here will reach 12 feet on the rise.

The Queen City is due down at 8 o'clock tonight and the Virginia will come out for the first time in a month on her regular time Saturday. The other packets, it is thought, will be running before the end of the week.

STUNNED BY A BLOW

A Machinist Meets With Serious Accident While at Work.

E. J. Jones, a machinist employed at Patterson's foundry, met with an accident yesterday afternoon which will result in his being laid up for several days. He was assisting in the opening of A. W. ## EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $30, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf plus. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valubles were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Out Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patten declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west-bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Grafton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of East Liverpool, and J. L. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

SOUTH SIDE

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Man Held at Martin's Ferry May Have Robbed Scott at New Cumberland.

It seems probable that the parties who robbed the safe of A. W. Scott, the helpless jeweler of New Cumberland, after binding him to the bed with ropes Sunday morning, will be apprehended. The officers of the neighboring cities and towns have been keeping a close watch on all suspicious looking persons and anyone trying to dispose of jewelry is closely scrutinized. Marshal Westwood and Officer Edmunds, of Martin's Ferry, arrested a fellow Monday morning and will hold him until they can hear from the authorities at New Cumberland.

The man was attempting to sell a ring when placed under arrest. He appeared to be greatly confused and gave his name as James Clark. At first he said he came direct from Pittsburgh to Martin's Ferry, but later said he came from Wincelton to Martin's Ferry and that he bought the ring from a dealer there for 20 cents. The ring disappeared suddenly and the police were unable to find it.

REWARD OF $500

Likely to Be Offered for Apprehension of New Cumberland Robbers.

Prosecuting Attorney J. A. McKenzie, of New Cumberland, was in Chester today on business. In speaking about the robbery there Sunday morning he said that no definite clues had yet been found. A reward has been offered for the arrest of the guilty parties and council expected to meet last night and also offer a reward.

It is likely that a total of about $500 will be offered for the arrest and conviction of the safe robbers and every effort will be made to locate them.

NARROW ESCAPE

Escaping Gas Came Near Suffocating William Lewis and Family.

The family of William Lewis, living on Carolina avenue, near the car barns, had a narrow escape last night from being suffocated by gas. The rubber hose connecting the gas pipe and the stove came off in some manner and the escaping gas affected all the members of the family. The trouble was discovered and a physician was summoned, who was able to bring all those affected back to their normal condition.

Auditing Committee to Meet.

The auditing committee appointed at the last meeting of council to examine the report of Chief Allison will meet with him tonight. This report must show the amount of taxes collected during the year and the condition of the town funds. Chief Allison was busy today in getting the finishing touches to his report, so that it will be complete in every detail tonight.

A RISE EXPECTED IN THE RIVER SOON

Ice Likely to Come Down With a Rush And Cause Damage.

The river is falling today, but a rise is expected before tomorrow. The rain of last night was general, the precipitation at Pittsburgh being about one inch. It is likely that the ice will come out of the Monongahela with a rush and much damage may result. This depends, however, on the weather conditions. It is estimated that the stage here will reach 12 feet on the rise.

The Queen City is due down at 8 o'clock tonight, and the Virginia will come out for the first time in a month on her regular time Saturday. The other packets, it is thought, will be running before the end of the week.

STUNNED BY A BLOW

A Machinist Meets With Serious Accident While at Work.

E. J. Jones, a machinist employed at Patterson's foundry, met with an accident yesterday afternoon which will result in his being laid up for several days. He was assisting in the opening of A. W. Scott's safe when a punch, struck by a heavy sledge, flew into the air and hit him over the left eye. He was stunned by the blow and it was thought for a few minutes that he had been seriously hurt.

EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $30, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valises were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patten declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Gratton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garison, of East Liverpool, and J. L. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

Capital $15,000,000.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—The United Lead company, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000, was incorporated here yesterday.

JUDGE DAY WILL BE APPOINTED

His Elevation to the Supreme Bench Will Be Announced at McKinley Banquet.

Canton, O., Jan. 21.—There is a report current in this city that Judge Day's appointment to the supreme bench will be announced by President Roosevelt at the McKinley banquet to be held in Canton, Tuesday evening, Jan. 27.

The story is that as the late president had intended this promotion for his distinguished friend that no more fitting opportunity to announce the fulfillment of these plans could be found than at the celebration of McKinley's birthday in his home city.

Washington dispatches state that the appointment has been duly determined upon and that it will, in a short time, be given out with the name of Judge Day's successor upon the circuit bench. The fact that Judge Wing, of Cleveland, who is upon the United States district bench, will be present at the banquet, has given rise to the report that when the announcement of Judge Day's elevation is made Judge Wing will be made to succeed to the circuit bench.

Surrendered Themselves.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The nine defendants named in the indictments against the officers and executive committee of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois, met here today and surrendered themselves at the state attorney's office. Bonds for their appearance for trial were given at once. It is likely that they will agree to an immediate hearing and waive a jury. The Indiana corporations and their injured officials may take a similar step. Regarding the Northern Illinois Soft Coal association, although the purpose was to call their case today, it is now deemed impossible for them to prepare their defense by that time, and the hearing may not be had before Friday.

Nine Dead, Many Injured.
Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—A special from Wenatchee, Wash., says: Nine men are dead and 8 or 10 injured as a result of a rear-end collision on the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above Chlwanukum. A bridge gang train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow pile. A car containing 50 men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work train. Neither engineer, fireman or brakeman was among the injured.

ASKS FOR MILLIONS

Aguinaldo Suggests Loan and Credit of $100,000,000 to Develop Philippines.

SUM TO BE REPAYED IN 20 YEARS.

Misfortunes and Sufferings of His People Cause Him to Emerge from His Retirement and Raise His Voice in Their Behalf.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Secretary Root yesterday transmitted to the senate and house copies of the petition received by him, through Governor Taft, from Aguinaldo, the late insurgent leader in the Philippines. The petition is a remarkable presentation of the conditions now existing in the Philippines, and Secretary Root hastened to send it to congress, because it went a long way toward supporting the statement he had made to the committees of that body, and also demonstrating the necessity for prompt and exhaustive action on the part of congress to prevent disaster and distress in the archipelago. The petition says in part:

Impressed by Sorrows. "Profoundly impressed by the sorrows and calamities which afflict my people, and bearing in mind the good intentions which have inspired the acts of the civil commission, I have taken heart to present a project of a purely economic character which in my opinion would remedy, if not completely, at least in great part, the precarious situation in which we all find ourselves.

"I propose to the honorable civil commission to obtain from congress a United States treasury loan of $20,000,000 gold, in cash, and also a credit of $80,000,000 gold, which will guarantee the issue of paper to serve as money in the islands. This sum shall be used for the development and improvement of Philippine agriculture and shall be paid within 20 years, the payments being made in three installments, at the end of 10, 15 and 20 years respectively, and at the rate of $25,000,000 at the end of the first period, which would cancel so much of the credit, and $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 at the end of the two remaining periods. The amount of the credit would not be taken out of the United States treasury like the loan, and both would be without interest, and could never be transferred to any other foreign nation.

Would Establish Bank. "When the loan and credit were approved and the above mentioned sum here in the Philippines, a bank would be opened, which would be called 'United States America Agricultural Philippine bank,' and which should be under the inspection and supervision of the insular government. After the civil commission had dictated the

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE SHOULD EXTEND TO CHINA

By Captain RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON, U. S. N.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE IS NEVER SAFE WITHOUT AN EFFICIENT NAVY.

We owe distinct duties to the Filipinos in distant seas; we can never discharge those duties without a mighty navy.

After carefully weighing my words, I believe it would not be oversteering the bounds of duty and safety to EXTEND THE MONROE DOCTRINE TO CHINA AND SAY THAT THE METHODS OF MILITARISM SHALL NO LONGER BE EXERCISED IN ANY PORTION OF THE EARTH.

With a nation as with an individual, I believe prosperity and duty go hand in hand. Our bread cast upon the waters shall come back to us. No one need object on the ground of expense. With our resources we can easily surpass the nations of the world when once we lay our hand to the plow. Does some one say a navy menaces our free institutions? No navy in history ever did. As with the individual, responsibility will steady the navy.

Great Britain has many times the amount of our naval tonnage; France has likewise; Russia is ahead of us, and Germany is our equal. Germany has a young and vigorous emperor to look out over the world and do her thinking for her. Our people must do the thinking for America. I WOULD SUGGEST THAT WE ADD $5,000,000 ANNUALLY TO OUR NAVAL APPROPRIATION. On that basis I estimate that in 1930 we would surpass Great Britain in naval tonnage. We are in a danger zone. We should proceed now when the nations are taking account of young America and let them know that we intend to gain naval supremacy.

BEFORE I DIE I SHALL SEE OUR COUNTRY SUPREME UPON THE SEAS.

proper regulations and established all the necessary safeguards for the security and stability of the bank, the bank would begin to operate, making available for the agriculturalists such sums as they should ask for, in compliance with the necessary formalities, at an annual maximum of 4 per cent, payable semi-annually.

Preliminary Expenses. "From the $100,000,000 capital would be subtracted $20,000,000 for the construction of buildings for branch banks throughout the archipelago, and for other necessary preliminary expenses.

"Subtracting from the annual income of $3,920,000 the annual expenses for salaries and other necessary expenses of the bank, which may be reckoned at about $700,000, there would remain a net annual income of $3,220,000, which, added to the capital at compound interest, under the same conditions during the following years, at the end of 16 years would free both the actual capital and the supplementary credit—that is, the bank would have liquidated its debt to the United States treasury and there would remain a balance of at least $10,000,000 for the continuance of its work. Allowing four years for ample time makes the 20 years mentioned.

Would Serve as Guarantee. "By the time that the United States treasury has been repaid at the end of the stated period of 20 years, the Philippine treasury would have at least $50,000,000, which would serve to guarantee the issue of paper money to that amount.

"In case Filipinos should wish to acquire the bank by making of it a joint stock company without otherwise altering its organization and methods, the government would concede to them the title, without prejudice to its right to require repayment of the amounts incurred by the foundation of said bank or other necessary expenses.

"It may be that when this project is known I shall be called an enthusiast and dreamer, and it will be said that I ought not to involve myself in matters that force me out of the retired life which I have intended to follow since my imprisonment, and which, as I believe, nothing that I have done has broken into until the present time. But the contemplation of the bitter misfortunes which oppress this suffering people, exhausted by evils and calamities without number, obliges me to leave my retirement to fulfill what I believe to be my duty.

Respectfully, "Emilio Aguinaldo Famy."

NEW TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Will Be Capitalized at $10,000,000 and Will Operate Second Largest Fleet on Fresh Water.

Cleveland, Jan. 21.—A staff special to the Plain Dealer from Detroit says: A transportation company, with a capital stock of $10,000,000, will be incorporated in the state of Ohio during the next week or 10 days, and, next to the fleet of the Pittsburgh Steamship company, it will operate the largest fleet of vessels on fresh water.

The new organization will be known as the Gilchrist Transportation company, with J. C. Gilchrist, of Cleveland, at the head of it. A meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Shore Transit company, the Globe Steamship company, the Steel Steamship company, the Inland Star Transit company, the Vega Steamship company, the Lorain Steamship company, the Tycron Transit company and the Merida Steamship company, which now operate the vessels of the Gilchrist fleet, was held at Verrillion, O., yesterday, and it was decided to merge the companies. Aside from J. C. Gilchrist, of Alpena, nearly all the stockholders of the companies named live between Cleveland and Sandusky, and the change was made with little trouble.

J. C. Gilchrist will be the president of the company and the directors will be chosen from the list that has been selected by the stockholders of the different companies.

The plan for reorganization has been agreed to. The new company will have upwards of 80 freight carriers, 10 of which are large steel steamers now being built at the different lake yards.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

ANOTHER MAN FATALY INJURED

Locomotive Was Hurlled Sixty Feet in Air and Crashed Down Upon a Passing Train—Twenty-Six Cars Thrown Down Embankment.

Coshocton, O., Jan. 21.—Four men were killed by an explosion of the boiler on an eastbound Panhandle freight train, four miles west of Bowestown, yesterday. The locomotive was hurled 60 feet in the air and crashed down upon a passing west-bound freight train, smashing the second car behind the engine. Twenty-six cars were hurled down an embankment. Fireman McCurdy and brakeman Clemens, who were on the engine that blew up, were instantly killed, as well as Engineer J. D. Ward and brakeman Petrie, of the passing freight train. Engineer Dan O'Donnell was fatally injured. Both tracks were torn up for 300 yards.

Strikers Riotous. Lynn, Mass., Jan. 21.—Although a petition for an injunction had been filed and an order of notice had been issued by the court at the request of 15 shoe manufacturers of this city against the striking cutters of the Knights of Labor, there was a riot, and well-nigh bloodshed, when the cutters, supplied by the boot and shoe workers' union, left the factories last night. The strikers and their sympathizers twice almost overpowered the police, knocking down three officers and roughly handling others. But the police, under the direction of Mayor Eastham, managed to beat off the rioters, and in addition arrested five men. As for the peaceful side of the contest, the fortunes of the day seemed to favor the boot and shoe workers' union. Cutters from other New England shoe centers were placed in four of the 15 factories, and in all about 44 strike breakers were given work.

Norris Charged With Blackmail. Springfield, O., Jan. 21.—Detective John T. Norris, widely known for his operations against gold brick and confidence men, will have to answer to eight indictments for blackmail, found against him on the testimony of as many saloon keepers, who allege he has extorted money from them to prevent their indictments by the Law and Order league for the violation of the Sunday closing ordinance. Samuel Altschule, a prominent wholesaler liquor dealer and former treasurer of the county Democratic central committee, was also indicted for blackmail on testimony tending to show that he acted as a go-between for Norris and the saloon men.

PLEADED GUILTY.

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 21.—Eugene Madden and James T. Kelley, indicted for manslaughter in connection with the accident here last August, in which William Craig, President Roosevelt's bodyguard, was killed yesterday retraced a previous plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. Madden was sentenced to serve six months in the house of correction and to pay a fine of $500. Kelley's case was placed on file.

FIVE KILLED, TWENTY INJURED.

London, Jan. 21.—A boiler explosion in Tupper's iron works at Billston, Stafford, yesterday afternoon resulted in the killing of five persons and the injuring of 20 or 30 by steam and pieces of flying metal. The explosion occurred while the ships were crowded with employees. The building was completely wrecked. Several of the injured persons are not expected to live.

CURES ALL PAIN, SORENESS, SWELLING AND INFLAMMATION FROM ANY CAUSE WHATEVER. 50 CENTS ALL DRUGGISTS.

Years ago I tried your Wizard Oil. When working in a rolling mill in Cleveland, I sprained my wrist severely and had to stop working. A good old Welsh lady, seeing my suffering said: "I have some Wizard Oil. If you will try it, it will do you good." I accepted her offer and was surprised at results, for I began to work again in two days. I have kept it on hand in our family all these years and we have probably used hundreds of bottles. I was wounded in the battle of Old Harbor, Va., and dislocated the right shoulder and my Wizard Oil gives me great relief from the pain.

ASKS FOR MILLIONS

Aguinaldo Suggests Loan and Credit of $100,000,000 to Develop Philippines.

SUM TO BE REPAYED IN 20 YEARS.

Hisfortunes and Sufferings of His People Cause Him to Emerge from His Retirement and Raise His Voice in Their Behalf.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Secretary Root yesterday transmitted to the senate and house copies of the petition received by him, through Governor Tait, from Aguinaldo, the late insurgent leader in the Philippines. The petition is a remarkable presentation of the conditions now existing in the Philippines, and Secretary Root has taken to send it to congress, because it went a long way toward supporting the statement he had made to the committees of that body, and also demonstrating the necessity for prompt and exhaustive action on the part of congress to prevent disaster and distress in the archipelago. The petition says in part:

Impressed by Sorrows.
"Profoundly impressed by the sorrows and calamities which afflict my people, and bearing in mind the good intentions which have inspired the acts of the civil commission, I have taken heart to present a project of a purely economic character which in my opinion would remedy, if not completely, at least in great part, the precarious situation in which we all find ourselves.

"I propose to the honorable civil commission to obtain from congress a United States treasury loan of $20,000,000 gold, in cash, and also a credit of $80,000,000 gold, which will guarantee the issue of paper to serve as money in the islands. This sum shall be used for the development and improvement of Philippine agriculture and shall be paid within 20 years, the payments being made in three installments, at the end of 10, 15 and 20 years respectively, and at the rate of $25,000,000 at the end of the first period, which would cancel so much of the credit, and $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 at the end of the two remaining periods. The amount of the credit would not be taken out of the United States treasury like the loan, and both would be without interest and could never be transferred to any other foreign nation.

Would Establish Bank.
"When the loan and credit were approved and the above mentioned sum here in the Philippines, a bank would be opened, which could be called 'United States Agricultural Philippine bank,' and which should be under the inspection and supervision of the insular government. After the civil commission had dictated the

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers; they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is overworking in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the greatest kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cure of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits.

Send for a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

By Captain RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON, U. S. N.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE IS NEVER SAFE WITHOUT AN EFFICIENT NAVY.

We owe distinct duties to the Filipinos in distant seas; we can never discharge those duties without a mighty navy.

After carefully weighing my words, I believe it would not be overstepping the bounds of duty and safety to EXTEND THE MONROE DOCTRINE TO CHINA AND SAY THAT THE METHODS OF MILITARISM SHALL NO LONGER BE EXERCISED IN ANY PORTION OF THE EARTH.

With a nation as with an individual, I believe prosperity and duty go hand in hand. Our bread cast upon the waters shall come back to us. No one need object on the ground of expense. With our resources we can easily surpass the nations of the world when once we lay our hand to the plow. Does some one say a navy menaces our free institutions? No navy in history ever did. As with the individual, responsibility will steady the navy.

Great Britain has many times the amount of our naval tonnage; France has likewise; Russia is ahead of us, and Germany is our equal. Germany has a young and vigorous emperor to look out over the world and do her thinking for her. Our people must do the thinking for America. I WOULD SUGGEST THAT WE ADD $5,000,000 ANNUALLY TO OUR NAVAL APPROPRIATION. On that basis I estimate that in 1930 we would surpass Great Britain in naval tonnage. We are in a danger zone. We should proceed now when the nations are taking account of young America and let them know that we intend to gain naval supremacy.

BEFORE I DIE I SHALL SEE OUR COUNTRY SUPREME UPON THE SEAS.

proper regulations and established all the necessary safeguards for the security and stability of the bank, the bank would begin to operate, making available for the agriculturalists such sums as they should ask for, in compliance with the necessary formalities, at an annual maximum of 4 per cent, payable semi-annually.

Preliminary Expenses.
"From the $100,000,000 capital would be subtracted $2,000,000 for the construction of buildings for branch banks throughout the archipelago, and for other necessary preliminary expenses.

"Subtracting from the annual income of $3,920,000 the annual expenses for salaries and other necessary expenses of the bank, which may be reckoned at about $700,000, there would remain a net annual income of $3,220,000, which, added to the capital at compound interest, under the same conditions during the following years, at the end of 15 years would free both the actual capital and the supplementary credit—that is, the bank would have liquidated its debt to the United States treasury and there would remain a balance of at least $10,000,000 for the continuance of its work. Allowing four years for ample time makes the 20 years mentioned.

Would Serve as Guarantee.
"By the time that the United States treasury has been repaid at the end of the stated period of 20 years, the Philippine treasury would have at least $50,000,000, which would serve to guarantee the issue of paper money to that amount.

"In case Filipinos should wish to acquire the bank by making of it a joint stock company without otherwise altering its organization and methods, the government would concede to them the title, without prejudice to its right to require repayment of the amounts incurred by the foundation of said bank or other necessary expenses.

"It may be that when this project is known I shall be called an enthusiast and dreamer, and it will be said that I ought not to involve myself in matters that force me out of the retired life which I have intended to follow since my imprisonment, and which, as I believe, nothing that I have done has broken into until the present time. But the contemplation of the bitter misfortunes which oppress this suffering people, exhausted by evils and calamities without number, obliges me to leave my retirement to fulfill what I believe to be my duty.

Respectfully,
"Emilio Aguinaldo Famy."

NEW TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Will Be Capitalized at $10,000,000 and Will Operate Second Largest Fleet on Fresh Water.

Cleveland, Pa., Jan. 21.—A staff special to the Plain Dealer from Detroit says: A transportation company, with a capital stock of $10,000,000, will be incorporated in the state of Ohio during the next week or 10 days, and, next to the fleet of the Pittsburgh Steamship company, it will operate the largest fleet of vessels on fresh water.

The new organization will be known as the Gilchrist Transportation company, with J. C. Gilchrist, of Cleveland, at the head of it. A meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Shore Transit company, the Steel Steamship company, the Inland Star Transit company, the Vega Steamship company, the Lorain Steamship company, the Tyrone Transit company and the Merida Steamship company, which now operate the vessels of the Gilchrist fleet, was held at Verrillion, O., yesterday, and it was decided to merge the companies. Aside from J. C. Gilchrist, of Alpena, nearly all the stockholders of the companies named live between Cleveland and Sandusky, and the change was made with little trouble.

J. C. Gilchrist will be the president of the company and the directors will be chosen from the list that has been selected by the stockholders of the different companies.

The plan for reorganization has been agreed to. The new company will have upwards of 80 freight carriers, 10 of which are large steel steamers now being built at the different lake yards.

ANTHRACITE STRIKE HEARING.
Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Concluded Case and Temple Iron Company Begins.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—When the anthracite coal strike commission adjourned yesterday the four hundredth witness summoned before the arbitrators was being examined. Of the 400, 174 were called by the striking mine workers, 155 by the non-striking men, 63 by the operators and 8 by the commission. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company concluded its case yesterday, and the Temple Iron company began the presentation of its side of the controversy.

The companies yet to be heard are the Lehigh Valley Coal company, Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company, Markle Brothers and about 60 other independent operators and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company. After the coal companies and their case the miners will take up some time reading witnesses in rebuttal.

Yesterday's testimony did not bring out anything that was particularly new. There was an interchange of opinion during the morning session between Chairman Gray and Attorney C. S. Darrow, for the miners, on the question of the rights of union men. Mr. Darrow believed a union man had the right to refuse a non-union man cars in the mines and also had the right to use every power within the law in persuading union men from working with non-union workers. The unionists, he said, have no right to kill, assault or slander any man. Chairman Gray remarked that the employer has his rights, too; that is, he has the right to refuse to employ union labor. Mr. Darrow agreed with him.

Emphatic Denial.
Scranton, Pa., Jan. 21.—Deputy Factory Inspector Bishop has just completed an inspection of all the silk mills in Lackawanna county. The result is an emphatic denial of the charges made when the coal strike commission was in session here that 50 per cent of the employees could neither write nor read. Mills in Scranton, Carbondale, Jermy, Priceburg and Dunmore were inspected. The number of employees was found to be 2,412—males, 341; females, 2,072; number under 16 years old—males, 173; females, 1,414. Only seven could not read and write. Eighteen could neither read nor write or write and not read. These and the seven who could neither write nor read were suspended from employment and sent home to attend school. The number working nights was 239 of whom 177 were females, 62 of whom were under 16 years of age.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

ANOTHER MAN FATALY INJURED

Locomotive Was Hurled Sixty Feet in Air and Crashed Down Upon a Passing Train—Twenty-Six Cars Thrown Down Embankment.

Coshocton, O., Jan. 21.—Four men were killed by an explosion of the boiler on an eastbound Panhandle freight train, four miles west of Bowertown, yesterday. The locomotive was hurled 60 feet in the air and crashed down upon a passing west-bound freight train, smashing the second car behind the engine. Twenty-six cars were hurled down an embankment. Fireman McCurdy and Brakeman Clemens, who were on the engine that blew up, were instantly killed, as well as Engineer J. D. Ward and Brakeman Petrie, of the passing freight train. Engineer Dan O'Donnell was fatally injured. Both tracks were torn up for 300 yards.

Strikers Riotous.
Lynn, Mass., Jan. 21.—Although a petition for an injunction had been filed and an order of notice had been issued by the court at the request of 15 shoe manufacturers of this city against the striking cutters of the Knights of Labor, there was a riot, and well lighted bloodshed, when the cutters, supplied by the boot and shoe workers' union, left the factories last night. The strikers and their sympathizers twice almost overpowered the police, knocking down three officers and roughly handling others. But the police, under the direction of Mayor Eastham, managed to beat off the rioters, and in addition arrested five men. As for the peaceful side of the contest the fortunes of the day seemed to favor the boot and shoe workers' union. Cutters from other New England shoe centers were placed in four of the 15 factories, and it all about 44 strike breakers were given work.

Norris Charged With Blackmail.
Springfield, O., Jan. 21.—Detective John T. Norris, widely known for his operations against gold brick and confidence men, will have to answer to eight indictments for blackmail, found against him on the testimony of as many saloon keepers, who allege he has extorted money from them to prevent their indictments by the Law and Order league for the violation of the Sunday closing ordinance. Samuel Altschule, a prominent wholesaler liquor dealer and former treasurer of the county Democratic central committee, was also indicted for blackmail on testimony tending to show that he acted as a go-between for Norris and the saloon men.

Pleaded Guilty.
Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 21.—Eugene Madden and James T. Kelley, indicted for manslaughter in connection with the accident here last August, in which William Craig, President Roosevelt's bodyguard, was killed yesterday retraced a previous plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. Madden was sentenced to serve six months in the house of correction and to pay a fine of $500. Kelley's case was placed on file.

Five Killed, Twenty Injured.
London, Jan. 21.—A boiler explosion in Tupper's iron works at Bilston, Stafford, yesterday afternoon resulted in the killing of five persons and the injuring of 20 or 30 by steam and pieces of flying metal. The explosion occurred while the ships were crowded with employees. The building was completely wrecked. Several of the injured persons are not expected to live.

Misfortunes and Sufferings of His People Cause Him to Emerge from His Retirement and Raise His Voice in Their Behalf.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Secretary Root yesterday transmitted to the senate and house copies of the petition received by him, through Governor Taft, from Aguinaldo, the late insular leader in the Philippines. The petition is a remarkable presentation of the conditions now existing in the Philippines, and Secretary Root hastened to send it to congress, because it went a long way toward supporting the statement he had made to the committees of that body, and also demonstrating the necessity for prompt and extensive action on the part of congress to prevent disaster and distress in the archipelago. The petition says in part:

Impressed by Sorrows.
"Profoundly impressed by the sorrows and calamities which afflict my people, and bearing in mind the good intentions which have inspired the acts of the civil commission, I have taken heart to present a project of a purely economic character which in my opinion would remedy, if not completely, at least in great part, the precarious situation in which we all find ourselves.

"I propose to the honorable civil commission to obtain from congress a United States treasury loan of $20,000,000 gold, in cash, and also a credit of $80,000,000 gold, which will guarantee the issue of paper to serve as money in the islands. This sum shall be used for the development and improvement of Philippine agriculture and shall be paid within 20 years, the payments being made in three installments, at the end of 10, 15 and 20 years respectively, and at the rate of $25,000,000 at the end of the first period, which would cancel so much of the credit, and $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 at the end of the two remaining periods. The amount of the credit would not be taken out of the United States treasury like the loan, and both would be without interest, and could never be transferred to any other foreign nation.

Would Establish Bank.
"When the loan and credit were approved and the above mentioned sum here in the Philippines, a bank would be opened, which could be called 'United States America Agricultural Philippine bank,' and which should be under the inspection and supervision of the insular government. After the civil commission had dictated the

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE SHOULD EXTEND TO CHINA

By Captain RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON, U. S. N.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE IS NEVER SAFE WITHOUT AN EFFICIENT NAVY.

We owe distinct duties to the Filipinos in distant seas; we can never discharge those duties without a mighty navy.

After carefully weighing my words, I believe it would not be overstepping the bounds of duty and safety to EXTEND THE MONROE DOCTRINE TO CHINA AND SAY THAT THE METHODS OF MILITARISM SHALL NO LONGER BE EXERCISED IN ANY PORTION OF THE EARTH.

With a nation as with an individual, I believe prosperity and duty go hand in hand. Our bread cast upon the waters shall come back to us. No one need object on the ground of expense. With our resources we can easily surpass the nations of the world when once we lay our hand to the plow. Does some one say a navy menaces our free institutions? No navy in history ever did. As with the individual, responsibility will steady the navy.

Great Britain has many times the amount of our naval tonnage; France has likewise; Russia is ahead of us, and Germany is our equal. Germany has a young and vigorous emperor to look out over the world and do her thinking for her. Our people must do the thinking for America. I WOULD SUGGEST THAT WE ADD $5,000,000 ANNUALLY TO OUR NAVAL APPROPRIATION. On that basis I estimate that in 1930 we would surpass Great Britain in naval tonnage. We are in a danger zone. We should proceed now when the nations are taking account of young America and let them know that we intend to gain naval supremacy.

BEFORE I DIE I SHALL SEE OUR COUNTRY SUPREMACY ON THE SEAS.

proper regulations and established all the necessary safeguards for the security and stability of the bank, the bank would begin to operate, making available for the agriculturalists such sums as they should ask for, in compliance with the necessary formalities, at an annual maximum of 4 per cent, payable semi-annually.

Preliminary Expenses.
"From the $100,000,000 capital would be subtracted $2,000,000 for the construction of buildings for branch banks throughout the archipelago, and for other necessary preliminary expenses.

"Subtracting from the annual income of $3,920,000 the annual expenses for salaries and other necessary expenses of the bank, which may be reckoned at about $700,000, there would remain a net annual income of $3,220,000, which, added to the capital at compound interest, under the same conditions during the following years, at the end of 16 years would free both the actual capital and the supplementary credit—that is, the bank would have liquidated its debt to the United States treasury and there would remain a balance of at least $10,000,000 for the continuance of its work. Allowing four years for ample time makes the 20 years mentioned.

Would Serve as Guarantee.
"By the time that the United States treasury has been repaid at the end of the stated period of 20 years, the Philippine treasury would have at least $50,000,000, which would serve to guarantee the issue of paper money to that amount.

"In case Filipinos should wish to acquire the bank by making of it a joint stock company without otherwise altering its organization and methods, the government would concede to them the title, without prejudice to its right to require repayment of the amounts incurred by the foundation of said bank or other necessary expenses.

"It may be that when this project is known I shall be called an enthusiast and dreamer, and it will be said that I ought not to involve myself in matters that force me out of the retired life which I have intended to follow since my imprisonment, and which, as I believe, nothing that I have done has broken into until the present time. But the contemplation of the bitter misfortunes which oppress this suffering people, exhausted by evils and calamities without number, obliges me to leave my retirement to fulfill what I believe to be my duty.

Respectfully,
"Emilio Aguinaldo Famy."

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

ANOTHER MAN FATALLY INJURED

Locomotive Was Hurl'd Sixty Feet in Air and Crashed Down Upon a Passing Train—Twenty-Six Cars Thrown Down Embankment.

Coshocton, O., Jan. 21.—Four men were killed by an explosion of the boiler on an eastbound Panhandle freight train, four miles west of Bowestown, yesterday. The locomotive was hurled 50 feet in the air and crashed down upon a passing west-bound freight train, smashing the second car behind the engine. Twenty-six cars were hurled down an embankment. Fireman McCurdy and Brake-man Clemens, who were on the engine that blew up, were instantly killed, as well as Engineer J. D. Ward and Brakeman Petrie, of the passing freight train. Engineer Dan O'Donnell was fatally injured. Both tracks were torn up for 300 yards.

Strikers Riotous.
Lynn, Mass., Jan. 21.—Although a petition for an injunction had been filed and an order of notice had been issued by the court at the request of 15 shoe manufacturers of this city against the striking cutters of the Knights of Labor, there was a riot, and well-nigh bloodshed, when the cutters, supplied by the boot and shoe workers' union, left the factories last night. The strikers and their sympathizers twice almost overpowered the police, knocking down three officers and roughly handling others. But the police, under the direction of Mayor Eastham, managed to beat off the rioters, and in addition arrested five men. As for the peaceful side of the contest, the fortunes of the day seemed to favor the boot and shoe workers' union. Cutters from other New England shoe centers were placed in four of the 15 factories, and in all about 44 strike breakers were given work.

Norris Charged With Blackmail.
Springfield, O., Jan. 21.—Detective John T. Norris, widely known for his operations against gold brick and confidence men, will have to answer to federal indictments for blackmail, found against him on the testimony of as many saloon keepers, who allege he has extorted money from them to prevent their indictments by the Law and Order league for the violation of the Sunday closing ordinance. Samuel Altshuler, a prominent wholesale liquor dealer and former treasurer of the county Democratic central committee, was also indicted for blackmail on testimony tending to show that he acted as a go-between for Norris and the saloon men.

Pleaded Guilty.

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 21.—Eugene Madden and James T. Kelley, indicted for manslaughter in connection with the accident here last August, in which William Craig, President Roosevelt's bodyguard, was killed yesterday retracted a previous plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. Madden was sentenced to serve six months in the house of correction and to pay a fine of $500. Kelley's case was placed on file.

Five Killed, Twenty Injured.

London, Jan. 21.—A boiler explosion in Tupper's iron works at Bilston, Stafford, yesterday afternoon resulted in the killing of five persons and the injuring of 20 or 30 by steam and pieces of flying metal. The explosion occurred while the ships were crowded with employees. The building was completely wrecked. Several of the injured persons are not expected to live.

SOCIAL EVENTS

A PLEASANT AFFAIR

Mrs. John Manor Agreeably Entered About 30 of Her Friends.

Mrs. John Manor in a delightful manner entertained about 30 of her friends at a peanut party yesterday afternoon. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Hollis Grosshans, Mrs. William P. Steele and her sister, Miss Clara Stewart.

Pink was the prevailing color in the pretty decoration. The afternoon hours passed only too rapidly at the interesting game. The tally cards were unique and pretty, there being painted on one side a pink flower. Upon the other side was the name of the animal or bird which the guest was to draw. Mrs. R. E. Rayman drew the best picture and was given first prize, a beautifully decorated china plate. An elaborate luncheon was served later.

Masquerade Social.

A social which was replete with pleasure was given last evening by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church. It was styled the "Masquerade Social," as those member who could obtain comic costumes were dressed in various peculiar garbs. This was the cause of much merriment and enjoyment among the young people. After the masquerade refreshments were served.

Its Second Meeting.

The Proposal club held its second meeting last evening at the home of Miss Ora Young of Thompson avenue. The club is made up of a select few, and when it is rightly under way it promises to be one of the most exclusive organizations in the city. Last night it was decided to hold the regular meetings on Tuesday evenings. The hostess had arranged a dainty luncheon which was greatly enjoyed.

Coming Social Events.

Mrs. Harvey McHenry will entertain at progressive peanuts tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. J. J. Rose will entertain at her home on West Grant street this evening.

E. D. Moore will entertain his Sunday school class at his home on Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow evening. This class has an average attendance of about 50 each Sunday.

AN INJUNCTION IS DEMANDED

ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP DISPUTE REACHES LISBON COURT.

Numerous Allegations Set Forth in a Petition in Error Filed.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case of W. C. Randall against Joseph Laughlin, which came up from Justice Moore's court in St. Clair township, the attorneys for the plaintiff asked for an injunction and leave to file a petition in error, which was argued and submitted to the court.

A petition in error was held to be proper for the reason that the justice was alleged to have erred in allowing the defendant to testify what he meant by what was set forth in the written contract; also that the jury was prejudiced by talking with Laughlin, who took supper with one of the jurors the night before the trial.

The injunction is asked to prevent the constable from ejecting the plaintiff from the premises, it being alleged that the justice did not have jurisdiction to try the case, as a partnership existed in which a justice has no authority.

LISBON PREPARING FOR THE CELEBRATION

Arrangements for the Centennial Celebration Next Summer Progressing Well.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Preparations for Lisbon's centennial celebration, to be held early next summer, are rapidly assuming shape. The centennial board, consisting of Judge S. J. Firestone, M. Way, G. L. Miller, E. H. Huston, J. J. Rogers, Ed. M. Crosser, D. S. Gailey, Hon. R. W. Taylor and W. S. Potts, has organized by electing the following officers: President, Judge S. J. Firestone; vice president, G. L. Miller; secretary, W. S. Potts; treasurer, G. H. Huston.

ADMINISTRATOR SUED BY A PHYSICIAN

Kensington Doctor Alleges That His Bill of $192 Was Rejected.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Dr. J. B. Laughlin, of Kensington, has filed suit against C. C. Connell, administrator of Mary J. Matthews, deceased, for $192.50, with interest from April 27, 1898, for medical services rendered continually, night and day, from Dec. 2, 1897, to April 27, 1898. The petition alleges that the administrator rejected the claim as invalid. Mrs. Matthews died at Pittsburgh two years ago. She at one time owned a farm of 300 acres near Kensington and considerable real estate in Pennsylvania. Her affairs are said to have been in a confused condition.

STORY WAS DIFFERENT WHEN TOLD IN COURT

Case Against James Walters Nollied for Lack of Evidence.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case against James Walters, an East Liverpool saloon keeper, the prosecuting witness, on whom Prosecutor Brookes relied, told a story entirely different from his testimony before the grand jury.

The witness was William McNamee, a minor to whom Walters was said to have sold liquor. On his refusal to testify further the indictment was nollied and the case dismissed.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Funeral Tomorrow.—The funeral services of the late Thomas C. Hague will be held from the Douglas home, 207 Third street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Gorrell will officiate. The interment will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Temperance Lecture.—Rev. George R. Stuart, the temperance lecturer, will deliver one of his most interesting addresses at the opera house Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "My Stump Digger." It is expected that a large audience will be present to hear this eminent man.

Broke Several Bones.—Fred Oschman, Jr., is suffering considerable pain as the result of an accident occurring in the rolling mill at Wellsville yesterday afternoon. He was at work when a heavy piece of steel fell on his left hand breaking two fingers and mashing several small bones.

Nowing Still Working.—A rumor in circulation yesterday afternoon to the effect that Al Nowing, formerly a motorman in the employ of the Rock Springs company, had been murdered in Pittsburgh, was upon investigation found to be without foundation. Nowing is working on a street car line in the Smoky City.

JUDGE DAY WILL BE APPOINTED

His Elevation to the Supreme Bench Will Be Announced at McKinley Banquet.

Canton, O., Jan. 21.—There is a report current in this city that Judge Day's appointment to the supreme bench will be announced by President Roosevelt at the McKinley banquet to be held in Canton, Tuesday evening, Jan. 27.

The story is that as the late president had intended this promotion for his distinguished friend that no more fitting opportunity to announce the fulfillment of these plans could be found than at the celebration of McKinley's birthday in his home city.

Washington dispatches state that the appointment has been duly determined upon and that it will, in a short time, be given out with the name of Judge Day's successor upon the circuit bench. The fact that Judge Wing, of Cleveland, who is upon the United States district bench, will be present at the banquet, has given rise to the report that when the announcement of Judge Day's elevation is made Judge Wing will be made to succeed to the circuit bench.

Surrendered Themselves.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The nine defendants named in the indictments against the officers and executive committee of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois, met here today and surrendered themselves at the state attorney's office. Bonds for their appearance for trial were given at once. It is likely that they will agree to an immediate hearing and waive a jury. The Indiana corporations and their indicted officials may take a similar step. Regarding the Northern Illinois Soft Coal association, although the purpose was to call their case today, it is now deemed impossible for them to prepare their defense by that time, and the hearing may not be had before Friday.

Nine Dead, Many Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—A special from Wenatchee, Wash., says: Nine men are dead and 8 or 10 injured as a result of a rear-end collision on the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above Cle Elum. A big big gang train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow plow. A car containing 50 men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work train. Neither engineer, fireman or brakeman was among the injured.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west-bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Grafton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of East Liverpool, and J. I. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

Capital $15,000,000.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—The United Lead company, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000, was incorporated here yesterday.

Situation Hopeful.

London, Jan. 21.—Few comments appear in the press this morning on the Venezuelan affair, but what is said is to the effect that the situation is altogether hopeful, because of President Castro's offer of the customs receipts as a guarantee, and more particularly on account of the conciliatory and amiable attitude of Chancellor Von Buelow in the German reichstag yesterday.

General Jones, who is pushing the construction of the line was asked yesterday what schedule would be maintained between Youngstown and a point in Liverpool when the road was in operation, and said: "The distance will be between 51 and 52 miles, and we will run a car every hour, and cover the distance in less than one hour and a half. We purpose to have the best electric line in the state. It will be what is known as a three-rail road, will have all the power that can be utilized, and for speed will show up with an electric or steam line in the state."

HORSE SHOT DEAD BY UNKNOWN PERSON

Contemptible And Cowardly Act Committed on a Farm Near Lisbon.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—A horse belonging to William Harbaugh, who lives a short distance from Lisbon on the Wellsville road, was mysteriously shot and killed Sunday.

The body was found by two boys who were crossing the field that evening, and when members of the Harbaugh family were summoned, they thought the animal had been kicked to death by another horse, but the discovery of a bullet hole in the head told the story.

It is thought to have been spite work.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Scheffer Piano Manufacturing company, at Riverview, yesterday, entailing a loss of $200,000. For a time many buildings in the suburb, which is without fire protection, were threatened. Three residences were burned to such an extent that they will have to be remodeled and several other residences were slightly damaged.

Left Eyed People.

The man who spends half his time trying to classify people said he never saw so many left eyed passengers in one car.

"What do you mean by left eyed passengers?" asked his companion.

"People who use their left eye more than their right," was the reply. "The species is not common, and of course none but a student in ocular science would be able to detect offhand the few whom we do meet. A left handed person advertises his peculiarity at once; not so the left eyed man. As a rule it takes an oculist to determine which eye has been used most, but there are certain peculiarities of the pupil and lid that may be taken as pretty sure signs by the trained observer."

"Left eyed people are made, not born. Most of us have been blessed by nature with eyes of equal visual power, but the attitude we strike when reading or writing causes us to exercise one eye more than the other, and the first thing we know we are right or left eyed. This is a one sidedness that should always be taken into consideration when buying glasses."—New York Times.

Saved by an Owl.

King Robert the Bruce, according to the well known story, once owed his safety to a spider. Among the Tartars of central Asia there is a belief that one of their clans or chiefs was preserved, long years ago, by the great horned owl. He had hidden in a thicket to avoid capture by some enemies. By and by his pursuers came to this spot.

The first thing they saw was an owl sitting on a bush. What did this mean? It signified in their eyes that this bird would not rest quietly there if any man were lying concealed close by. Therefore they argued that the klan could not be there, and so they hurried on to search for him elsewhere. At nightfall the klan made his way to the camp of his men and told them how he had been saved from certain death. His story caused them ever afterward to look upon the owl with reverence and love. They wore its feathers in their caps as a pledge of victory.

Balzac's Passwords.

It was not easy to make one's way into Balzac's house at Charlot, Rue des Battoilles, for it was guarded like the garden of the Hesperides. Two or three passwords were necessary, which were changed frequently for fear they should become known. I remember a few. To the porter we said, "The plum season has come," on which he allowed us to cross the threshold. To the servant who rushed to the staircase when the bell rang it was necessary to murmur, "I bring some brussels lace," and if you assured him that "Mme. Bertrand was quite well" you were admitted forthwith. This nonsense amused Balzac immensely, and it was perhaps necessary to keep out bores and other visitors still more disagreeable.—Miss Wornley's "Memoir of Balzac."

A Story of Bishop Williams.

It is told of Bishop Williams of Connecticut, for many years presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in America, who lived all his life a bachelor, that he was talking one day with a young man from the west about a tax a western state was trying to impose on bachelors, the tax to be increased a certain per cent for every ten years of bachelorhood.

"Why, bishop," said the young man, "at your age you would have to pay about $100 a year."

"Well," said the bishop quietly and in his old time vernacular, "it's worth it."

His Part.

Little Jack—What did papa mean by saying that he was captain of this ship?

Ma—Oh, that is only his way of saying that he is the head of the house.

Little Jack—Then, if pa is the captain, what are you?

Ma—Well, I suppose I am the pilot.

Little Jack—Oh, yes, and then I must be the compass?

Ma—The compass! Why the compass? Little Jack—Why, the captain and pilot are always boxing the compass, you know.

There is no sorrow I have thought more about than that to love what is great and try to reach it and yet to fail.—George Eliot.

STATE GAME WARDEN PROPOSES A CRUSADE

by the coal rioters in the railroad yards in that city are the property of the National Guard. There was a fresh outbreak Monday night and during the melee a number of shots were fired by the rioters in rapid succession, so as to indicate they came from Krag-Jorgenson rifles. The only arms of the kind in Xenia are in the possession of a colored troupe of the National guard of that city and it is suspected these were the weapons used by the rioters. Should this prove to be the case those to whom their care was entrusted will be held to strict accountability.

Danger in Poisons.

It is lamentable that neither repeated warning nor sad experience seems to have the desired effect of making the ordinary person cautious in the use of poisons. In the last few days three children have died presumably from taking poison that was carelessly left within their reach. One would suppose that such accidents would by this time have become almost impossible, yet they are constantly recurring with a frequency that demands further warning. If parents would learn to keep poisons in a place where they could not be reached by others there would be fewer accidents.

It is the old principle of familiarity breeding contempt. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon every one that the only immunity from danger is through constant care and precaution. It is a lesson that needs to be impressed upon every individual without exception.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Old English Superstition.

Attention has been called to the survival of folklore in rural parts of England by evidence given in a stabbing case tried at the Essex assizes. To quicken the healing of the wounds, the knife with which they were inflicted was smeared with grease and laid on the bed of the patient. The purpose served by the application of grease or oil to the knife or to any steel instrument that has inflicted wounds is to prevent it from rusting, for if the steel is allowed to become rusty the wound is supposed to be affected and festering and mortification follow the progress of the rust. Another quaint belief is that the application of an oiled knife is a certain and quick remedy for scalds and burns.

Could Believe Some of Them.

An amusing story is told of a New England minister who often speaks in behalf of a certain charity in which he is greatly interested. He has a fine voice and a graphic way of telling incidents both humorous and pathetic, so that his hearers are often "moved to laughter or to tears."

At the close of one meeting, at which he had spoken with great effect, and a large gain for the charity had been the direct result, a little old lady approached the minister.

"Oh," she said earnestly, "I've been so interested in hearing about those poor, dear children! And I suppose a great many of those stories you told are really true, aren't they?"—Youth's Companion.

SOCIAL EVENTS

A PLEASANT AFFAIR

Mrs. John Manor Agreeably Entertained About 30 of Her Friends.

Mrs. John Manor in a delightful manner entertained about 30 of her friends at a peanut party yesterday afternoon. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Hollis Grosshans, Mrs. William F. Steele and her sister, Miss Clara Stewart.

Pink was the prevailing color in the pretty decoration. The afternoon hours passed only too rapidly at the interesting game. The tally cards were unique and pretty, there being painted on one side a pink flower. Upon the other side was the name of the animal or bird which the guest was to draw. Mrs. R. E. Rayman drew the best picture and was given first prize, a beautifully decorated china plate. An elaborate luncheon was served later.

Masquerade Social.

A social which was replete with pleasure was given last evening by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church. It was styled the "Masquerade Social" as those member who could obtain comic costumes were dressed in various peculiar garbs. This was the cause of much merriment and enjoyment among the young people. After the masquerade refreshments were served.

Its Second Meeting.

The Proposal club held its second meeting last evening at the home of Miss Ora Young, of Thompson avenue. The club is made up of a select few, and when it is rightly under way it promises to be one of the most exclusive organizations in the city. Last night it was decided to hold the regular meetings on Tuesday evenings. The hostess had arranged a dainty luncheon which was greatly enjoyed.

Coming Social Events.

Mrs. Harvey McHenry will entertain at progressive peanuts tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. J. J. Rose will entertain at her home on West Grant street this evening.

E. D. Moore will entertain his Sunday school class at his home on Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow evening. This class has an average attendance of about 50 each Sunday.

AN INJUNCTION IS DEMANDED

ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP DISPUTE REACHES LISBON COURT.

Numerous Allegations Set Forth in a Petition in Error Filed.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case of W. C. Randall against Joseph Laughlin, which came up from Justice Moore's court in St. Clair township, the attorneys for the plaintiff asked for an injunction and leave to file a petition in error, which was argued and submitted to the court.

A petition in error was held to be proper for the reason that the justice was alleged to have erred in allowing the defendant to testify what he meant by what was set forth in the written contract; also that the jury was prejudiced by talking with Laughlin, who took supper with one of the jurors the night before the trial.

LISBON PREPARING FOR THE CELEBRATION

Arrangements for the Centennial Celebration Next Summer Progressing Well.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Preparations for Lisbon's centennial celebration, to be held early next summer, are rapidly assuming shape. The centennial board, consisting of Judge S. J. Firestone, M. Way, G. L. Miller, E. H. Huston, J. J. Rogers, Ed. M. Crosser, D. S. Gailey, Hon. R. W. Taylor and W. S. Potts, has organized by electing the following officers: President, Judge S. J. Firestone; vice president, G. L. Miller; secretary, W. S. Potts; treasurer, G. H. Huston.

ADMINISTRATOR SUED BY A PHYSICIAN

Kensington Doctor Alleges That His Bill of $192 Was Rejected.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Dr. J. B. Laughlin, of Kensington, has filed suit against C. C. Connell, administrator of Mary J. Matthews, deceased, for $192.50, with interest from April 27, 1898, for medical services rendered continually, night and day, from Dec. 2, 1897, to April 27, 1898.

The petition alleges that the administrator rejected the claim as invalid. Mrs. Matthews died at Pittsburgh two years ago. She at one time owned a farm of 500 acres near Kensington and considerable real estate in Pennsylvania. Her affairs are said to have been in a confused condition.

STORY WAS DIFFERENT WHEN TOLD IN COURT

Case Against James Walters Nollied for Lack of Evidence.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case against James Walters, an East Liverpool saloon keeper, the prosecuting witness, on whom Prosecutor Brookes relied, told a story entirely different from his testimony before the grand jury.

The witness was William McNamee, a minor to whom Walters was said to have sold liquor. On his refusal to testify further the indictment was nollied and the case dismissed.

Left Eyed People.

The man who spends half his time trying to classify people said he never saw so many left eyed passengers in one car.

"What do you mean by left eyed passengers?" asked his companion.

"People who use their left eye more than their right," was the reply. "The species is not common, and of course none but a student in ocular science would be able to detect offhand the few whom we do meet. A left handed person advertises his peculiarity at once; not so the left eyed man. As a rule it takes an oculist to determine which eye has been used most, but there are certain peculiarities of the pupil and lid that may be taken as pretty sure signs by the trained observer."

"Left eyed people are made, not born. Most of us have been blessed by nature with eyes of equal visual power, but the attitude we strike when reading or writing causes us to exercise one eye more than the other, and the first thing we know we are right or left eyed. This is a one sidedness that should always be taken into consideration when buying glasses."—New York Times.

Saved by an Owl.

King Robert the Bruce, according to the well known story, once owed his safety to a spider. Among the Tartars of central Asia there is a belief that one of their khans or chiefs was preserved, long years ago, by the great horned owl. He had hidden in a thicket to avoid capture by some enemies. By and by his pursuers came to this spot.

The first thing they saw was an owl sitting on a bush. What did this mean? It signified in their eyes that this bird would not rest quietly there if any man were lying concealed close by. Therefore they argued that the khan could not be there, and so they hurried on to search for him elsewhere. At nightfall the khan made his way to the camp of his men and told them how he had been saved from certain death. His story caused them ever afterward to look upon the owl with reverence and love. They wore its feathers in their caps as a pledge of victory.

Balzac's Passwords.

It was not easy to make one's way into Balzac's house at Chatiliet, Rue des Batallies, for it was guarded like the garden of the Hesperides. Two or three passwords were necessary, which were changed frequently for fear they should become known. I remember a few. To the porter we said, "The plum season has come," on which he allowed us to cross the threshold. To the servant who rushed to the staircase when the bell rang it was necessary to murmur, "I bring some Brussels lace," and if you assured him that "Mme. Bertrand was quite well" you were admitted forthwith. This nonsense amused Balzac immensely, and it was perhaps necessary to keep out bores and other visitors still more disagreeable.—Miss Wormley's "Memoir of Balzac."

A Story of Bishop Williams.

It is told of Bishop Williams of Connecticut, for many years presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in America, who lived all his life a bachelor, that he was talking one day with a young man from the west about a tax on bachelors, the tax to be increased a certain per cent for every ten years of bachelorhood.

"Why, bishop," said the young man, "at your age you would have to pay about $100 a year."

"Well," said the bishop quietly and in his old time vernacular, "it's worth it."

Danger in Poisons.

It is lamentable that neither repeated warning nor sad experience seems to have the desired effect of making the ordinary person cautious in the use of poisons. In the last few days three children have died presumably from taking poison that was carelessly left within their reach. One would suppose that such accidents would by this time have become almost impossible, yet they are constantly recurring with a frequency that demands further warning. If parents would learn to keep poisons in a place where they could not be reached by others there would be fewer accidents.

It is the old principle of familiarity breeding contempt. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon every one that the only immunity from danger is through constant care and precaution. It is a lesson that needs to be impressed upon every individual without exception.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Old English Superstition.

Attention has been called to the survival of folklore in rural parts of England by evidence given in a stabbing case tried at the Essex assizes. To quicken the healing of the wounds, the knife with which they were inflicted was smeared with grease and laid on the bed of the patient. The purpose served by the application of grease or oil to the knife or to any steel instrument that has inflicted wounds is to prevent it from rusting; for if the steel is allowed to become rusty the wound is supposed to be affected and festering and mortification follow the progress of the rust. Another quaint belief is that the application of an old knife is a certain and quick remedy for scalds and burns.

At the close of one meeting, at which he had spoken with great effect, and a large gain for the charity had been the direct result, a little old lady approached the minister.

"Oh," she said earnestly, "I've been so interested in hearing about those poor, dear children! And I suppose a great many of those stories you told are really true, aren't they?"—Youth's Companion.

SOCIAL EVENTS

A PLEASANT AFFAIR

Mrs. John Manor. Agreeably Entertained About 30 of Her Friends.

Mrs. John Manor in a delightful manner entertained about 30 of her friends at a peanut party yesterday afternoon. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Hollis Grosshans, Mrs. William F. Steele and her sister, Miss Clara Stewart.

Pink was the prevailing color in the pretty decoration. The afternoon hours passed only too rapidly at the interesting game. The tally cards were unique and pretty, there being painted on one side a pink flower. Upon the other side was the name of the animal or bird which the guest was to draw. Mrs. R. E. Rayman drew the best picture and was given first prize a beautifully decorated china plate. An elaborate luncheon was served later.

Masquerade Social.

A social which was replete with pleasure was given last evening by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church. It was styled the "Masquerade Social," as those member who could obtain comic costumes were dressed in various peculiar garbs. This was the cause of much merriment and enjoyment among the young people. After the masquerade refreshments were served.

Its Second Meeting.

The Proposal club held its second meeting last evening at the home of Miss Ora Young of Thompson avenue. The club is made up of a select few, and when it is rightly under way it promises to be one of the most exclusive organizations in the city. Last night it was decided to hold the regular meetings on Tuesday evenings. The hostess had arranged a dainty luncheon which was greatly enjoyed.

Coming Social Events.

Mrs. Harvey McHenry will entertain at progressive peanuts tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. J. J. Rose will entertain at her home on West Grant street this evening.

E. D. Moore will entertain his Sunday school class at his home on Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow evening. This class has an average attendance of about 50 each Sunday.

AN INJUNCTION IS DEMANDED

ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP DISPUTE REACHES LISBON COURT.

Numerous Allegations Set Forth in a Petition in Error Filed.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case of W. C. Randall against Joseph Laughlin, which came up from Justice Moore's court in St. Clair township, the attorneys for the plaintiff asked for an injunction and leave to file a petition in error, which was argued and submitted to the court.

A petition in error was held to be proper for the reason that the justice was alleged to have erred in allowing the defendant to testify what he meant by what was set forth in the written contract; also that the jury was prejudiced by talking with Laughlin, who took supper with one of the jurors the night before the trial.

The injunction is asked to prevent the constable from ejecting the plaintiff from the premises, it being alleged that the justice did not have jurisdiction to try the case, as a partnership existed in which a justice has no authority.

LISBON PREPARING FOR THE CELEBRATION

Arrangements for the Centennial Celebration Next Summer Progressing Well.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Preparations for Lisbon's centennial celebration, to be held early next summer, are rapidly assuming shape. The centennial board, consisting of Judge S. J. Firestone, M. Way, G. L. Miller, E. H. Huston, J. J. Rogers, Ed. M. Crosser, D. S. Gailey, Hon. R. W. Taylor and W. S. Potts, has organized by electing the following officers: President, Judge S. J. Firestone; vice president, G. L. Miller; secretary, W. S. Potts; treasurer, G. H. Huston.

ADMINISTRATOR SUED BY A PHYSICIAN

Kensington Doctor Alleges That His Bill of $192 Was Rejected.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Dr. J. B. Laughlin, of Kensington, has filed suit against C. C. Connell, administrator of Mary J. Matthews, deceased, for $192.50, with interest from April 27, 1898, for medical services rendered continually, night and day, from Dec. 2, 1897, to April 27, 1898. The petition alleges that the administrator rejected the claim as invalid. Mrs. Matthews died at Pittsburgh two years ago. She at one time owned a farm of 300 acres near Kensington and considerable real estate in Pennsylvania. Her affairs are said to have been in a confused condition.

STORY WAS DIFFERENT WHEN TOLD IN COURT

Case Against James Walters Nollied for Lack of Evidence.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case against James Walters, an East Liverpool saloon keeper, the prosecuting witness, on whom Prosecutor Brooks relied, told a story entirely different from his testimony before the grand jury.

The witness was William McNamee, a minor to whom Walters was said to have sold liquor. On his refusal to testify further the indictment was nollied and the case dismissed.

MRS. GOPPERT'S FUNERAL.

Services at St. John's Lutheran Church on Sunday at 11 O'Clock.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Sophia L. Goppert will be conducted at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church by Rev. J. G. Reinartz Sunday at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Goppert was one of the best known and most highly respected residents in Hancock county. She was beloved by both family and friends.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Funeral Tomorrow.—The funeral services of the late Thomas C. Hague will be held from the Douglas home, 297 Third street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Gorrell will officiate. The interment will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Temperance Lecture.—Rev. George R. Stuart, the temperance lecturer, will deliver one of his most interesting addresses at the opera house Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "My Stump Digging." It is expected that a large audience will be present to hear this eminent man.

Broke Several Bones.—Fred Oschman, Jr., is suffering considerable pain as the result of an accident occurring in the rolling mill at Wellsville yesterday afternoon. He was at work when a heavy piece of steel fell on his left hand, breaking two fingers and mashing several small bones.

Nowling Still Working.—A rumor in circulation yesterday afternoon to the effect that Al Nowling, formerly a motorman in the employ of the Rock Springs company, had been murdered in Pittsburgh, was upon investigation found to be without foundation. Nowling is working on a street car line in the Smoky City.

JUDGE DAY WILL BE APPUNTED

His Elevation to the Supreme Bench Will Be Announced at McKinley Banquet.

Canton, O., Jan. 21.—There is a report current in this city that Judge Day's appointment to the supreme bench will be announced by President Roosevelt at the McKinley banquet to be held in Canton, Tuesday evening, Jan. 27.

The story is that as the late president had intended this promotion for his distinguished friend that no more fitting opportunity to announce the fulfillment of these plans could be found than at the celebration of McKinley's birthday in his home city.

Washington dispatches state that the appointment has been duly determined upon and that it will, in a short time, be given out with the name of Judge Day's successor upon the circuit bench. The fact that Judge Wing, of Cleveland, who is upon the United States district bench, will be present at the banquet, has given rise to the report that when the announcement of Judge Day's elevation is made Judge Wing will be made to succeed to the circuit bench.

Surrendered Themselves.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The nine defendants named in the indictments against the officers and executive committee of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois, met here today and surrendered themselves at the state attorney's office. Bonds for their appearance for trial were given at once.

It is likely that they will agree to an immediate hearing and waive a jury. The Indiana corporations and their indicted officials may take a similar step. Regarding the Northern Illinois Soft Coal association, although the purpose was to call their case today, it is now deemed impossible for them to prepare their defense by that time, and the hearing may not be had before Friday.

Nine Dead, Many Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—A special from Wenatchee, Wash., says: Nine men are dead and 8 or 10 injured as a result of a recent collision on the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above City Island. A big engine train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow plow. A car containing 50 men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work train. Neither engineer, fireman or brakeman was among the injured.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west-bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Grafton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of East Liverpool, and J. L. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

Capital $15,000,000.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—The United Lead company, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000, was incorporated here yesterday.

Situation Hopeful.

London, Jan. 21.—Few comments appear in the press this morning on the Venezuelan affair, but what is said is to the effect that the situation is altogether hopeful, because of President Castro's offer of the customs receipts as a guarantee, and more particularly on account of the conciliatory and amiable attitude of Chancellor Von Buelow in the German reichstag yesterday.

General Jones, who is pushing the construction of the line was asked yesterday what schedule would be maintained between Youngstown and West Liverpool when the road was in operation, and said: "The distance will be between 51 and 52 miles, and we will run a car every hour, and cover the distance in less than one hour and a half. We purpose to have the best electric line in the state. It will be what is known as a three-rail road, will have all the power that can be utilized, and for speed will show up with an electric or steam line in the state."

HORSE SHOT DEAD BY UNKNOWN PERSON

Contemptible And Cowardly Act Committed on a Farm Near Lisbon.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—A horse belonging to William Harbaugh, who lives a short distance from Lisbon on the Wellsville road, was mysteriously shot and killed Sunday.

The body was found by two boys who were crossing the field that evening, and when members of the Harbaugh family were summoned, they thought the animal had been kicked to death by another horse, but the discovery of a bullet hole in the head told the story.

It is thought to have been spite work.

LAST HONORS ARE PAID TO LOVED WINNIE MERCER

The Church Crowded and Many Who Desired to Do So Unable to Gain Admission.

FAREWELL SERVICES OF TOUCHING BEAUTY

All that was mortal of George Barclay Mercer, known to thousands of people from coast to coast as "Winnie," was laid at rest this afternoon in Spring Grove cemetery after a simple funeral service at the Presbyterian church. Few times has East Liverpool paid such homage to her dead. The large church auditorium was too small to accommodate all who wished to attend.

Since the first news reached here of the untimely death in the land of golden sunshine and flowers sorrow and sympathy has been in the hearts of all and every hand was ready and even anxious to help do honor to the dead and comfort the stricken family. Last night though the skies were sending down a drizzle of rain hundreds of people found their way down Fifth street to the Mercer home and stood in line for many minutes so that they could in turn pass through the little front room to tarry for a moment at the bier. Some perhaps were curious but the great majority were boyhood friends who would look for the last time on the handsome face of the dead, altered so little in the transition. Yet when all had passed the number of his friends had not been measured.

This afternoon while the great throng was gathering in the auditorium of the church the mother and brothers were spending the last precious moments with their beloved dead. Those moments alone at the bier will ever be a sad and sacred memory.

Beneath the leaden sky that lowered over the city this afternoon the body was taken from the home to the church. It was borne along the broad center aisle to a place near the chancel and among a profusion of flowers from which was wafted to all parts of the auditorium their perfume. Surrounding the bier were all the floral offerings that had been made by his friends and associates. Among them was the beautiful lyre, reared upon a bed of roses and supported by lilies of the valley and Easter lilies with uprights of pink carnations. "Our Missing Member" were the simple words of the players of the two ball teams who had sent it but they told of a deep regret in his death. Near the head of the bier was the tribute from his East Liverpool friends, which so aptly delineates his profession. It was a baseball diamond laid out in white carnations on a living green and white hollyhocks worked the imaginary line from the purple pitcher's box to the home plate. Each base was designated by a white rose. Surrounding the design were a ball and crossed bats, worked in white. Clusters of lilies, carnations, roses and living green make up the remainder of the piece.

A harp of white roses and lilies tastefully entwined with white carnations and green rested in a profusion of cut flowers. It bore the inscription "Our loved one" and was the tribute of the mother and brothers.

Near the foot of the bier was placed a wreath of fragrant cut flowers from his old shopmates at the K. T. & K. pottery who have not forgotten him, although more than a decade has passed since he left his arduous duties there to win fame on the baseball field.

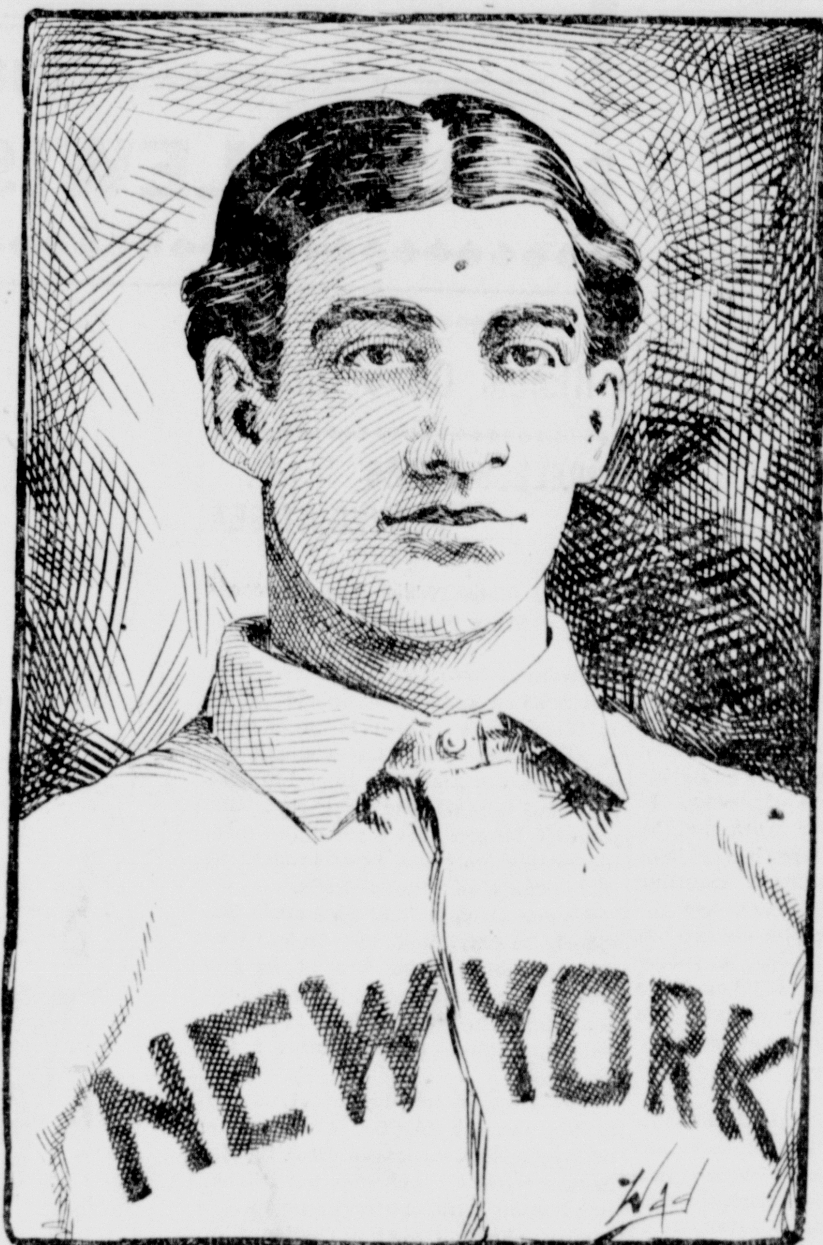

There were a number of other bouquets and wreaths of flowers that helped to make the spot a floral bower of beauty. The casket was covered with loosely strewn flowers. At the breast of the dead man were white roses; at the feet, red roses and carnations.

Before 1 o'clock the people began to gather in the auditorium and it was filled to its utmost capacity long before the hour for the service. Many could not gain an entrance to the building.

The great organ pealed forth the mournful notes of a voluntary as the body was borne to its place amid the flowers and a thrill went through every heart for the black-robed figure of the mother, trembling and shaken with sobs and there were tears in many eyes when Rev. Dr. Pratt arose to pronounce the invocation. A quartet, composed of Miss Margaret Baxter, soprano; Miss Annie James, alto; J. R. Stoddard, tenor, and W. K. Gaston, bass, sang "Abide With Me."

Dr. Pratt then read the scripture lesson from Psalms 23 and 90. Miss Baxter in her sweet soprano voice sang as a solo Hayes' sublime "Rise to All Eternity."

STATE GAME WARDEN PROPOSES A CRUSADE TO PROTECT THE BIRDS

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, January 21.—State Game Warden Porterfield has decided to carry into every county with unrelenting activity, the campaign he began last week against the sale of song and plumage birds, protected by the statutes. He has given strict orders to his deputies that they see to it that the law is obeyed to the letter. Dealers and milliners engaged in the sale of birds or feathers of birds protected by law are being notified to remove them or else the same will be confiscated and the owners prosecuted.

A great many seizures have been made of birds and feathers which have been forwarded to Columbus and submitted to an expert for inspection. If it develops they are of the kind prohibited by law those from whom they were obtained will be prosecuted. The deputies are now engaged in a campaign of confiscation and the first report of the expert who will examine the goods will hardly be made before the latter part of next week. After that arrests will probably be made by the wholesale.

Warden Porterfield says women who wear birds or plumage on their hats are just as liable under the law as those exposing them for sale. The initiatory step has been taken in Columbus and the crusade is being pushed with great vigor in Cincinnati and adjacent cities and towns. If those who wear and engage in the sale of birds of plumage are wise, they will do away with all birds of plumage of this kind that they have in their possession. Otherwise they may be called upon to answer to an infraction of the law.

Assistant Adjutant General Henry M. Taylor has gone to Xenia to investigate a report that the rifles used

NEW CHURCH HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Chester Presbyterian Congregation Came Into Being at a Meeting Last Night.

The inauguration of a Presbyterian church in Chester last night was one of the most important affairs that has taken place in that little city for many months. For a long time those interested have been working faithfully for the organization of the church and last night saw the result of their labors. The committee appointed by the Washington conference was present and had charge of the meeting. Rev. J. R. Hosick, of Hockstown, preached a sermon. After that the names were taken of those wishing to unite with the church there. The church chosen was the First Presbyterian, of Chester. Owing to the disagreeable weather the attendance was small last night and but 39 out of nearly a hundred prospective members gave their names.

While but few of the interested Presbyterians were present they were enthusiastic over their prospects. About a hundred per sons signed a petition for the organization of this church. The East End is based upon tests made by expert insurance men. These tests had demonstrated that the water supply was not what it should be. The several insurance companies doing business in the East End are carrying very heavy risks, and when it was determined by careful investigation that the pressure was inadequate, notice was immediately given that after February 15 all agreements would be cancelled. If there is a fire the manufacturers may be able to recover the insurance, but unless the East End is furnished with a better water supply the city will not recover the industry.

Mr. Wells went over the ground covered at the meeting held with the water works trustees last week, showing that even for the first year the city's share of the interest would amount to in the neighborhood of only $480. It would gradually be decreased as the years go on.

A motion prevailed to the effect that the water works trustees be instructed to proceed with the work, the city to bear the 3 per cent interest on the cost of the improvement.

There were several other matters that ought to have been attended to but there were not enough members present to finally pass upon them, and they went over.

Mechanics' Lien Case.
Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—The case of John C. Atterholt, administrator, against Kate M. Springer is being tried in court today on appeal from a decision in probate court. Suit was originally brought to determine whether a mechanics' lien has precedence over a widow's dower, the probate court finding for the plaintiff.

church and all have agreed to join at Chester. The number will be swelled at the next meeting, as many were unable to attend owing to the rain which fell all last evening. After the sermon and taking the names of members was completed, it was decided that it was too late to elect officers and that was postponed till the next meeting.

The next service will be held on Thursday evening, February 5, at the U. P. church and at the time the officers of the church will be elected. It has not been yet decided who will preach at the next meeting. The officials of the United Presbyterian church have kindly given the Presbyterians the use of their church for a time and the services will be held there. It is expected that in the spring an effort will be made to build a church. A regular pastor will not be called for several weeks but the congregation will be addressed by the various pastors of the different Presbyterian churches in this vicinity.

LISBON M.L.L. AGAIN TO START

The Plant Has Been Idle For Six Months—To Be An Open Mill.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—It is reported here today that the officials of the American Tin Plate company have informed the Lisbon business men's association of their willingness to start the local mill, open to the employment of both union and non-union men. Nearly all of the mills now in operation are run under this agreement.

A committee of the Amalgamated association met with a committee of business men but refused to discuss the proposition as such a discussion would be against the rules of the organization. The impression here is that the men will be justified in abandoning the requirements of unionism under the circumstances and returning to work in accordance with the company's offer. This feeling is said to be more or less the sentiment of the men also. The mill cost Lisbon a $60,000 bonus and has been idle for six months.

Licensed to Marry.
Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—John H. Kennedy and Miss Ella May Longacre, both of East Liverpool, have been licensed to marry.

ELECTRIC LINE MAKING PROGRESS

Who Will Not Grant Rights Under Any Terms—Condemnation Proceedings Probable in Their Case—Outlook Generally Encouraging.

The Youngstown and Southern Electric Railway company is slowly but surely removing all barriers that have confronted it in securing the rights of way along the surveyed route, and though it is and has been rejected by a few of the property holders, its officials confidently expect to have everything in readiness for speedy progress when the building of the road is commenced.

Attorney John J. Kerr and H. J. Abrams, the local men employed to secure the rights of way for several miles out in the country, have not done so much to that end for several weeks, owing to the unpleasant weather, but they state that parties all along the line are being heard from occasionally and that assurance is given that the great majority will heartily join in with the capitalists and do all possible for the ultimate operation of a road which will mean very much to them, both from convenience and a pecuniary standpoint.

Among the few that have absolutely refused the promoters any satisfaction are found some of the most obstinate men in the county. They have not only declined to argue on the advisability of giving the right of way, but they will not so much as talk of a purchasing price. Scidom is there a railroad built that such obstacles are not met, and in this case, as in hundreds of previous ones, the promoters are bound to come out victorious.

After making the property holders what they consider a reasonable offer for their land, providing the offer is not accepted, they will take the cases to court, where condemnation proceedings will be instituted and the owners will be compelled to sell at a price designated by a jury. It is thought that some of those who have given evidence of a firm stand on their apparently obstinate views before it becomes necessary to take the cases to court, will fall in line with the majority and try to come to a mutual agreement.

A CAR OF SAND ACROSS THE TRACK

WRECK DELAYED C. & P. TRAFFIC FOR THREE HOURS.

A Mishap Near Thompson's Pottery Gave Western Passengers a Long Wait.

A wreck on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad, near Thompson's pottery, last evening at about 7 o'clock caused three hours' delay in traffic and much discomfort and displeasure to numerous passengers waiting at the depot for the west bound train.

The wreck consisted in the derailing of a car of sand which was attached to the Conway local. The car, with out any apparent reason, jumped the track and before the train was stopped it had broken loose from the rest and was lying crosswise on the track. No time was lost in summoning the wreck crew from Wellsville, and in less than half an hour a score of more men were working with all their might.

No damage having resulted to the car, the crew was very careful in replacing it on the track. As a result much more time than usual was consumed. At 10 o'clock everything was cleared and the train pulled out toward Wellsville with the westbound passenger following close behind.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO GEORGE MATTHEWS

An East Palestine Man Made Ugly Charges Against His Wife.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—Judge Hole yesterday granted to Geo. Matthews, of East Palestine, a divorce from Anna L. Matthews. They were married May 25, 1894, at Darlington, Pa., and have one daughter now about two years old. After they had lived together about three years the husband alleges the wife became enamored of one John Dugan, which resulted in the separation of Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, the wife taking up her abode with the correspondent who was afterward convicted of trying to procure a criminal operation on her.

In November, 1899, Matthews and his wife were reconciled, and lived together until June, 1901, when it is said Mrs. Matthews left her home and went to Salem to live with one James Heaton, with whom she said to be still living. She is said to have given birth to a child about this time.

Delinquent Tax Sale.
Lisbon, January 21.—(Special)—The annual delinquent tax sale was held at the county treasurer's office properties were disposed of.

EAST END WILL HAVE WATER LINE

Council So Decides at an Adjourned Meeting Held Last Night.

COST WILL BE $16,000.00

The Attendance Was Small, And There Were Several Matters Which Should Have Been Disposed of—They Necessarily Go Over.

An adjourned meeting of the city council had been scheduled for last night, but owing to lack of interest on the part of some of the members the attendance was not sufficiently large to pass upon the most important questions for which the session had been arranged.

It was 8:30 before President Nicolson convened the council, and then there were but six members present, including himself, Messrs. Peach, Marshall, Orr, Bullock and McConnell.

Clerk Davidson stated he had received word from the officials of the Youngstown & Southern railroad with reference to the franchise asked for by it. Among the papers filed was a formal acceptance of the franchise, together with a bond of $5,000 required in the franchise. The matter was referred to the finance committee, which body will make inquiry into the financial standing of the men who are on the document. The committee is to report at the next meeting.

Dr. Marshall made a report for the committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the water works trustees and the East End residents who were interested in the extension of the water service in that part of the city. He stated the parties from the affected district had made it plain to both the committee and the water works trustees that they were not now receiving the service they should, and the committee had no hesitation in making a recommendation that their request be granted. It had been proposed that the manufacturers advance the money for the construction of a 12-inch water main, and that the city stand one-half of the interest amounting to 3 per cent—until such time as a bond issue could be got through, when the debt would be cancelled.

W. E. Wells, one of the interested parties, was present and President Nicolson called upon him for a statement. He said:

SHANTYTOWN TERRIFIED BY GHOST

Residents of the Boats Say Cephas Haught's Wraith Appears Nightly.

Residents of Shantytown are seriously considering moving to other quarters. The move contemplated is due solely to the alleged fact that during the past three weeks the ghost of Cephas Haught, who died about four years ago, has haunted the district and made night frightful by strange actions.

Unlike the ghosts so often talked of and read about this one cannot be scared or intimidated in the least. Every night at 1 o'clock it makes its appearance on the beach. All manner of plans yet placed into execution have failed to cause it to vacate until it gets ready. At exactly 4 o'clock, after uttering a fearful scream, which sends a thrill of terror through every hearer, it vanishes no one knows where.

The first to be disturbed by the uncanny and unearthly noises was Simon Haught, a brother of the deceased Cephas. Simon, one night while sleeping soundly, was rudely awakened by a scratching on his door. He jumped from his bed and hobbled to the door to ascertain the cause of the peculiar sounds.

Opening the door he was horrified at seeing the form and face of his dead brother. It so frightened him that he slammed the door in his visitor's face and during the rest of the night lay awake in terror. The following night at the same time both Simon and his wife Sarah, the competent janitress at the city hall, were aroused by noises very similar to those of the night previous. They determined to give the ghost a scare and together went outside and rushed at the imaginary object.

Instead of fleeing, as they supposed it would, the ghost stood motionless and when Simon and Sarah had reached a point within a few feet of it they concluded to do the fleeing and started toward their boat at a breakneck speed. After a while they became braver and decided to make another investigation. They found the hideous creature standing in the same spot. Moans and inaudible words issued from the stationary form soon caused another retreat.

On the next night a party of the residents formed and at the appointed time rushed en masse to the beach. They were not kept long in waiting. The nightly visitor soon made its appearance and the whole gang cautiously commenced an approach. As on previous occasions, it stood firmly and refused to be frightened away.

Mrs. Haught stated this morning that unless the ghost in some way is made to vacate the vicinity there will not be a boat on the beach by the first of next week.

LAW TO REGULATE PHARMACISTS

AN EDUCATIONAL CLAUSE

And Other Requirements Which Are Said to Be Sadly Lacking in the Laws of the Sister State—Mr. Buchannon's Bill.

Charleston, W. Va., January 21.—Hon. C. G. Buchannon, of Wellsburg, has the draft of a bill in his desk which he hopes to get through the house before the legislature adjourns that will strike a severe blow to the pharmaceutical saloon. The purport of the bill is best given in his own language, as he states it:

"The draft in my possession is really the result of work of the general association of pharmacists, of which I am a member. Its effect would be to put our law relating to pharmacists on the same basis as that of Ohio. With the present statute a man who has once passed the required examination of a pharmacy clerk may leave the business for any number of years and re-enter the work without any examination whatever. You know a man who has been engaged in another business for several years forgets the most important part of his professional knowledge, and unless he brushes up considerably is entirely unfit for so responsible a place as that which the druggist holds to the community. My bill provides that a man who has been out of the business for years shall be required to take another examination."

"Further," continued Mr. Buchannon, the present statute has no provision for a man's educational requirements. So long as a boy or man has worked in a drug store the required two years, and can answer the questions put to him by the state board of pharmacy, he is passed on the same footing with the man who has taken a four-year course in one of the finest colleges of pharmacy in the country. And the college man, though he have the best equipment in the way of practical knowledge in the world, is placed at a disadvantage by having to take the required two years as a cub in a drug store before he can secure his papers as a registered pharmacist. Now my bill contains an educational clause which will do away with this injustice, and its whole drift is toward lifting the professional men of higher education in the business."

"And here is one of the most important things the bill will accomplish if it becomes a law," concluded the Brooke county delegate. "It will do away with that class of pharmacists who enter the profession for the purpose of carrying on the liquor trade, for they will not have the requirements for entrance. It also contains a clause which will take away the power of the board to make their own by laws and regulations. This power in itself is one of the worst injustices I know of, but it is contained in the present statute of this state. It is one of the fundamental principles of our government that the body which has been enforcing a law should have no hand in the making of it. Yet here we have the state board of pharmacy which practically both makes and executes its own laws, and thereby yields a power that is absolute and arbitrary. I don't know how it is going to pan out, as I have not had much opportunity to sound the other members on the subject, and being in the minority myself it may not meet with favor; but we shall see what we shall see."

Farmers Getting Rich.
"Contrasting the conditions of the Knoxville farmers 20 years ago and now," said an old resident of that section, "we notice a perceptible change."

AN UNUSUAL OFFER

Will Reed Guarantees Mi-na to Cure Dyspepsia.
Your money back if you want it is the way in which Will Reed, the popular druggist is selling Mi-na, the great dyspepsia cure.

Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-na will cure you. If it does not, tell Mr. Will Reed that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it.

A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-na, and its continued use will soon give perfect digestion and enjoyment of food.

Will Reed gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it." A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

Twenty years ago about all the surplus stock the farmer had to sell to the merchants of Toronto for sugar and coffee was dried apples and smoked hutch. Now, since he is receiving from $10 to $100 per day royalty for oil, he comes in his carriage or surrey and spends his gold pieces on the wife and girls like a prince."

A STAG SOCIAL TO BE ENJOYED

By Members of the East Liverpool Lodge of Elks And a Visiting Delegation.

In their newly and most elaborately furnished parlors the members of the East Liverpool lodge of Elks will hold a stag tomorrow night, and the efforts of the committees appointed to direct the affair are brought into consideration the social will be one of the most enjoyable ever held by that organization of fun lovers.

It is expected that a number of Elks from the lodges of nearby cities will be present, invitations having been extended freely. Notably among the visitors will be Louis P. Metzgar, of Salem, the district deputy of the order, who will prior to the social part of the program conduct an examination of the local order.

W. E. Wells, as toastmaster, will have charge of the evening's merriment, and after a banquet never excelled in variety and richness is partaken the social session will be commenced with the opening address by James Hilbert. The remainder of the program will be carried out as follows:

"Why I want to be City Solicitor"—George Davidson and M. J. McGarry.
"Why I Want to Be Representative"—V. V. Blake and E. W. Hill.
"Gerbage"—Thomas V. Thompson and Andy Roe.
"The Press"—Allen Fink.
"Solos"—George Davidson and Ed Lewis.

"How to Conduct Our Public Schools"—W. B. Hill.
"Why I Want to Be Sheriff"—A. J. Johnson.
"Love, Courtship and Marriage"—Squire H. P. McCarron.
Solo—Sterling D. Carson.
"Extemporaneous Address"—L. T. Farr.

Saloon keepers of Toronto are on the anxious seat. The grand jury is in session in Steubenville and a large number of young men have received invitation to appear before it. The Dr. Teeters case will probably occupy several days of the court.

News and Notes About The Potteries

PEORIA NOTES.

Peoria, Ill., January 21.—On account of scarcity of boards the clay hands were compelled to loaf Friday, and it is likely that they will work but two or three days this week.

No kilnmen have arrived yet, though the firm sent a ticket to one at Ford City last week. The scarcity of that class of workmen here is becoming alarming and active steps will be taken in the near future to get a sufficient number.

Edward Carroll, an apprentice on the bisque, has recovered from a severe siege of sickness.

Local No. 27 held a very interesting meeting last week. Three new members were initiated and five applications were received. At the conclusion of the usual form of business the following committees were appointed: One per cent collectors, George Wag-enback, R. Summers, Edward South-ern, Nick Hobin, Perry Newcomer, J. Kutch, Lizzie Dillon; shop committee, George Hart, W. J. McKeone, Joe Miller, Nick Hobin, Joe Kutch.

SEBRING POTTER INJURED.

Harry Lister, an employee at the new China pottery, Sebring, sustained injuries recently which will cause his laying off for a couple of weeks. In company with another workman, he was placing a large and heavy joint of tile in position, when a scantling upon which it rested, broke, and the tile, in falling, struck him on the left leg, just below the knee. A severe cut, requiring several stitches by a physician, was made necessary, but fortunately no bones were broken.

READY JULY 1.

The new Cameron plant is to manufacture semi-porcelain dinner and toilet and hotel ware. There will also be a number of specialties. It is yet too early to make a statement as to when the plant will be ready to begin operations but it is thought about July 1.

FOUND A FRACTURE.

MR. McCauley Here.

Chas. Macauley, of Sebring, who is to be the manager of the clay department of the new pottery at Cameron, W. Va., was a business visitor here this week. He will retain his situation in Sebring for some time yet.

NOTES OF THE POTTERS.

The Toronto white ware plant has started up with a force of 50 men and women.

Elmer Huff, of this city, has gone to Sebring and is at work at the Oliver China company as a kilnplacer.

Dull Times in Toronto.

Toronto is feeling the pressure of dull times, icy pavements and the suspension of the street car line. But the preachers are firing hot shot at old Satan from several churches.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Alvin H. Hulger.

WIRELESS CHESS

PLAYED AT SEA

A Novel Match When Two Steamers Were Some 50 Miles Apart.

Wireless chess in mid-ocean with one finished and one unfinished game on the records between a chess team on the Cunard liner Lucania and the teams on the American liner Philadelphia and the Atlantic Transport line steamer Minnetonka formed the most interesting budget of news brought by the Lucania and Philadelphia.

Several attempts had been made previously to play chess by wireless telegraph in mid-sea, but this is the first time a game has been played without some hitch in the telegraph apparatus knocking things endwise after a few moves.

The Lucania left Liverpool on Saturday, January 10. On the afternoon of Wednesday the operator of the Lucania's wireless apparatus got in communication with the operator on the Minnetonka and sent a challenge on behalf of some of the Lucania's chess players to the Minnetonka. The challenge was taken up in a minute and the game was soon begun, but after four moves on each side something broke on the Lucania, and when repairs were made the Minnetonka had got out of reach.

Friday morning, however, the chess experts on the Lucania were aroused from the smoking room by the announcement that wireless communication had been established with the Philadelphia.

"We would like to play you at chess. Will you pick a team?"

The Philadelphia flashed back in five minutes this message:

"Gladly accept. Play just after lunch-oon."

The Philadelphia's all-American team won.

According to the official logs, the Philadelphia was 19 miles ahead of the Lucania when the game began and the boats were 49 miles apart as the gulls fly when going straight. The Lucania was overhauling her, however, all the time, and on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock sighted her American fellow traveler. Soon afterward the ships were abreast.

The Lucania and the Philadelphia got past the Hook at practically the same time Saturday night.

SPORTING CIRCLES

IN MIDST OF A LULL

The Winter Season is on in Full Blast, Resulting in the Usual Slow Period.

The dulllest period of the year is now upon East Liverpool in sporting circles. In this city, as in the great majority of them scattered over the United States when the base ball season closes there is practically no sports until the following spring. However, foot ball was indulged in with interest and vigor last fall and the participation in such games as bowling, basketball and others during the past two months have made the winter season more alive than usual.

There will be more basket ball during the next month, but the season for this sport will not last much longer in this city. Bowling seems to be the only pleasure now sought and unless a dislike is formed for the game it is anticipated that it will, at least, have a tendency to show that East Liverpool people are not dead to the sporting world.

Steubenville Bowling League.

The Bowling league, of Steubenville, organized and adopted a schedule for the ensuing year. The league is to be known as the Jefferson County Bowling league. It will be governed by a board of directors, composed of two members of each team. Following is a list of directors: Altamone—J. Kessie and J. Bucey; Brunswick—J. Bell and W. E. Flanagan; Mingo—C. Ulstrom and J. Sarver; Knockers—J. Dunn and F. A. Gladfelter. The following officers were elected. Pres-

dent, J. Kessie; secretary, W. E. Flanagan; treasurer, F. A. Gladfelter. A large number of matches have been arranged.

Legislating Against Football.

Under a bill introduced in the Missouri legislature it is made a misdemeanor to play football and the officers and board of managers of the State University, School of Mines, State Normal and Agricultural colleges shall be fined or imprisoned if they permit students to engage in football. The same regulation applies also to teachers and directors of public schools and high schools supported wholly or part by the state.

"Bobby" Woods in Demand.

"Bobby" Woods, who was a member of the Cleveland baseball team for the past two seasons, is spending the winter at his home at Church Hill, near Youngstown. Woods said: "I have not signed a contract with any club for next season. I have had offers from both American and National league teams to sign, but have not done so."

Jeffries Not Anxious.

Champion "Jim" Jeffries, in a telegram to New York from Leadville, Col., states that he can see no reason why he should fight "Jim" Corbett and he doubts if the public expects that he would. Jeffries states that he is making as much money touring with Fitzsimmons as he could in purse money with Corbett.

INTERIOR OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER.

Ex-Senator John M. Thurston, of Omaha, Nebraska, is one of the most prominent and influential men in the country. He made the speech nominating President McKinley at the St. Louis convention, and was made permanent chairman of this convention. He was also made chairman of the convention that nominated the late President McKinley at Philadelphia. He was appointed by President McKinley to be chairman of the St. Louis Exposition Commission.

This prominent gentleman recently wrote the following letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio:

Washington, D. C., April 6, 1901.

"I have used Peruna at various times during the past year or two with most satisfactory results.

"It entirely relieved me from an irritating cough—the result of excessive effort in the presidential campaign, and I am a firm believer in its efficacy for any such trouble."—Jno. M. Thurston.

Catarrh has already become a national scourge. Its ravages extend from ocean to ocean.

More than one-half the people are affected by it. It has become such a serious matter that it has passed the boundaries of the medical profession and become a national question. Senators are talking about it; Congressmen are discussing it.

They are not only considering the extent and chronic nature of the disease, but the possibility of finding a national remedy to meet this national calamity. The catarrh remedy, Peruna, seems to be the main expectation in this direction.

Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, devised the remedy, Peruna, over forty years ago, and the remedy as a catarrh cure has been growing in favor steadily all these years.

It stands to-day before the nation as a thoroughly tested, accurately scientific

AN UNCLAIMED HORSE

Animal Found Wandering At Large Near the East End City Limits.

The police of the East End were notified last night about midnight that a horse was loose near the end of the street car track near the city limits. They were also told that the horse was partially harnessed and that one of the traces was broken. It was immediately surmised that a runaway had occurred and possibly someone had been badly hurt and killed. Officers Spence and Fisher went up to the end of the car tracks and found the horse, which by that time had been tied to a telephone pole.

An effort was made to locate the buggy or wagon to which it had been hitched but the effort was unsuccessful. The horse was then taken to the livery barn of John E. Forbes, of Virginia avenue, where it still remains waiting for the owner to claim it. The horse had been noticed by the street car men for several hours and after it was reported to the power house the police were notified and took it in charge.

RETURNS TONIGHT

Rev. William Duncan Comes Back to Conduct Second U. P. Church Services.

The meeting at the Second U. P. church last night was addressed by Rev. D. W. McQuiston, of New Concord, O. Rev. Mr. Duncan was here all last week, but was unable to be here Monday or last night on account of the illness of his wife. Rev. Mr. McQuiston received a telegram from him last night stating that he would be here tonight and remain the balance of the week.

This announcement will be gladly received by the members of the congregation as well as the pastor, Mr. Duncan having firmly established himself in the hearts of the members of the congregation. He is a preacher of great power and his sermons have all been specially full of interest. Tonight he will be present and again take up the work, preaching on the topic, "Disposing of Jesus." Another large congregation is expected tonight.

FOOT BURNED

IN A SALOON

For This Treatment a Drummer Sues Hotel Men For $2,500 Damages.

Steubenville, January 21.—James E. McCord, a traveling salesman, doesn't like his treatment at the Hotel McDewitt, in Mingo, and he has entered suit against each of the three lessees of the hotel for $2,500. The defendants are Samuel Dunham, Ralph Dunham and Thomas McKean. In connection with the hotel, the men conducted a saloon and it was in the liquor shop that McCord's troubles began.

On November 28, 1902, he was a guest at the Hotel McDewitt. While he was sitting in the barroom McCord alleges that persons known to the proprietors, or a part of them at least, poured upon his right foot and saturated his shoe, stocking and foot with alcohol and then ignited it, seriously burning his foot, so that it became diseased and rotted away, causing him great pain and suffering. Ever since he has been sick and sore, and has suffered great pain.

Canton Man Dies Suddenly in Restaurant And Death Not Noticed for Two Hours.

Canton, January 21.—Alfred Eggars, while sitting at a table in a local restaurant, died suddenly and his death was not discovered until about two hours after. Eggars entered the restaurant about 1 o'clock and called for a dinner. After finishing his meal he didn't arise and the proprietor of the place thought that he was sleeping.

Several customers noticed that the man was sitting in a peculiar attitude and that his face was very pale. Upon investigation it was found that Eggars was dead. Coroner Schiltz said that the man had probably been dead for two hours and that the cause of his death was dropsy. Eggars has lived in Canton for about 15 years and was employed as a watchmaker at a local jewelry store. He was familiarly known about Canton as "Dutch Fritz."

EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $30, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf plus. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patton declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

Dr. Adolph Lorenz, the eminent Austrian physician, said on his return to Vienna that he was much impressed with the magnificent charity of the Americans and their immense gifts to educational institutions and hospitals. The rapid extension of various forms of philanthropy is impressing the world that this country not only has more rich men than any other but also more generous men. The men who have risen to wealth here are in most cases those who had to combat poverty in their boyhood, and they are therefore familiar with the conditions and the wants of the less fortunate. It is undoubtedly true that Andrew Carnegie would not now be giving away libraries but for the difficulty he found when a boy of getting enough books to satisfy his craving for books and literature.

Council has taken action which should ensure a water supply and consequent fire protection to the East End at the earliest practicable moment. Under the circumstances and considering the urgency of the case the arrangement effected was probably the best that could be made. At all events, time was gained, and time is money in an emergency like the present.

Woman suffragists have more cause to complain. The first woman's voice raised in debate in the house of representatives was promptly suppressed. In a maiden effort in congress it is not usual to begin by calling the gentleman on the other side a liar. But how was the young lady to know that such privileges are reserved for old debaters?

American prosperity is helping out the famine-stricken people of Sweden. There are many thousands of prosperous Swedes in the west and northwest, whose industry has put them in comfortable circumstances. The cry of distress from their kindred beyond the sea has been heard by them and is being heeded.

Since it is rapidly developing that the gubernatorial nomination is to be a prize for which any man is licensed to enter the number of candidates is likely to increase, says the Mansfield News. Good! Let the voters so aroused that they will all get out on election day.

Tillman is afraid he can't have a fair trial in South Carolina. A fair trial would probably send him to prison for life, if not to the gallows, and it is just the kind he has reason to be afraid of.

It is a good time to read up on the municipal code. The voters should study it and then determine what men among the candidates are best calculated to carry the provisions into effect.

The house committee on appropriations has recommended an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the extension of the rural free delivery mail service.

OBITUARY

Hugh McFall.
Hugh McFall, an old and highly respected resident of the city, died at his home in the Porter block, Broadway, yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months with pneumonia. He had suffered much during the past few years as the result of the infirmities of old age, and though his death is regretted and mourned by a legion of friends, it came to him not unawakened. Mr. McFall was born at Smith's Ferry, November 18, 1824, and when but a child moved to this city. He learned the carpenter trade, following it as a means of livelihood until 1860 when he entered the hardware business with J. W. Gaston. He after a few years formed a dislike for indoor work and sold his share of the business.
In the year 1886 Mr. McFall was elected county commissioner and served the people in a highly commendable manner for six years.
A wife is his only survivor, their only child, a son, dying in infancy. He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and it is likely that the funeral services will be conducted at that church by Rev. C. G. Jordan.

LAST HONORS ARE PAID TO LOVED WINNIE MERCER

The funeral oration, delivered by Rev. Dr. Pratt, was impressive and eloquent and will be found in full in another column.

All during the oration the sobs from the grief-stricken hearts could be heard, for the words of the speaker depicted Winnie as he had been known. The prayer at the conclusion was most eloquent. The quartet sang the hymn, "Days and Moments Quick by Flying," and then all stood with bowed heads to receive the benediction. The body was then viewed, the long line of people, many of them with tear-stained faces, passing out of the auditorium after filing past the bier. Hundreds who could not find room in the edifice and who had waited outside in the rain then filed in to see for the last time their dead friend.

Slowly the cortege moved through the streets to the cemetery and none along the way were too busy to stop and stand respectfully until it had passed. The ceremony at the grave was short, but impressive.

LESSONS DRAWN FROM MERCER'S LIFE

AN ELOQUENT, FORCIBLE SERMON BY DR. PRATT.

The Many Excellent Qualities of the Young Man Who Has Departed.

Rev. Dr. Milton Butler Pratt's sermon in full was as follows:
Winnie Mercer is dead. In the full strength of his manhood and with acknowledged supremacy in his chosen profession, he has walked out into the "Great Divide" and left his many friends with saddened, aching hearts, straining their eyes into the gloom whence he has gone, half hoping that this is all a dream and that he will greet them when they awake.
Look where we may the wide earth o'er
Their lighted faces smile no more.
We tread the paths their feet have worn.
We sit beneath their orchard trees,
We hear, like them, the hum of bees,
And rustle of the bladed corn;
Their written words we linger o'er,
But in the sun they cast no shade,
No voice is heard, no sign is made,
No step is on the conscious floor!
This mournful song of the lonely poet is our sad refrain today. These sorrowful, sympathetic faces, these mourning relatives and associates, this broken-hearted mother, and this flower-kissed casket, with its cold, still tenant, are no unhappy dream. No. Winnie Mercer, the pride of his associates, the joy of his mother, is dead.
Standing here, I ask why this rich floral display and this unusual demonstration of personal sorrow and sympathy? Is it because of his profession? I think not. Though we are all proud of our national game and heartily approve efforts of its management to protect and improve it by the establishment of high moral ideals in its contents of manly skill and strength. Is it because of these tragic events which are connected with this death? I think not. They are only vulgar curiosity; while here are genuine sorrow that arises from personal loss, and eagerness to do his memory honor. Why then have such messages of sorrow and such testimony of affection flooded his family and filled this sanctuary with respectful grief?

Is it not because of his many excellent qualities? God gave him a rich endowment. Like him of the Master's parable he received not one but full five talents.
Possessing a remarkable body he trained it into well high perfect development and became an athlete with few peers. Swift of foot, sure of eye, cunning of hand and clear and quick of mind, he climbed with rapid stride to the highest rank in our national arena of recreation. It was sturdy, manly work he did; and hosts of friends he made. And scattered thick between the seas, these friends will recall the brilliant, honest work he did and sigh that he has gone from them. For the noblest conquests that he made were not in competitive struggle upon the diamond. He won the hearts of those who knew him.
His professional associates were devoted to him and their love has stood the test even of these trying days. There is sadness and deep regret among them; messages and lovely floral tokens have come from them and some kept loving watch over him during the long journey across the continent to this, his final resting place.
Said Mr. Wagner, of Washington, who had his services for some time and knew him well: "Yes, I will sell anything I possess, excepting Winnie Mercer and my family."

Some win friends by long, laborious and astute assault upon the vanity or selfishness of associates. Repulsive men often thus make friends. Not so with Mercer. He won them by befriending them. He won them also not by what he did, but by what he was: a frank, sunny-tempered, kindly-hearted, generous man. He earned a large salary and gave much of it to help needy friends. No one, stranded in the sea of carelessness, misfortune or abuse, ever sought his aid in vain. He was as great in kindness as he was in professional skill. When he returned to this his home flushed with the triumph that was his he had not forgotten the boys who knew him when in humbler days he labored in their midst. But there was a yet nobler element in this man.
Early in this life he became the support of his mother and her family. Cheerfully he toiled that they might be provided with the comforts of life. To the day of his death he never ceased to tenderly cherish his mother. When he wrote home it was that he might send her a message of love. When he met one from this city there was always an anxious inquiry for her welfare. When he returned to our midst it was always with some token to emphasize his affectionate greeting. Devotion to one's mother is always noble and ennobling. Affectionate consideration for her comfort is very nearly the high-water mark of genuine manhood.

When Mary broke the alabaster box of precious ointment and anointed the Lord, He gave to her the benediction of undying remembrance. And amidst the conflicting sentiments that crowd our consciousness in this solemn hour we surely may cherish and emulate the memory of this exalted quality in his character; for Winnie Mercer's devotion to his mother was the pouring out of the alabaster of his manhood.
You, even now, are in his presence. "Comely above most men, strong, agile, bright of mind, sunny souled and open-hearted as the morning, generous, modest, engaging, faithful to his friends, devoted to his relatives and especially tender to his mother he was indeed a 'vessel chosen unto honor.'" But alas, alas, today this noble promise, this Etruscan vase, lies shattered at our feet.
Gathered around these fragments let us drink deeply of lessons from this life. Richly endowed manhood is God's most exalted work. It is lovely that it should not be marred; it is prophetic that it should not be misused; it is costly that it should not be unguarded. Protests and regrets rest voiceless on our lips today; but in this presence of our dead let us take solemn resolution to so establish Christian morality and so diffuse Christian faith that our American young manhood may have fewer enemies and more helps in the working out of that glorious destiny made possible by Christian civilization through its author, Jesus Christ.
Let us take up those worthy qualities of his life and perfect them in our lives. Kindness, modesty, generosity, faithfulness to those dependent ones and helpfulness to all, conspicuous in his career should be carried on in ours. What his life has done let us take on.

WHY WE SELL THELMA.

Because we believe it is the finest perfume we can get. Because we are here to sell good things in the drug line and people come here expecting to find the best—whatever it may be. ## MERCER'S FRIENDS

TALK ABOUT HIM

GENEROUS TRIBUTES FROM HIS BASEBALL ASSOCIATES.

Kid Speer And Charles Crow Speak In Highest Terms of the Deceased.

George ("Kid") Speer, who has caught for Milwaukee for several seasons came to town yesterday from Pittsburg where he has been the guest of his family. He is stopping with George Carey, the popular ball player, and attended the funeral of Winnie Mercer this afternoon.

There are few men in the profession who were closer to Mercer than was "Kid" Speer. In speaking of him Mr. Speer said: "There never was a ball player that was more popular with the people than Win; besides, he was a gentleman in every sense of the word. I do not believe the nonsensical stories concerning a shortage in his accounts, and even if there had been it would never have caused him to take his own life. There was some other deeper motive. I never in my whole life felt so sad, nor more shocked than when the news reached me. Win Mercer was one of the best friends I ever had, and I am very glad to have the opportunity to show my regard by attending the funeral."
Charles Crow, of Niles, one of the best known pitchers in this section of the state, arrived in the city yesterday and is the guest of First Baseman George Carey, of this city. Crow was an intimate friend of the late Winnie Mercer, and he is here to attend the funeral. In conversation with a News Review reporter today Pitcher Crow said:

"In addition to playing against Win on several occasions, we were warm personal friends, and if one of my own family had passed away I could not have felt worse. He has visited me at my home in Niles, and had a large circle of friends there. When the news of the unfortunate occurrence came to our city it created a sensation rarely equaled. Win Mercer was loved and respected by everyone."

The help he may not have sought let us secure. Let us make our lives better through having known and loved this man.

Unto those within the inner circles of his life we come with the consoling promise of help divine. God is always a refuge for us. There is always his arm upon which we may lean. There are always His fatherly love and His tender mercy for our portion. Always we may pray:

Lead, kindly light, amid the encircling gloom,

Lead thou me on!
The night is dark, and I am far from home;

Lead thou me on!
Keep thou my feet; I do not ask to see
The distant scene; one step enough for me.

Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. For He knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust. As for men, his days are as grass; as a flower of the field so he flourisheth. For the wind passed over it and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear Him, and his righteousness unto children's children; to such as keep his covenants, and to those that remember His commandments to do them. We unitedly commend you all to His loving care who has been our dwelling place in all generations.

NO. 24'S SMOKER

Potters' Union Provides a Choice Entertainment—Notes of the Unions.

After the regular business meeting of Local union No. 24, N. B. of O. P., held last evening in Potters' hall, a smoker was held by the local. It was purely a stag affair and was attended by a number of members of other local unions.

Stogies, music, humorous stories and recitations were the order of the evening and nearly everyone took some part in the entertainment. The feature of the evening was the vocal music rendered by Councilman A. J. Brennan. Mr. Brennan has a very excellent tenor voice. He sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and "Take Me Back to Old Virginia," both of which were thoroughly appreciated and brought forth a round of applause.

Local union No. 384, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, will hold its regular meeting this evening in the same hall. A special called meeting of the Retail Clerks' union will also be held this evening at Black's shoe store on Main street. Business of importance will be transacted.

POSTOFFICE CONTEST

Taylor's Recommendation of Snowden Does Not Seem to Have Settled the Fight.

Now the present postmaster, T. R. Snowden, has been recommended by Congressman Taylor, for renomination, the fight for the office is waxing warm here. There is considerable of a feeling throughout the city in the matter. Several citizens have written letters to the president and the congressman in behalf of others. Manager James Nolan, of the Wells-ville Record, who is a very popular man throughout the city, has been recommended to both the president and the congressman.

Aside from Mr. Nolan, Squire A. G. MacKenzie, John F. McQueen and Charles K. MacGregor, Jr., have been mentioned as good men for the office. At the present time Mr. Nolan seems to be a leader in the race. On the first of February the present postmaster's time expires. The recommendation for him gives him a great advantage in the race.

Substitute Policeman.

During the absence of Officer How and Davis from the local police force, on account of his arm, in which blood poison has set in, Mayor Foxe has appointed Clyde McElvain, of the West End, as a substitute policeman. He will have to serve for some time, as Officer John Henthorne is also off duty on account of illness. The arm of Officer Davis, which is affected by the poison, is improving rapidly and Davis expects to resume his duties within a few days. It was feared for a time that Davis would lose his arm.

Bumble Bees Entertain.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Man Held at Martin's Ferry May Have Robbed Scott at New Cumberland.

It seems probable that the parties who robbed the safe of A. W. Scott, the helpless jeweler of New Cumberland, after binding him to the bed with ropes Sunday morning, will be apprehended. The officers of the neighboring cities and towns have been keeping a close watch on all suspicious looking persons and anyone trying to dispose of jewelry is closely scrutinized. Marshal Westwood and Officer Edmunds, of Martin's Ferry, arrested a fellow Monday morning and will hold him until they can hear from the authorities at New Cumberland.

The man was attempting to sell a ring when placed under arrest. He appeared to be greatly confused and gave his name as James Clark. At first he said he came direct from Pittsburg to Martin's Ferry, but later said he came from Wheeling to Martin's Ferry and that he bought the ring from a dealer there for 20 cents. The ring disappeared suddenly and the police were unable to find it.

REWARD OF $500

Likely to Be Offered for Apprehension of New Cumberland Robbers.

Prosecuting Attorney J. A. McKenzie, of New Cumberland, was in Chester today on business. In speaking about the robbery there Sunday morning he said that no definite clues had yet been found. A reward has been offered for the arrest of the guilty parties and council expected to meet last night and also offer a reward. It is likely that a total of about $500 will be offered for the arrest and conviction of the safe looters and every effort will be made to locate them.

NARROW ESCAPE

Escaping Gas Came Near Suffocating William Lewis And Family.

The family of William Lewis, living on Carolina avenue, near the car barns, had a narrow escape last night from being suffocated by gas. The rubber hose connecting the gas pipe and the stove came off in some manner and the escaping gas affected all the members of the family. The trouble was discovered and a physician was summoned, who was able to bring all those affected back to their normal condition.

Auditing Committee to Meet.

The auditing committee appointed at the last meeting of council to examine the report of Chief Allison will meet with him tonight. This report must show the amount of taxes collected during the year and the condition of the town funds. Chief Allison was busy today in getting the finishing touches to his report, so that it will be complete in every detail tonight.

Coming Social.

IN THE RIVER SOON

Ice Likely to Come Down With a Rush And Cause Damage.

The river is falling today, but a rise is expected before tomorrow. The rain of last night was general, the precipitation at Pittsburgh being about one inch. It is likely that the ice will come out of the Monongahela with a rush and much damage may result. This depends, however, on the weather conditions. It is estimated that the stage here will reach 12 feet on the rise.

The Queen City is due down at 8 o'clock tonight, and the Virginia will come out for the first time in a month on her regular time Saturday. The other packets, it is thought, will be running before the end of the week.

STUNNED BY A BLOW

A Machinist Meets With Serious Accident While at Work.

E. J. Jones, a machinist employed at Patterson's foundry, met with an accident yesterday afternoon which will result in his being laid up for several days. He was assisting in the opening of A. W. ## EFFECTS WERE TAMPERED WITH

Counterfeits Substituted for Jewels and Furs of Late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—A sensational discovery was made, says the Call, when the personal effects of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair arrived from Paris a few days ago. The magnificent Russian sable coat, valued at $10,000, which Mrs. Fair bequeathed in her will to Mrs. Joe Harvey, was gone, and a cheap imitation affair, not worth $10, had been substituted in its place. Mrs. Fair's famous pearl necklace of five strings, valued at $15,000, had been tampered with, and instead of pearls in the necklace cheap imitation gems had been set in their places. Numbers of articles of jewelry which the Fairs were known to have taken to Europe were missing, and their only effects which were returned through the American consulate in Paris intact were Mrs. Fair's chinchilla and mink coats and Charles Fair's scarf pins. The changes were made, it is believed, before the valuables were turned over to the American consulate. Steps have been taken to attempt to locate the missing articles.

LOOKS MUCH LIKE A STRIKE.

Commissioned Officers at Kentucky State College Holding Off Until Rights Are Recognized.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 21.—There were no chapel services and no drill at the Kentucky State college yesterday. An attitude that resembled a strike on the part of all commissioned officers at the institution is responsible. Some days ago they petitioned the faculty for the expulsion of a cadet, whom they charged with insubordination and unbecoming conduct. President Patten declined to consider the petition or present it to the faculty, claiming that the students had been punished for the same conduct in squad drill. The officers met Monday night and decided not to have anything to do with the military feature of the college unless what they regarded as their rights shall have been recognized. The commissioned officers compose the military commission and the trustees granted it the right to petition the faculty for the expulsion of cadets. They declare that if their contention shall not be satisfied they will resign in a body.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Grafton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of East Liverpool, and J. L. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

JUDGE DAY WILL BE APPOINTED

His Elevation to the Supreme Bench Will Be Announced at McKinley Banquet.

Canton, O., Jan. 21.—There is a report current in this city that Judge Day's appointment to the supreme bench will be announced by President Roosevelt at the McKinley banquet to be held in Canton, Tuesday evening, Jan. 27.

The story is that as the late president had intended this promotion for his distinguished friend that no more fitting opportunity to announce the fulfillment of these plans could be found than at the celebration of McKinley's birthday in his home city.

Washington dispatches state that the appointment has been duly determined upon and that it will, in a short time, be given out with the name of Judge Day's successor upon the circuit bench. The fact that Judge Wing, of Cleveland, who is upon the United States district bench, will be present at the banquet, has given rise to the report that when the announcement of Judge Day's elevation is made Judge Wing will be made to succeed to the circuit bench.

Surrendered Themselves.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The nine defendants named in the indictments against the officers and executive committee of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois, met here today and surrendered themselves at the state attorney's office. Bonds for their appearance for trial were given at once. It is likely that they will agree to an immediate hearing and waive a jury. The Indiana corporations and their indicted officials may take a similar step. Regarding the Northern Illinois Soft Coal association, although the purpose was to call their case to day, it is now deemed impossible for them to prepare their defense by that time, and the hearing may not be had before Friday.

Nine Dead, Many Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—A special from Wenatchee, Wash., says: Nine men are dead and 8 or 10 injured as a result of a rear end collision on the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above Chlawaikum. A bridge gang train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow pile. A car containing 50 men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work train. Neither engineer, fireman or brakeman was among the injured.

VII.—Queer Shapes.

A NY definite shape is interesting, for it has a meaning, however slight. Even the differences are meanings, for it is by differences that natural objects are recognizable.

Flowers have many vagaries both of color and of form. Sometimes they are homely and almost hideous, and again they are the most brilliant of exotics.

The accepted regular flower has every part perfect and a uniform number of corresponding parts, with the petals laid back flat or made into a funnel form or some such common shape. They are considered queer when they bear a likeness to something foreign to the flower world.

For instance, there is the mosses flower, belonging to the erratic orchid family. The pink or stemless variety is found in the spring in rocky woods and is so very fragile and beautiful, though of goodly size, that one wonders how it lived through the cool May nights without the warm shelter of the greenhouse, where it seems as if it ought by right to be.

One petal has developed into a large, drooping sac or lip slit down the middle. This is easily the most striking thing about the flower, seeming almost to be the whole thing. It is this which by its outlines conveys the idea of a mosses or slipper. Venus slipper it is sometimes called, but unless that goddess had so far forgotten her mission as to ignore the beautiful in pedal extremities and had developed a foot modeled after an elongated halloon the roominess of that slipper would never have suited her. Mosses flower is more appropriate because it is not unlike that limp footgear when hanging empty. The title is even more suitable for the yellow mosses in flower, which is to be found in damp or boggy woods.

While we are among the flowers of spring let us observe other odd shapes among these delicate early comers. There is our friend the Jack-in-the-pulpit, whose erect tongue, covered thickly with the real flowers, stands up in the middle of his purplish green pulp like a being, ready to instruct congregations of leaves and wild flowers. The pulp is prolonged in a canopy to shade him while he stands there so still. The plant is also called the Indian turnip, and by examining the root you will see why.

Every white flower of the Dutchman's breeches is shaped like those balloons or other garments which washington Irving has so gravely informed us were the property of various ancient New Yorkers.

The pitcher plant blooms now too. Its flowers are reddish purple or greenish or pink or red, but the leaves are the striking feature. A cannibal it is, and these green leaves are not only traps, but mouths and stomachs also. They are folded and fastened in a sort of inflated funnel or pitcher, with an inclined tip for a spout. This plant, together with other bloodthirsty ones, has been so often described on account of its oddities that its methods must be quite familiar to all, but they are strange enough to bear repetition. Its pitchers are half filled with liquid, partially at least caused by a secretion of its own which has a great attraction for insects. Whether it is because of its sweetness or that it is an anesthetic is uncertain, but the flies crawl in, their wings become dampened and heavy with liquid, so they cannot fly, and when they try to crawl out rough hairs, inclined toward them, bristle up and impede their progress. At last, tired out with their exertion, they fall back into the liquid, are drowned and then are gradually absorbed by the plant.

This Indian plant or Indian cup is a native of a peculiar kind of swamp which can be found in most corners of our country except the far west.

In the spring the woods are full of the dwarf wild larkspur, its intensely blue flowers built in a spike somewhat the shape of a stiff pine tree. There are other species, notably the old fashioned pink, white and blue, which escapes from the gardens. Each flower puts its honey sac in a spur thrust out behind; hence its name larkspur, or knight's spur.

The butter and eggs brightens the dusty summer road with its wealth of yellow and orange. It is like a loosely shut mouth, with a deep orange tongue like the yolk of an egg between two slices of bread and butter. Its mouth is opened and shut by the bees it has invited to feast with a regard to its own profit. Like the snailragon of the old gardens, it will open and shut its mouth with the pressure of human fingers.

The columbine dances gayly in its red and yellow. It seems at first as if the flower were so heavy that it fell over from its own weight, and then you see it has a plan of its own and was meant to be so. Its five parts are horns of plenty, with the sides contracted so that the honey remains within until the right insects come by.

These are the most beautiful of the queer shapes. Some summer morning when it is hot and damp go to the woods while the sun is yet young. Under the trees, usually the oak, is a strange, uncanny flower, grayish white, stem and all, except the flower itself, which hangs downward and may have a rich tinge of pink. As you catch a fleeting glimpse of it between the aisles of tree trunks you see it, then you do not see it, for it is small, and with its whiteness it seems so ghostlike that it is no wonder that name has been given it—the ghost flower.

After being plucked it turns dark, and, whether it is that or whether it is because it lives parasitically upon the life of a living plant or the remains of a dead one, it is called the corpse plant. However, it is punished for living upon others and doing no work itself. The scales up its straight soft stem were once leaves, but since it has no longer used them they and the brighter colors have been taken from it. Its general shape and hue, with its one turned down bulb of a flower at the top of the stalk, show where it derives its most common name—the Indian pipe.

There are forms on the trees which seem to be the fruit, when in reality they are the homes of the young gall flies. Late in the summer you may find some of them on the ground beneath the oaks, round, rather irregular balls, with a grayish brown shell, in which is a small hole, the door through which the young insect has issued. There are galls and galls—that is, swellings on leaves, buds or stems of

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN.

Mrs. E. B. Bradshaw, of Guthrie, Okla., cured of a severe case by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary medical treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicine universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by derangement of the female organism, and which, while it causes disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion, cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has peculiar uterine effects as well.

Thousands of testimonial letters prove beyond question that nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It always works in harmony with the female system.

Mrs. Pinkham advises sick women free. Address Lynn, Mass.

trees or herbs. They are formed by mites, plant lice and gall flies. These, which come among our queer shapes, are made by the latter insects and are oak galls and willow galls.

This is how they come to be: The parent fly, seeking the kind of place she always chooses to put her young, stings the spot and places there her eggs. The foliage becomes irritated by the poison, swells into a ball—differing in position, size, form and color according to the kind of fly which causes it to grow—and furnishes an abundance of food for the larva within. Sometimes in the spring, when they are in the midst of young leaves, they seem like the real fruit of the trees. One kind as large as a hazelnut is so very budlike that young acorns in their cups have been mistaken for the galls.

The gall on the willow resembles a fine cone, so the willow was called the cone willow by the earlier botanists merely because an insect fancied it as a harbor for its young.

So nature has curiosities in every zone, though those which we are accustomed to see around us in everyday places, however interesting and strange they may be, do not seem as odd as the commoner flowers in a country where the flora is entirely new to us.

THE PRESIDENT

Of the City Council, Wilkesbarre, Pa., Cured of Rheumatism.

Col. Wm. J. Harvey, a president of Wilkesbarre's city council, who will long be remembered for his great work for the city, was once a mere physical wreck, torn in every muscle and nerve from the frightful pains caused by rheumatism. He consulted the best physicians, went abroad, took mud baths, and almost every known treatment for the disease. A friend had had a very similar experience and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had cured him, so he recommended this great kidney medicine to Col. Harvey and he is today a well man, hale and hearty. He writes straight to the point:

DR. DAVID KENNEDY,
Dear Sir—This is to certify that I was permanently cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

WM. J. HARVEY.
Rheumatism is but another name for uric acid poisoning which is caused primarily by diseased kidneys. Cure your kidneys and the rheumatism disappears. For all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as sicknesses peculiar to women, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is unquestionably the greatest medicine known to the medical profession.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial. Free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

NATIONAL CONGRESS.

Senate Passes the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill.

UNLOOKED FOR SCENE IN HOUSE.

Young Woman Tells Mr. Cochran His Lies—Lower Body Passes District of Columbia Appropriation Bill—Anti-Trust Measure About Completed.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The senate yesterday passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. When the statehood bill was taken up Mr. Quay demanded an immediate vote, coupling his demand with the statement that he did not care whether any senators desired to speak on the subject or not. The bill, he said, was being wilfully obstructed by discussion. Mr. Beveridge denied this, and then discussed the measure, opposing statehood for Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico. On the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Quay submitted a number of propositions for the fixing of a day when a vote could be taken, but to all such Mr. Beveridge objected.

Senator Hanna spoke briefly in opposition to the bill, and at 4:35 the senate adjourned until today.

In the House.

The house yesterday passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill, and subsequently began consideration of the Philippine coinage bill. The general debate on the District bill was largely devoted to discussion of the Alaska boundary line dispute. Mr. Cochran, of Missouri, denounced as "a cowardly surrender" the course of the state department. Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, took up the challenge and countered with the charge that Democratic administrations had surrendered the territory between latitudes 49 and 54:40 and also the republic of Texas. While Mr. Cochran was speaking of the "trucking policy of the United States to Great Britain," a stylishly-dressed young woman in the gallery leaned forward and cried out, "You lie." She then left the gallery.

The house adjourned at 5:05 p. m. Anti-Trust Bill Completed.

Representatives Littlefield (Me.), Overstreet (Ind.) and Powers (Maz.), the Republican members of the subcommittee of the judiciary committee, have practically completed the anti-trust bill on which they have been at work since early in the session. A meeting of the full subcommittee was held today. If a report is agreed on by the subcommittee it is probable that the judiciary committee, which was adjourned Monday to meet at the call of the chairman, anticipating that the subcommittee might be ready to report before the date of the next regular meeting, will be convened tomorrow to receive the report.

It is said that the differences of opinion that have existed between the subcommittee and the attorney general have related to forms of expressions, the extent to which publicity should be provided for and questions of punishments, but that there has been no conflict of opinion as to the general purposes at which a bill should aim.

It is said the bill as it now stands provides for publicity through the interstate commerce commission, and that provision is made with reference to the matter of rebates.

Cuban Reciprocity.

The prospect of a congestion of business in the senate is such that the senators constituting the Republican committee on order of business met yesterday to adjust the claims of conflicting measures. The conference was attended by all the members of the committee, but was without appreciable results, except in the one respect that there was a unanimous agreement to give precedence to appropriation bills and conference reports over all other matters. Beyond this it was decided that the statehood bill should continue to occupy the position it now holds as the unfinished business of the senate and that the Cuban reciprocity treaty should be given second place.

Will Press Consideration.

While the Cuban treaty was given second place the understanding was distinct that its consideration should not be postponed until the appropriation bills are out of the way, but that, on the contrary, every possible opportunity should be availed of to take it up while the statehood bill is still before the senate. It was the opinion of most of the senators present that there would be many times when it would be impossible to proceed during the entire day with the bill for the creation of new states and that such moments should be availed of to press the Cuban treaty. All of the senators present, 19 in number, were agreed as to the importance of securing the reaffirmation of the treaty, but they also were agreed that as between it and the appropriation bills the prompt consideration of the latter was more important for the reason that if the treaty should fail its consideration could be continued by an extra session of the senate alone, while the failure of the appropriation bills would involve an extra session of the entire congress.

Alcock's POROUS PLASTERS

Are a universal remedy for Pains in the Back (so frequent in the case of women). They give instantaneous relief. Wherever there is a pain apply a Plaster.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE

For pains in the region of the kidneys, or for a Weak Back, the plaster should be applied as shown above. Wherever there is pain apply Alcock's Plaster.

For Rheumatism or Pains in Shoulders, Elbows or Knees, or for Sprains, Strains, etc., and for Aching Feet, cut plaster size and shape required and apply to part affected as shown above.

For Sore Throat, Coughs, Bronchitis, for Weat Lungs and for painful and sensitive parts of the abdomen, apply as indicated.

Rheumatism, Colds, Coughs Weak Chest, Weak Back Lumbago, Sciatica, &c., &c.

If you want the best results, the quickest and cleanest cure, use Alcock's Plasters. They are far superior to belladonna, which is the extract of deadly night shade, a virulent poison, and never should be used except by direction of a physician. Alcock's Plasters contain no poisons. They cure by absorption. Absolutely curative, perfectly harmless.

Read letter from Prof. Henry A. Mott, the eminent chemist.

"My investigation of ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

FOR KIDNEY TROUBLE

—READ WHAT HE SAYS—

East Liverpool, Ohio, Nov. 19th, 1902.

The Life Plant Co., Canton, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—I have used nearly two bottles of LIFE PLANT and must say it is a fine medicine for the kidneys. It is the best medicine I have ever taken and I recommend it to all who are suffering from kidney diseases.

F. F. EDWARDS, 136 Third St.

Kidney diseases are very common and very dangerous. They cause more deaths than any other affliction, and yet they can be cured, quickly and easily by taking LIFE PLANT. An improper treatment is worse than none. It excites the kidneys to unusual action for a time, causing a seeming benefit, but the result is increased weakness.

LIFE PLANT leaves you permanently cured or your money is refunded. Whatever the stage of your trouble, your druggist will warrant that LIFE PLANT will succeed with you.

The fearful fatality caused by kidney diseases is the result of neglect and wrong treatment. Commence now by using the only guaranteed treatment, LIFE PLANT. It's a wonder.

Mrs. Fred Unrath,

No. 228 Territorial Street, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"I am pleased to give my experience with Wine of Cardui as I am very grateful for its help. After my first baby was born I could not seem to regain my strength, although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband came home one evening with some Wine of Cardui and insisted that I take it for a week and see what it would do for me. As he seemed responsible for barrenness and miscarriages. It makes a woman strong and healthy and able to pass through pregnancy and childbirth with little suffering. After the ordeal is passed the Wine prepares a woman for a speedy recovery to health and activity."

Mrs. Fred Unrath.

Wine of Cardui, in re-inforcing the organs of generation, has made mothers of women who had given up hope of ever becoming mothers. Wine of Cardui will cure almost any case of barrenness except cases of organic trouble. How can you refuse to take such a remedy that promises such relief from suffering? Wine of Cardui simply makes you a strong woman, and strong, healthy women do not suffer. They look forward to motherhood with joy.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

SOCIAL EVENTS

A PLEASANT AFFAIR

Mrs. John Manor Agreeably Entertained About 30 of Her Friends.

Mrs. John Manor in a delightful manner entertained about 30 of her friends at a peanut party yesterday afternoon. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Hollis Grosshans, Mrs. William F. Steele and her sister, Miss Clara Stewart.

Pink was the prevailing color in the pretty decoration. The afternoon hours passed only too rapidly at the interesting game. The tally cards were unique and pretty, there being painted on one side a pink flower. Upon the other side was the name of the animal or bird which the guest was to draw. Mrs. R. E. Rayman drew the best picture and was given first prize, a beautifully decorated china plate. An elaborate luncheon was served later.

Masquerade Social.

A social which was replete with pleasure was given last evening by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church. It was styled the "Masquerade Social," as those members who could obtain comic costumes were dressed in various peculiar garbs. This was the cause of much merriment and enjoyment among the young people. After the masquerade refreshments were served.

Its Second Meeting.

The Proposal club held its second meeting last evening at the home of Miss Ora Young, of Thompson avenue. The club is made up of a select few, and when it is rightly under way it promises to be one of the most exclusive organizations in the city. Last night it was decided to hold the regular meetings on Tuesday evenings. The hostess had arranged a dainty luncheon which was greatly enjoyed.

Coming Social Events.

Mrs. Harvey McHenry will entertain at progressive peanuts tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. J. J. Rose will entertain at her home on West Grant street this evening.

E. D. Moore will entertain his Sunday school class at his home on Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow evening. This class has an average attendance of about 50 each Sunday.

AN INJUNCTION IS DEMANDED

ST. CLAIR TOWNSHIP DISPUTE REACHES LISBON COURT.

Numerous Allegations Set Forth in a Petition in Error Filed.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case of W. C. Randall against Joseph Laughlin, which came up from Justice Moore's court in St. Clair township, the attorneys for the plaintiff asked for an injunction and leave to file a petition in error, which was argued and submitted to the court.

A petition in error was held to be proper for the reason that the justice was alleged to have erred in allowing the defendant to testify what he meant by what was set forth in the written contract; also that the jury was prejudiced by talking with Laughlin, who took supper with one of the jurors the night before the trial.

The injunction is asked to prevent the constable from ejecting the plaintiff from the premises, it being alleged that the justice did not have jurisdiction to try the case, as a partnership existed in which a justice has no authority.

LISBON PREPARING FOR THE CELEBRATION

Arrangements for the Centennial Celebration Next Summer Progressing Well.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Preparations for Lisbon's centennial celebration, to be held early next summer, are rapidly assuming shape. The centennial board, consisting of Judge S. J. Firestone, M. Way, G. L. Miller, E. H. Huston, J. J. Rogers, Ed. M. Crosser, D. S. Gailey, Hon. R. W. Taylor and W. S. Potts, has organized by electing the following officers: President, Judge S. J. Firestone; vice president, G. L. Miller; secretary, W. S. Potts; treasurer, G. H. Huston.

ADMINISTRATOR SUED BY A PHYSICIAN

Kensington Doctor Alleges That His Bill of $192 Was Rejected.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—Dr. J. B. Laughlin, of Kensington, has filed suit against C. C. Connell, administrator of Mary J. Matthews, deceased, for $192.50, with interest from April 27, 1898, for medical services rendered continually, night and day, from Dec. 2, 1897, to April 27, 1898. The petition alleges that the administrator rejected the claim as invalid. Mrs. Matthews died at Pittsburgh two years ago. She at one time owned a farm of 500 acres near Kensington and considerable real estate in Pennsylvania. Her affairs are said to have been in a confused condition.

STORY WAS DIFFERENT WHEN TOLD IN COURT

Case Against James Walters Nollied for Lack of Evidence.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—In the case against James Walters, an East Liverpool saloon keeper, the prosecuting witness, on whom Prosecutor Brooks relied, told a story entirely different from his testimony before the grand jury.

The witness was William McNamee, a minor to whom Walters was said to have sold liquor. On his refusal to testify further the indictment was nollied and the case dismissed.

MRS. GOPPERT'S FUNERAL.

Services at St. John's Lutheran Church on Sunday at 11 O'Clock.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Sophia L. Goppert will be conducted at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church by Rev. J. G. Reinartz Sunday at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Goppert was one of the best known and most highly respected residents in Hancock county. She was beloved by both family and friends.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Funeral Tomorrow.—The funeral services of the late Thomas C. Hague will be held from the Douglas home, 207 Third street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Gorrell will officiate. The interment will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Temperance Lecture.—Rev. George R. Stuart, the temperance lecturer, will deliver one of his most interesting addresses at the opera house Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "My Stump Digger." It is expected that a large audience will be present to hear this eminent man.

Broke Several Bones.—Fred Oschman, Jr., is suffering considerable pain as the result of an accident occurring in the rolling mill at Wellsville yesterday afternoon. He was at work when a heavy piece of steel fell on his left hand breaking two fingers and mashing several small bones.

Nowling Still Working.—A rumor in circulation yesterday afternoon to the effect that Al Nowling, formerly a motorman in the employ of the Rock Springs company, had been murdered in Pittsburgh, was upon investigation found to be without foundation. Nowling is working on a street car line in the Smoky City.

JUDGE DAY WILL BE APPOINTED

His Elevation to the Supreme Bench Will Be Announced at McKinley Banquet.

Canton, O., Jan. 21.—There is a report current in this city that Judge Day's appointment to the supreme bench will be announced by President Roosevelt at the McKinley banquet to be held in Canton, Tuesday evening, Jan. 27.

The story is that as the late president had intended this promotion for his distinguished friend that no more fitting opportunity to announce the fulfillment of these plans could be found than at the celebration of McKinley's birthday in his home city.

Washington dispatches state that the appointment has been duly determined upon and that it will, in a short time, be given out with the name of Judge Day's successor upon the circuit bench. The fact that Judge Wing, of Cleveland, who is upon the United States district bench, will be present at the banquet, has given rise to the report that when the announcement of Judge Day's elevation is made Judge Wing will be made to succeed to the circuit bench.

Surrendered Themselves.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The nine defendants named in the indictments against the officers and executive committee of the Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Illinois, met here today and surrendered themselves at the state attorney's office. Bonds for their appearance for trial were given at once.

It is likely that they will agree to an immediate hearing and waive a jury. The Indiana corporations and their indicted officials may take a similar step. Regarding the Northern Illinois Soft Coal association, although the purpose was to call their case today, it is now deemed impossible for them to prepare their defense by that time, and the hearing may not be had before Friday.

Nine Dead, Many Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—A special from Wenatchee, Wash., says: Nine men are dead and 8 or 10 injured as a result of a rear-end collision on the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above Chewinkum. A bridge gang train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow plow. A car containing 50 men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work train. Neither engineer, fireman or brakeman was among the injured.

Twelve Injured.

Parkersburg, Jan. 21.—The west-bound Baltimore and Ohio accommodation from Grafton ran into an open switch in the yard here at noon yesterday, injuring two trainmen and 10 passengers, but none fatally. The switch had been left open by the crew of a freight train. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of East Liverpool, and J. L. Nutter, of Marietta, are among the injured. The most seriously hurt is G. W. Wells, of Cornwallis, who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on account of an injury to his hip.

Capital $15,000,000.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—The United Lead company, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000, was incorporated here yesterday.

Situation Hopeful.

London, Jan. 21.—Few comments appear in the press this morning on the Venezuelan affair, but what is said is to the effect that the situation is altogether hopeful, because of President Castro's offer of the customs receipts as a guarantee and more particularly on account of the conciliatory and amiable attitude of Chancellor Von Buelow in the German reichstag yesterday.

ELECTRIC LINE MAKES PROGRESS

General Jones, who is pushing the construction of the line was asked yesterday what schedule would be maintained between Youngstown and East Liverpool when the road was in operation, and said: "The distance will be between 51 and 52 miles, and we will run a car every hour, and cover the distance in less than one hour and a half. We purpose to have the best electric line in the state. It will be what is known as a three-rail road, will have all the power that can be utilized, and for speed will show up with an electric or steam line in the state."

HORSE SHOT DEAD BY UNKNOWN PERSON

Contemptible And Cowardly Act Committed on a Farm Near Lisbon.

Lisbon, January 21.—(Special).—A horse belonging to William Harbaugh, who lives a short distance from Lisbon on the Wellsville road, was mysteriously shot and killed Sunday.

The body was found by two boys who were crossing the field that evening, and when members of the Harbaugh family were summoned, they thought the animal had been kicked to death by another horse, but the discovery of a bullet hole in the head told the story.

It is thought to have been spite work.

Lose $200,000.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Fire destroyed the plant of the Scheffer Piano Manufacturing company, at Riverview, yesterday, entailing a loss of $200,000. For a time many buildings in the suburb, which is without fire protection, were threatened. Three residences were burned to such an extent that they will have to be remodeled and several other residences were slightly damaged.

Left Eyed People.

The man who spends half his time trying to classify people said he never saw so many left eyed passengers in one car.

"What do you mean by left eyed passengers?" asked his companion.

"People who use their left eye more than their right," was the reply. "The species is not common, and of course none but a student in ocular science would be able to detect offhand the few whom we do meet. A left handed person advertises his peculiarity at once; not so the left eyed man. As a rule it takes an oculist to determine which eye has been used most, but there are certain peculiarities of the pupil and lid that may be taken as pretty sure signs by the trained observer."

"Left eyed people are made, not born. Most of us have been blessed by nature with eyes of equal visual power, but the attitude we strike when reading or writing causes us to exercise one eye more than the other, and the first thing we know we are right or left eyed. This is a one sidedness that should always be taken into consideration when buying glasses."—New York Times.

Saved by an Owl.

King Robert the Bruce, according to the well known story, once owed his safety to a spider. Among the Tartars of central Asia there is a belief that one of their khans or chiefs was preserved, long years ago, by the great horned owl. He had hidden in a thicket to avoid capture by some enemies. By and by his pursuers came to this spot.

The first thing they saw was an owl sitting on a bush. What did this mean? It signified in their eyes that this bird would not rest quietly there if any man were lying concealed close by. Therefore they argued that the khan could not be there, and so they hurried on to search for him elsewhere. At nightfall the khan made his way to the camp of his men and told them how he had been saved from certain death. His story caused them ever afterward to look upon the owl with reverence and love. They wore its feathers in their caps as a pledge of victory.

Balzac's Passwords.

It was not easy to make one's way into Balzac's house at Chaillot. Rue des Batilles, for it was guarded like the garden of the Hesperides. Two or three passwords were necessary, which were changed frequently for fear they should become known. I remember a few. To the porter we said, "The plum season has come," on which he allowed us to cross the threshold. To the servant who rushed to the staircase when the bell rang it was necessary to murmur, "I bring some Brussels lace," and if you assured him that "Mme. Bertrand was quite well" you were admitted forthwith. This nonsense amused Balzac immensely, and it was perhaps necessary to keep out bores and other visitors still more disagreeable.—Miss Wormley's "Memoir of Balzac."

A Story of Bishop Williams.

It is told of Bishop Williams of Connecticut, for many years presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in America, who lived all his life a bachelor, that he was talking one day with a young man from the west about a tax a western state was trying to impose on bachelors, the tax to be increased a certain per cent for every ten years of bachelorhood.

"Why, bishop," said the young man, "at your age you would have to pay about $100 a year."

"Well," said the bishop quietly and in his old time vernacular, "it's wuth it."

His Part.

Little Jack—What did papa mean by saying that he was captain of this ship?

Ma—Oh, that is only his way of saying that he is the head of the house.

Little Jack—Then, if pa is the captain, what are you?

Ma—Well, I suppose I am the pilot.

Little Jack—Oh, yes, and then I must be the compass?

Ma—The compass! Why the compass?

Little Jack—Why, the captain and pilot are always boxing the compass, you know.

There is no sorrow I have thought more about than that to love what is great and try to reach it and yet to fail.—George Eliot.

STATE CAMB WARDEN PROPOSES A CRUSADE

by the coal rioters in the railroad yards in that city are the property of the National Guard. There was a fresh outbreak Monday night and during the melee a number of shots were fired by the rioters in rapid succession, so as to indicate they came from Krag-Jorgenson rifles. The only arms of the kind in Xenia are in the possession of a colored troupe of the National guard of that city and it is suspected these were the weapons used by the rioters. Should this prove to be the case those to whom their care was entrusted will be held to strict accountability.

Danger in Poisons.

It is lamentable that neither repeated warning nor sad experience seems to have the desired effect of making the ordinary person cautious in the use of poisons. In the last few days three children have died presumably from taking poison that was carelessly left within their reach. One would suppose that such accidents would by this time have become almost impossible, yet they are constantly recurring with a frequency that demands further warning. If parents would learn to keep poisons in a place where they could not be reached by others there would be fewer accidents.

It is the old principle of familiarity breeding contempt. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon every one that the only immunity from danger is through constant care and precaution. It is a lesson that needs to be impressed upon every individual without exception.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Old English Superstition.

Attention has been called to the survival of folklore in rural parts of England by evidence given in a stabbing case tried at the Essex assizes. To quicken the healing of the wounds, the knife with which they were inflicted was smeared with grease and laid on the bed of the patient. The purpose served by the application of grease or oil to the knife or to any steel instrument that has inflicted wounds is to prevent it from rusting, for if the steel is allowed to become rusty the wound is supposed to be affected and festering and mortification follow the progress of the rust. Another quaint belief is that the application of an oiled knife is a certain and quick remedy for scalds and burns.

Could Believe Some of Them.

An amusing story is told of a New England minister who often speaks in behalf of a certain charity in which he is greatly interested. He has a fine voice and a graphic way of telling incidents both humorous and pathetic, so that his hearers are often "moved to laughter or to tears."

At the close of one meeting, at which he had spoken with great effect, and a large gain for the charity had been the direct result, a little old lady approached the minister.

"Oh," she said earnestly, "I've been so interested in hearing about those poor, dear children! And I suppose a great many of those stories you told are really true, aren't they?"—Youth's Companion.
